Introduction

EXPLANATORY NOTES

The purpose of this bill is to allow a deceased person’s close relatives to be informed that he or she had entered into a prearranged funeral services contract.

To that end, the bill amends the Act respecting prearranged funeral services and sepultures to require a notice to be entered in the register of personal and movable real rights when a prearranged funeral services contract is entered into and introduces the obligation that the prearranged funeral services seller enter the notice in the register within 10 days after the contract is entered into.

Under the bill, before entering into a funeral services contract after the death of the person for whom the services are provided, the seller must consult the register of personal and movable real rights and verify whether the person had entered into a prearranged funeral services contract. The seller must inform the buyer if a prearranged funeral services contract is registered in the register for the deceased person.

Lastly, the bill prescribes penal sanctions, should a funeral services seller fail to comply with the requirements relating to the register, and sets out a regulatory provision and a transitional provision.
