EXPLANATORY NOTES

The purpose of this bill is to establish a register of individual life insurance policies so that authorized persons may check whether a deceased person is covered by a life insurance policy in order to ensure that the policy proceeds are paid to the beneficiaries concerned.

To that end, the bill amends the Act respecting the distribution of financial products and services to require the Autorité des marchés financiers (the Authority) to keep a register of individual life insurance policies. The register must contain the name and address of the insured, the name and address of the insurer that issued the policy concerned and any other information determined by government regulation. The register is to be included in the register of insurers kept by the Authority in accordance with the Act respecting insurance.

Further amendments to the Act respecting the distribution of financial products and services allow the holder of a life insurance policy or a person whose life is covered by such a policy to obtain any information entered in the register from the Authority. In addition, on a person’s death, the following persons may check whether the deceased’s life was covered by a life insurance policy and, if so, have access to the information contained in the register: the liquidator of the succession, an heir, a successor, a beneficiary of the life insurance policy, a person having parental authority over an heir, successor or policy beneficiary, and the advocate or notary mandated by any of those persons.
