PARLIAMENTARY REFORM

On April 21, 2009, Members unanimously adopted an ambitious parliamentary reform seeking to foster greater Member autonomy and initiative, help Members work more effectively, enhance their role, reassert democratic balance in parliamentary proceedings and bring the Parliament closer to citizens. The product of a consensus between the parties represented in the National Assembly, the reform marks an important turning point in how work is organized at the National Assembly. It was unveiled at a press conference by the President of the National Assembly, Mr. Yvon Vallières; the Government House Leader, Mr. Jacques P. Dupuis; the Leader of the Official Opposition, Mr. Stéphane Bédard, the then Leader of the Second Opposition Group, Mr. Marc Picard; and the Member for Mercier, Mr. Amir Khadir. More details on p. 26.

MR. VALLIÈRES ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE PARLIAMENTARY ASSEMBLY OF THE FRANCOPHONIE

The President of the National Assembly of Québec, Mr. Yvon Vallières, was elected President of the Parliamentary Assembly of the Francophonie (APF) on July 6, 2009, for a two-year term. In his acceptance speech, Mr. Vallières stressed the need to bolster the APF's political role with other member bodies of La Francophonie and to strengthen cooperation programs. He also plans to mobilize parliamentarians from the French-speaking world to pursue the implementation of the UNESCO Convention on the Protection and Promotion of the Diversity of Cultural Expressions.

INGRID BETANCOURT VISITS THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

Former Colombian presidential candidate Ingrid Betancourt, who was detained in the jungle for six years, received a warm welcome at the National Assembly on September 23, 2009. She was awarded the Medal of Honour of the National Assembly for her commitment to democracy, human rights and freedom of expression. Ms. Betancourt thanked the National Assembly in an emotional speech in which she spoke of fellow prisoners who had still not been released.

HOMELESSNESS REPORT TABLED

The Committee on Health and Social Services (CHSS) tabled its report on homelessness in Québec, entitled Itinérance : agissons ensemble, in the National Assembly on November 4, 2009. The Committee had resumed this order of initiative on March 18, 2009, after having interrupted its work when a general election was called in fall 2008. Public hearings in Gatineau, Montréal, Québec City and Trois-Rivières heard 105 organizations and saw 145 briefs tabled. More details on p. 34.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY OPEN HOUSE FOR NEW QUEBECERS

It was with great pride that the President of the National Assembly launched the inaugural National Assembly Open House for New Quebecers on October 27, 2009, where participants of various origins were invited to take part in a briefing and discussion with the President of the National Assembly and Members from their region. More details on p. 63.

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY'S SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT ACTION PLAN IS LAUNCHED

Announced by the President of the National Assembly, Mr. Yvon Vallières, on November 12, 2009, and developed in partnership with the Chaire de recherche et d'intervention en écoconseil at the Université du Québec à Chicoutimi, the National Assembly's Sustainable Development Action Plan takes stock of actions already taken in this area. It also proposes 40 measures to be taken by 2012 as part of a concerted and consistent course of action. Since its launch, various steps have been taken, including the acquisition of a NEMO electric vehicle, the publication of a series of guides on sustainable activities and behaviour, the composting of hand towels and the creation of a sustainable development steering committee to monitor the action plan's implementation. More details on p. 67.

A NEW WEBSITE FOR THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

On March 16, 2010, the National Assembly's brand new website went online. With its more user-friendly design, the new site (assnat.qc.ca) is intended to better reflect all the goings-on at the National Assembly, particularly via its event calendar. The site also seeks to encourage more online public participation in parliamentary proceedings by letting citizens comment on issues under study by the National Assembly or standing committees and send briefs and requests to be heard to committee. The site also lets visitors subscribe to RSS feeds to keep up with all the latest news. The new IT system behind the site will noticeably improve services to citizens and bring the National Assembly closer to the public. More details on p. 80.

STRATEGIC PLAN FOR THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

The 2009–2012 Strategic Plan for the Administration of the National Assembly launched on November 11, 2009, supports Members in performing their parliamentary duties and contributes to the National Assembly's mission. It also concretizes the desire of the Assembly administration to pursue initiatives begun in the past few years, namely responding to changing Member requirements, bringing the National Assembly closer to citizens and encouraging the public to get involved in parliamentary proceedings. In addition, the plan seeks to implement the parliamentary reform adopted by Members in April 2009, raise the profile of the National Assembly across Québec and around the world and adopt a sustainable development plan. The strategic plan has spawned the Public Communications Plan and the 2009–2012 Youth Strategy.

PARLIAMENTARY ANNIVERSARIES

On May 28 and November 25, 2009, the President of the National Assembly, Mr. Yvon Vallières, honoured 17 Members for parliamentary anniversaries ranging from ten to thirty years. The two ceremonies were held in the Legislative Council Chamber in the presence of various guests. More details on p. 17.

A WORD FROM THE PRESIDENT

I am proud to present the Activity Report of the National Assembly of Québec 2009–2010. This report looks back on a very busy year for both Members and staff. Every year this report discusses the work of Members at the National Assembly and the standing committees, and this year is no exception. We will also be looking at highlights from the past year.

In 2009–2010, 88 sessions were held at the National Assembly in addition to 483 standing committee sessions. Parliamentary control activities represented close to 20% of committee work. Consideration of public bills and estimates of expenditure made up the lion's share (37.2% and 23.3% of their time respectively).

One of the Assembly's main achievements this year has been the ambitious parliamentary reform of April 2009. This reform has four main objectives: foster greater Member autonomy and initiative, help Members work more effectively, reassert democratic balance in parliamentary proceedings and bring the Parliament closer to citizens. The reform includes a series of measures designed to help meet these objectives.

In keeping with its mission of raising its public profile, the Assembly has come up with a new activity: the National Assembly Open House for New Quebecers. Last fall and spring, new Quebecers from four regions were able to meet their elected representatives and learn more about the Assembly's history and how it works.

I was honoured to be elected President of the Parliamentary Assembly of the Francophonie (APF) in July 2009 for a two-year term. I intend to use my new role to bolster the APF's political role with other bodies of La Francophonie and to help raise the Assembly's profile abroad.

I hope you will enjoy reading about the work of the National Assembly of Québec in this report.

“One of the Assembly's main achievements this year has been the ambitious parliamentary reform of April 2009.”

President of the National Assembly

A WORD FROM THE SECRETARY GENERAL

“March 16, 2010,
marked a new milestone in the history of the Assembly with the launch of VIGIE.”

Just like the President of the National Assembly, I am proud to present this eleventh activity report. Looking back on the work and achievements of the National Assembly over the past financial year gives me a feeling of “mission accomplished.”

The last year saw the birth of the 2009–2012 Strategic Plan for the Administration of the National Assembly. It contains three main policy thrusts: continuously adapt working processes and services to meet changing Member requirements, bring the National Assembly and its Members closer to citizens and respond to new management challenges. The strategic plan has led to the Public Communications Plan and the 2009–2012 Youth Strategy. Together, these documents will help plot our course in the years ahead.

March 16, 2010, marked a new milestone in the history of the Assembly with the launch of VIGIE, the IT system behind our new website, which was also announced to the public on the same day. The new site has appreciably improved services to citizens. Easier to use, it is another step on the road to bringing the National Assembly closer to citizens, while creating an automated, integrated and centralized parliamentary information management system.

As set out in our strategic plan, we have also launched the National Assembly’s Sustainable Development Action Plan. Developed in partnership with the Chaire de recherche et d’intervention en écoconseil at the Université du Québec à Chicoutimi, it takes stock of action already taken in this area and puts forward 40 measures to be implemented by 2012.

This report marks the end of a banner year rich in activities that helped raise the profile of the National Assembly of Québec both at home and abroad.

In closing, I invite you to read on to learn even more about the National Assembly of Québec.

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

The National Assembly and the Lieutenant-Governor form the Parliament of Québec. This Parliament assumes all the powers conferred on the Legislature of Québec (Act respecting the National Assembly).

MISSION

The National Assembly of Québec constitutes the foundation of legislative power. It is composed of the Members elected by the population of Québec in each of the 125 electoral divisions. The responsibility for debating and passing bills and the budget lies with the Members. They also have the role of supervising the actions of the Government, particularly during Oral Questions and Answers and during consideration of the Government's estimates of expenditure. They also debate all matters of public interest, most notably in standing committees. The duration of the collective term of office of these Members, which is called a "legislature," is provided for in the Constitution and may not exceed five years.

THE THREE POWERS OF THE QUÉBEC STATE

Supervises the actions of the executive branch. Discusses matters of public interest.	Determines policies to guide the actions of the State. Administers and controls the State in accordance with the laws passed by the legislative branch
▼ Courts	▼ Parliament	▼ Government

THE ROLES OF MEMBERS: LEGISLATORS, CONTROLLERS AND INTERMEDIARIES

At the National Assembly, the main role of Members is to participate in the legislative process. As legislators, they study, analyze and vote on bills. They exercise this role in several stages in both the National Assembly and standing committees.

Members also have several means for controlling the actions of the Government, including the opportunity to question Ministers on topics of current interest during Oral Questions and Answers and to examine the activities and management of departments and agencies in committee. They have a notable role to play when standing committees hold public consultations on major issues of the day.

In addition, Members play the role of intermediaries between citizens and the civil service. As representatives of the voters in their ridings, they defend their interests and explain their needs to the government.

As at March 31, 2010, the 125 seats were distributed as follows:

	Number of seats
Québec Liberal Party (QLP)	67
Parti québécois (PQ)	50
Action démocratique du Québec (ADQ)	4
Québec solidaire	1
Independents	2
Vacant (Vachon)	1

Did you know?

In the National Assembly, women occupy 29% of the seats or 36 of 124 (the seat of Vachon was vacant as at March 31, 2010).

By-elections

A by-election is held in an electoral division for the purpose of filling a vacancy arising from the resignation or death of a Member or further to a legal ruling. When a seat becomes vacant, a government order instituting the holding of an election must be forwarded to the Chief Electoral Officer within six months of the first day of vacancy.

In accordance with a government order dated May 20, 2009, by-elections were held on June 22, 2009, in the electoral divisions of Marguerite-Bourgeoys and Rivière-du-Loup, at the outcome of which Mr. Clément Gignac (QLP) and Mr. Jean D'Amour (QLP) were declared elected by the Chief Electoral Officer.

On September 21, 2009, another by-election was held—this time in accordance with a government order dated August 19, 2009—in the electoral division of Rousseau, at the outcome of which Mr. Nicolas Marceau (PQ) was declared elected by the Chief Electoral Officer.

The President frequently welcomes public figures to the National Assembly. On November 26, 2009, astronaut Julie Payette presented him with a wonderful gift: a photomontage depicting the Québec flag that accompanied her on her space shuttle mission in July 2009. After orbiting the earth 248 times and travelling 10,537,748 km, the fleurdelisé ended its journey at the Parliament Building in a ceremony attended by parliamentarians and dignitaries.

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

SCHEDULE OF SITTINGS

The Standing Orders of the National Assembly establish a parliamentary work calendar divided into two annual periods during which the Assembly meets: one in the spring and one in the fall. The spring session runs from the second Tuesday in February, with 16 weeks of ordinary hours of meeting followed by two weeks of extended hours of meeting. The fall session runs from the third Tuesday in September, with 10 weeks of ordinary hours of meeting followed by two weeks of extended hours of meeting.

The following table shows the schedule of the National Assembly by time of year.

Schedule of standing committee sittings*
Period	Day	Time Routine Proceedings	Time Orders of the Day
During ordinary hours of meeting	Tuesday	1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.	3 p.m. to 6 p.m. 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.
	Wednesday and Thursday	9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.	11 a.m. to 1 p.m. 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.
During extended hours of meeting	Tuesday	1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.	3 p.m. to 6 p.m. 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.
	Wednesday	9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.	11 a.m. to 1 p.m. 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.
	Thursday	9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.	11 a.m. to 1 p.m. 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.
	Friday	9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.	11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

* The Assembly may sit on Mondays on motion by the Government House Leader.

Outside the periods provided for in the Standing Orders, the Assembly holds extraordinary sittings at the request of the Premier. This request is made to the President or, in the President's absence, to the Secretary General. Standing committees may sit at any time during the year, from Monday to Friday, at the times set in the Standing Orders. The Assembly and committees may not sit during weeks set aside for work in electoral districts.

Did you know?

On September 14, 2009, due to the passing of the parliamentary reform, changes were made to the Assembly's hours of meeting so as to help Members strike a better balance between their parliamentary work and work in their electoral districts. Parliamentary work now begins in the afternoon on Tuesdays, with an evening session on the same day to make up for the hours lost that morning.

Given the longer sessional periods, extended hours of meeting last no longer than two weeks. Moreover, sittings now end no later than 10:30 p.m. And to better plan committee and other work related to Members' duties, the time of meetings will remain the same all year long. This means that the Assembly may proceed with Routine Proceedings—which include Oral Questions and Answers—at the start of each sitting.

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

Conduct of a sitting at the National Assembly

An Assembly sitting consists of two distinct periods: Routine Proceedings and Orders of the Day.

Routine Proceedings	Orders of the Day
Routine Proceedings are divided into 11 items of business devoted to information provided by the Government to the National Assembly. Oral Questions and Answers takes place on every sitting day. The items of business are considered in the following order: 0.1 Statements by Members <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Statements by Ministers 2. Introduction of Bills 3. Tablings <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3.1 Oral Answers to Petitions 4. Complaints of Breach of Privilege or Contempt and Personal Explanations 5. Oral Questions and Answers 6. Deferred Divisions 7. Motions Without Notice 8. Notices of Proceedings in Committees 9. Information on the Proceedings of the Assembly 	Orders of the Day are devoted mainly to debates on bills at any stage of consideration. At this time, the National Assembly also takes into consideration all other substantive motions for debate. The five items of business for this period are considered in the following order: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Business Having Precedence 2. Urgent Debates 3. Debates on Reports from Committees 4. Other Business Standing on the Order Paper 5. Business Standing in the Name of Members in Opposition

Oral Questions and Answers is without doubt the most familiar item of business to citizens. During this 45 minute period, Members can question Ministers on current matters of public interest that fall within their or the Government's purview.

Forty-nine hours and four minutes were devoted to Oral Questions and Answers

The number of questions asked can be broken down as follows:

- Main questions: 776
- Supplementary questions: 1,281

A closer look at Routine Proceedings

Statements by Members – This item of business, which signals the beginning of a sitting, is an opportunity for Members, including ministers, to make a one-minute statement on a matter close to their heart. Up to ten Members may make a statement per session.

Statements by Ministers – Ministers may make statements to the Assembly on any subject they deem appropriate, e.g., the announcement of a government policy or the Government's reaction to a particular event. Opposition groups then comment on these statements.

Introduction of Bills – Bills may be introduced during Routine Proceedings. Members do not discuss the content at this point; they simply allow bills to be submitted for consideration during subsequent stages of the legislative process.

A closer look at Orders of the Day

Business Having Precedence – As the name indicates, this business takes precedence over all other matters due to its importance or urgency. The opening speech of the session, delivered by the Premier, and the speeches by the leaders of the parliamentary groups or their representatives during the subsequent debate rank first among business having precedence. Other business having precedence includes the budget speech and non-confidence motions.

Urgent Debates – Any Member may request an urgent debate. The President authorizes such a debate if he/she deems that the request concerns a specific matter of particular importance that is under the authority of the National Assembly and cannot be discussed otherwise.

Debates on Reports from Committees – Committee reports that contain recommendations are entered on the Order Paper and Notices the day after they are tabled in the National Assembly and must be taken into consideration within 15 days.

Other Business Standing on the Order Paper and Notices – At this time, the National Assembly goes through the various stages of studying bills, notably passage in principle, consideration of reports from committees that have examined bills and the passage of bills.

Only a Minister may introduce a bill having financial implications. However, barring this exception, any Member has the right to introduce a bill to the National Assembly. Members who are not ministers may use the Assembly's legal and legislative services to have it drafted.

A program has been developed in conjunction with Université Laval to give undergraduate students an opportunity to earn valuable work experience while learning more about Québec's parliamentary institutions.

Fourteen students in law, politics, public affairs and international relations took up their duties in August 2009. The internship and directed research are worth six credits toward their degree programs.

PARLIAMENTARY REFORM

On April 21, 2009, the National Assembly completed a major exercise in parliamentary reform by unanimously adopting a series of changes to its Standing Orders. Although it falls short of a complete overhaul of the National Assembly's Standing Orders and conduct of proceedings, this reform rings in major changes in the pursuit of four objectives: fostering greater Member autonomy and initiative, helping Members work more effectively, reasserting democratic balance in parliamentary proceedings and bringing the Parliament closer to citizens.

Each of the reform's measures is explored in greater detail below:

The reform fosters greater autonomy and initiative on the part of Members by:

- Creating a new item of business for Routine Proceedings known as Statements by Members.
- Introducing a vote on the Government's general policy at the end of the Premier's opening speech at the beginning of a parliamentary session.
- Relaxing committee travel rules.
- Passing new rules to elect the President of the National Assembly by secret ballot.

The reform helps Members work more effectively by:

- Making changes to sessional periods and hours of meeting so that they are spread over a longer time period and include weeks set aside for work in electoral districts.
- Reviewing committee terms of reference to fairly share the workload among them (some committees have had their names changed, others have been dissolved or newly created).
- Increasing the number of committees that may sit at the same time.

The reform reasserts democratic balance in parliamentary proceedings by:

- Replacing the motion to suspend the rules of procedure, commonly called the “guillotine,” by a new procedure known as exceptional procedure. Exceptional procedure may be employed for only one bill at a time, and all bills must be given minimum consideration.
- Holding standing committee hearings for individuals appointed by the National Assembly on the Premier’s recommendation.

The National Assembly is building closer ties with citizens by:

- Putting renewed emphasis on petitioners’ rights by introducing online petitions and obliging the Government to respond to petitions submitted to the National Assembly.
- Creating new ways for the public to signal their interest in attending public committee hearings or submit briefs electronically (online consultations are now one of the ways the Government may consult with citizens).
- Introducing videoconferencing to allow individuals who cannot travel to parliamentary hearings to make their voices heard.

Finally, in the wake of this parliamentary reform, the National Assembly unanimously adopted a document entitled “Recognition of the Action démocratique du Québec as a Parliamentary Group and Allocation of Various Measures Among the Members Sitting in Opposition for the Duration of the 39th Legislature.” Among other things, this document establishes new criteria for recognizing a parliamentary group for the duration of the 39th Legislature.

STANDING COMMITTEES

A considerable portion of parliamentary work is carried out in standing committees, where Members exercise their roles as legislators and controllers of the Government’s actions. These committees bring together Members of the various political parties that make up the National Assembly and are responsible for examining any matter under their authority. In committee, the public can express its views during public consultations on bills or important societal issues. In committee, Members also analyze bills in depth, examine the activities of

Motions without notice

In 2009–2010, 284 motions without notice were carried. They dealt with subjects such as

- Mr. Dany Laferrière’s contribution to Québec literature
- The 100th anniversary of the Le Devoir newspaper
- International Literacy Day

There are eleven permanent standing committees, nine of which are sector-based. A Member of the Official Opposition chairs the Committee on Public Administration, and the President of the National Assembly chairs the Committee on the National Assembly.

The parliamentary reform adopted in spring 2009 led to changes in the scheduling of committee sittings. For example, since September 14, 2009, committee members may meet until 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday evenings during ordinary hours of meeting and do not sit after 10:30 p.m. during extended hours of meeting.

Select committees

The National Assembly has the power to set up select committees. It determines their mandate and designates their members. It may also set the length of their term and appoint committee chairs and vice-chairs. Unless otherwise decided by the Assembly, standing committee rules also apply to select committees. All select committees cease to exist the moment they table their report in the National Assembly.

The mandates of the standing committees

Sector-based standing committees may carry out three types of mandate: orders of initiative, orders of reference and statutory orders. The list of mandates carried out by the standing committees in 2009–2010 can be found in the appendix.

Creation of a select committee on dying with dignity

On December 4, 2009, the National Assembly unanimously adopted a motion creating a select committee to investigate the issue of dying with dignity. This committee will hold a general consultation, including possible travelling sessions, and an online consultation on this important issue of the day.

The same motion tasked the Committee on Health and Social Services (CHSS) with holding special consultations with experts in order to clarify the issues before the select committee begins its work. These consultations were held in February and March of 2010 and addressed such matters as end-of-life conditions and care, the current legal situation and a possible legal framework for euthanasia.

CHSS members have been mandated to produce a discussion paper to help the public take part in the general consultation slated for late summer 2010.

Orders of initiative

In 2009–2010 the members of the various committees took the initiative to examine issues affecting numerous areas of activity. Organizing such mandates requires many meetings during which members prepare consultation and background papers, hear experts, plan public hearings and draft final reports that may contain observations, conclusions and recommendations for the Government.

Did you know?

Aside from this select committee, only four other select committees have ever been set up by the National Assembly since the adoption of the Standing Orders of the National Assembly in 1984: a select committee on vocational training (1995), a select committee on a new management framework for government (1999), a select committee on choosing a site for the future Centre hospitalier de l'Université de Montréal (2005) and a select committee on the Election Act (2005).

Orders of reference

At the request of the National Assembly, the committees examine bills, estimates of expenditure and any other matters they may be asked to study. These are known as “orders of reference.”

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

Orders of initiative

On their own initiative, committees examine draft regulations and regulations, the direction, operation and management of public and ministerial agencies, petitions and any other matter of public interest.

On November 4, 2009, the Committee on Health and Social Services tabled its report on homelessness in Québec, Itinérance: agissons ensemble. The report was the fruit of several months of work during which the committee heard over 100 individuals and organizations at public hearings in Gatineau, Montréal, Québec City and Trois-Rivières. This order of initiative was begun under the 38th Legislature in 2008 and continued in March 2009 by Members of the 39th Legislature. The committee's 33 unanimous recommendations included calls for a policy and interministerial plan on homelessness, improved cooperation between public and community networks, a suitable and recurring funding program for homeless organizations and a better balance between prosecution and social work.

The Committee on Transportation and the Environment assigned itself an order of initiative regarding cyanobacteria in Québec's lakes. A consultation paper was published in June 2009 in anticipation of the special consultations and public hearings the committee plans to hold in 2010. An online consultation was also launched in October 2009 to allow the public to take part in greater numbers. More specifically, the committee is looking at governance, knowledge and the sharing of information, septic systems, agricultural waste, the use of fertilizer and riverbank and floodplain management in relation to cyanobacteria.

The Committee on Public Finance held public hearings on February 2 and 3, 2010, as part of its order of initiative on the indexation of pension plans in the public and broader public sectors. The committee heard some ten individuals and agencies and will continue its work in 2010.

Standing committees also tasked themselves with the oversight of agencies in order to study the direction, operation and management of public agencies under their purview. Among others, the Committee on Labour and the Economy heard the Committee on Labour Relations and the Committee on Transportation and the Environment heard the Commission des transports du Québec and the Bureau d'audiences publiques sur l'environnement.

Orders of reference

Clause-by-clause consideration of bills

The standing committees examined 77 bills of which a complete list may be consulted in the appendix. For all bills submitted for study by the standing committees, 4,930 sections were examined and 684 amendments were adopted out of the 784 amendments introduced.

Special consultations

Special consultations are limited to individuals and organizations chosen by the committee or by the Assembly owing to their knowledge or expertise regarding the matter under consideration.

Public consultations

In 2009–2010, 685 groups and individuals came before the committees to give their opinions on the various matters on which consultations were held. The standing committees received 671 briefs. These consultations enable the parliamentarians to properly assess the issues arising from a matter under consideration.

For instance, the Committee on Agriculture, Fisheries, Energy and Natural Resources was tasked with leading a general consultation on Bill 57, the Forest Occupancy Act. It heard over 70 individuals and organizations in September and October 2009 and received 72 briefs on the bill that will institute a forest regime whose main purpose is to ensure the sustainability of our forest resources and implement sustainable forest management. Further to a recommendation adopted at the end of this consultation, the bill was reprinted and renamed the Sustainable Forest Development Act.

The Committee on Institutions held a public consultation and an online consultation on the Draft bill to amend the Civil Code and other legislative provisions as regards adoption and parental authority. Forty-odd individuals and agencies appeared before the committee in January and February 2010. In parallel to these public hearings, over 250 citizens and agencies completed the online questionnaire posted on the National Assembly website. All the comments provided the committee with plenty of food for thought on the draft bill, which seeks to adapt the law to meet the adoption needs of families and society as a whole.

The following bills were also submitted for public consultation:

- Bills 38 and 44, An Act to amend the Act respecting educational institutions at the university level and the Act respecting the Université du Québec with respect to governance and An Act to amend the General and Vocational Colleges Act with respect to governance
- Bill 48, Code of ethics and conduct of the Members of the National Assembly
- Bill 60, An Act to amend the Consumer Protection Act and other legislative provisions

General consultation

General consultations are open to the population at large. They must be preceded by a public notice published in selected newspapers and in the Québec Official Gazette, inviting any individuals and organizations interested in the matter under consideration to submit a brief to the committee. Citizens may also send a request to be heard without submitting a brief. Public hearings are then held before the committee, with a period of no longer than 45 minutes set aside for all requests without a brief to be heard.

Examination of the estimates of expenditure 2009–2010

For a three-week period in April and May, the standing committees considered the estimates of expenditure of the Government, as stipulated in Standing Order 282. By the conclusion of their mandate, the committees had devoted 188 hours to examining $66 billion in estimates of expenditure allocated to Government ministries and agencies.

Hearings on the results of the Caisse de dépôt et placement du Québec

The Committee on Public Finance was given the mandate of holding public hearings on the results of the Caisse de dépôt et placement du Québec. Over six days of hearings in May 2009, committee members heard and questioned former heads of the Caisse de dépôt et placement du Québec, its main depositors and the Minister of Finance, Mr. Raymond Bachand, on the causes and impact of the losses posted by the Caisse in fiscal 2008. The hearings, which began on March 13, 2009, concluded with an appearance by the Minister of Finance, Ms. Monique Jérôme-Forget.

Examination of Hydro-Québec's 2009–2013 Strategic Plan

The National Assembly also tasked the Committee on Agriculture, Fisheries, Energy and Natural Resources with examining Hydro-Québec's 2009–2013 Strategic Plan. The state-owned company appeared before the committee on October 6 and 7, 2009, to discuss its strategic vision, touching on energy efficiency, renewable energy and technology innovations.

The Committees Secretariat issues an annual statistical report on the work of the standing committees. The 2008–2009 report may be consulted on the National Assembly website at assnat.qc.ca in the Publications section.

Statutory orders and orders in compliance with the Standing Orders

On February 2, 3 and 4, 2010, the Committee on Health and Social Services heard directors from health and social services agencies in the Capitale-Nationale, Côte-Nord, Saguenay–Lac-St-Jean, Gaspésie–Îles-de-la-Madeleine and Abitibi-Témiscamingue regions, as well as the Nunavik Regional Board of Health and Social Services. These hearings were an opportunity to examine the agencies' annual management reports under Section 392 of the Act respecting health services and social services.

Some orders of the standing committees come from an act or regulation, others from the Standing Orders of the National Assembly.

For its part the Committee on Planning and the Public Domain examined the financial statements, activity report and development plan of the Commission de la capitale nationale du Québec. It also gave consideration to the regulation for residential swimming pool safety under Section 1 of the Residential Swimming Pool Safety Act. At the end of its examination, the committee formulated recommendations to the Government.

Interpellation

Pursuant to the Standing Orders of the National Assembly, every Member of the Opposition may interpellate a minister on a matter of general interest for which he or she is officially responsible. The interpellation is held at a meeting of the appropriate standing committee, on Friday morning, from 10.00 o'clock a.m. to 12.00 o'clock noon. One interpellation may be held each week during the periods in which the National Assembly ordinarily meets (excepting during intensive session, when none may be held). During 2008–2009 the Government's ministers were interpellated 14 times in standing committees.

The Committee on Public Administration

The Committee on Public Administration calls public administrators to account on their management. It carries out this mandate by inviting the deputy ministers and the chief executive officers of public bodies to come before it to answer the questions of parliamentarians on their annual management reports or to discuss the observations contained in the Auditor General's reports.

Pursuant to the Standing Orders of the National Assembly, the Committee must also examine all financial commitments equal to or exceeding $25,000 granted to departments and public agencies whose estimates of expenditure are voted on by the Assembly. In scrutinizing these expenditures, the Committee ensures itself of their advisability, the observance of government rules and standards governing the granting of contracts and subsidies and the equitable allocation of public funds.

During the 2009–2010 fiscal year, the Committee on Public Administration tabled three reports to the National Assembly. These 21st, 22nd and 23rd reports on the accountability of the deputy ministers and the managers of organizations contain 44 unanimous recommendations on such topics as government interventions in the mining sector, monitoring of the Québec Health Record project, Cegep business relations with partners and performance, issuing of permits and oversight at the Régie des alcools, des courses et des jeux du Québec.

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

The contribution of the Research Department to exercising parliamentary control

This parliamentary department helps Members on standing committees carry out orders of initiatives and control. In 2009–2010 it prepared over 100 analysis and background reports and was involved in researching and drafting a number of papers that were published by standing committees.

Numerous tools were used to assist standing committees with reporting duties, which derive in part from the implementation of the Public Administration Act. In particular the department analyzed annual management reports from ministries and agencies subject to the Committee on Public Administration's powers of oversight. It acts similarly for all agencies and government corporations that report to sectorial standing committees.

On February 4, 2010, the committee heard the Secretary General and clerk of the Executive Council and the Secretary General and head of administration from the Lieutenant-Governor's Office as part of its follow-up to the recommendations respecting the use of public funds by the former Lieutenant-Governor of Québec contained in its 21st report. The committee also held hearings on the management of contracts involving a component of risk at the Ministère des Transports.

ORGANIZATIONS REPORTING TO THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

Nomination of an interim Lobbyists Commissioner

On June 30, 2009, the President of the National Assembly, Mr. Yvon Vallières, appointed Mr. François Casgrain interim Lobbyists Commissioner. He replaced Mr. André Côté, whose term ended on July 5, 2009.

This appointment took effect on July 6, 2009, for a period of no more than six months. However, the term was extended under Bill 80—a decision that was sanctioned on December 4, 2009—until a commissioner is named or until June 11, 2010, whichever comes first.

Four individuals are appointed by the National Assembly. This allows them to remain independent as they exercise their functions.

The Chief Electoral Officer oversees the application of the Election Act, the Referendum Act and part of the Act respecting elections and referendums in municipalities and also chairs the Commission de la représentation électorale, which is charged with drawing up Québec's electoral boundaries. The Chief Electoral Officer must be chosen from among the electors. He or she is appointed for a seven-year renewable term.

The Québec Ombudsman prevents and corrects errors or injustices committed against any individual or group of individuals in connection with a Québec government ministry or agency. The Ombudsman also intervenes in cases where citizens feel their rights have been breached or ignored by an establishment in the health and social services network. He or she is appointed for a five-year renewable term.

The Auditor General fosters, through audit, parliamentary control over public funds and other public property, and informs Members about how the Government and its agencies and enterprises manage public funds. He or she is appointed for ten years.

The Lobbyists Commissioner is tasked with monitoring and controlling the lobbying of holders of public office. The Commissioner develops a code of conduct for lobbyists and conducts investigations and examinations of all violations of the Lobbying Transparency and Ethics Act or the code of conduct. He or she is appointed for a five-year renewable term.

PARLIAMENTARY DIPLOMACY

PARLIAMENTARY DIPLOMACY

In democratic systems based on the separation of powers, parliaments conduct their international relations independently and in respect of political pluralism. The President of the National Assembly has the responsibility of representing the institution in international activities, whose non-partisan nature is ensured by having delegations composed of Members from the various political groups represented at the National Assembly. Over the years the Assembly has developed an extensive network of multilateral and bilateral interparliamentary relationships.

The National Assembly's interparliamentary and international relations are based on four major objectives:

- Reinforce the effectiveness of the parliamentary institution and elected officials in their duties as legislators, overseers of government actions, defenders of the public interest and representatives
- Improve the position of the National Assembly on the international scene and its institutional reach within interparliamentary networks
- Actively participate in building a global community founded on democracy, peace, justice and prosperity
- Broaden the reach of Québec society, particularly by promoting its sectors of excellence.

MULTILATERAL RELATIONS

Parliamentary Assembly of the Francophonie (APF)

The APF is an important forum for discussing themes that are close to the hearts of elected officials in Québec, including culture, education and parliamentary democracy.

President Vallières accompanied by Gabonese parliamentarian and former president of the Parliamentary Assembly of the Francophonie Jules Aristide Bourdes Ogouliguende, standing in here for Mr. Guy Nzouba-Ndama, President of the National Assembly of Gabon and President of the Parliamentary Assembly of the Francophonie

The 35th session of the APF was held in Paris from July 2 to 6, 2009. The President of the National Assembly of Québec, Mr. Yvon Vallières, was elected President of the organization for a two-year term and awarded the highest distinction of the Ordre de la pléiade: the Grand-Croix. In his acceptance speech, Mr. Vallières undertook to mobilize French-speaking parliamentarians to pursue the implementation of the UNESCO Convention on the Protection and Promotion of the Diversity of Cultural Expressions. He also stressed the need to bolster the APF's political role with other member bodies of La Francophonie in order to consolidate peace, democracy and human rights in the French-speaking world.

Mr. Yvon Vallières, President of the National Assembly of Québec, addresses the plenary assembly of the APF during its 35th session held at the National Assembly of the French Republic in Paris in July 2009

At the end of the proceedings, in addition to resolutions on HIV/AIDS, the financial and food crises and sustainable development, in a plenary session the French-speaking parliamentarians adopted the “Paris Declaration on Parliamentary Democracy,” a paper setting out the criteria for evaluating the democratic character of the parliaments of La Francophonie.

For its part the Americas Regional Assembly held its 25th session in Halifax from September 16 to 20, 2009. The Québec Branch gave a presentation on heritage conservation.

Earlier in 2009 a Québec Member took part in an electoral mission led by the International Organization of the Francophonie (OIF) as a representative of the Americas region during the presidential election of July 18, 2009, in Mauritania. Québec Members hosted parliamentary seminars on parliaments’ powers of control and information in Bamako, Mali, on September 25 and 26, 2009, and in Bujumbura, Burundi, on November 26 and 27, 2009. Québec parliamentarians also represented the APF at the World Trade Organization Public Forum in Geneva, Switzerland, from September 28 to 30, 2009, as well as the second Conference of Parties to the UNESCO Convention on the Protection and Promotion of the Diversity of Cultural Expressions, which was held in Paris from June 15 to 18, 2009.

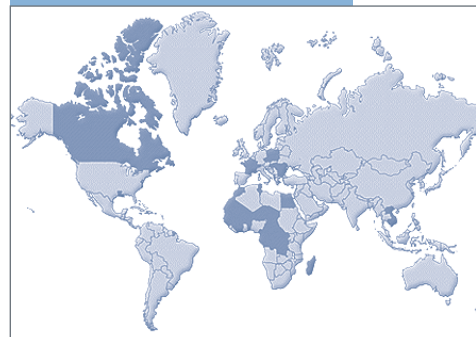

In addition President Vallières chaired the APF Executive Meeting in N’Djamena, Chad, from February 2 to 4, 2010. At his behest it was agreed to hold an interparliamentary conference on the diversity of cultural expressions in Québec City in February 2011. The APF Executive also set up a fund to assist the Haitian Parliament and, on the initiative of the Québec Branch, it adopted a resolution asking branches to call upon their own governments to get involved in rebuilding the country.

Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA)

At the meeting of the Canadian Area Council in Toronto on July 20, 2009, the Québec Branch successfully proposed the creation of an area council working group to examine the issue of modernizing the CPA. The group, headed by the chair of the CPA’s Canada Branch, is made up of representatives from assemblies in Alberta, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Manitoba and Québec. It met twice in 2009 and set out an action plan to meet its objectives.

PARLIAMENTARY DIPLOMACY

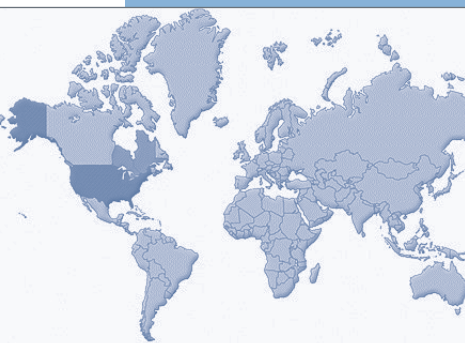

COPA

Parliamentary Confederation of the Americas: Created in 1997 on the initiative of the National Assembly of Québec, composed of the parliamentary assemblies of the unitary, federal and federated States, the regional parliaments and the interparliamentary organizations of the Americas

CSG

The National Assembly also took part in the 55th Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference, which was held in Arusha, Tanzania, from September 28 to October 6, 2009, where the delegate from the National Assembly gave a presentation at the working meeting on climate change. A Member of the National Assembly was also present to represent the Canada region of the Commonwealth Women Parliamentarians network and outlined the measures taken to eradicate domestic violence in Québec and the rest of Canada.

Parliamentary Confederation of the Americas (COPA)

The National Assembly took part in two COPA electoral observation missions in 2009: one in Mexico in July and a second in Bolivia in December. The electoral observation mission program, which has been in place since 2005, aims to provide an on-the-ground look at how preparations for elections are coming along and to observe the conduct of the election on election day. Missions are organized by the Québec Secretariat of COPA, which is headquartered at the National Assembly, in conjunction with the Chief Electoral Officer of Québec.

Delegations of COPA parliamentarians had been deployed to the capital cities of Mexico and Bolivia in previous elections. This year's missions were therefore an opportunity to gauge the extent to which recommendations made to election officials to improve the electoral process had been put into practice.

A delegation of parliamentarians from the National Assembly took part in the 9th General Assembly of COPA from September 15 to 19 in Salta, Argentina, where various issues were addressed, including the global economic crisis, the fight to keep children from dropping out of school and the political crisis in the Honduras. The 8th Annual Meeting of the Network of Women Parliamentarians of the Americas also took place as part of this General Assembly, set to the theme of violence against women. The network's President visited the National Assembly on June 2 to 4 to gear up for this important meeting as the Québec Secretariat of COPA prepared to assume network secretariat duties.

American Interparliamentary Organizations (ERC, CSG, NCSL)

In 2009 the National Assembly presented Québec's point of view on the Buy American clause in the United States' economic stimulus plan to the Council of State Governments (CSG) and its Eastern Regional Conference (ERC). Two resolutions in support of Québec were adopted by the executive committees of both the ERC and the CSG. Delegations of Québec parliamentarians attended the 49th Annual Meeting of the ERC from August 2 to 5, 2009, in Burlington, Vermont, and the Annual Meeting of the CSG from November 12 to 15, 2009, in La Quinta, California.

American interparliamentary organizations are important forums for the National Assembly, which has used them to defend Québec's interests when it comes to energy, the environment, agriculture, health, education, trade and Québec-U.S. relations. The United States' economic stimulus package was a key theme at the Annual Meeting of the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL) from July 20 to 24, 2009, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The National Assembly is the only international associated member to sit on the executive committee of the NCSL.

BILATERAL RELATIONS

In 2009–2010 the National Assembly was involved in a host of interparliamentary activities as part of its bilateral relations with various legislative assemblies. Many of these relationships have been institutionalized by cooperation agreements. Meetings with their counterparts gave Members of the National Assembly an opportunity to inquire about legislative and parliamentary initiatives in other jurisdictions and thereby enrich debates about issues of the day affecting Québec society.

From September 8 to 13, 2009, the third session of the Catalonia-Québec Interparliamentary Commission was held in Barcelona, where the Québec delegation led by the President of the National Assembly, Mr. Yvon Vallières, was able to share ideas with Catalan parliamentarians on farmland management and measures to prevent children from dropping out of school.

The Ontario-Québec Parliamentary Association met in Québec City for its 16th General Assembly from October 23 to 25, 2009. In the presence of President Vallières and the Speaker of the Ontario Legislative Assembly, Mr. Steve Peters, parliamentarians from Ontario and Québec discussed initiatives to counter contraband tobacco and prevent children from dropping out of school.

A delegation of Québec parliamentarians also attended the 6th Annual Meeting of the French Senate and the National Assembly of Québec from December 7 to 11. The meeting allowed delegation members to discuss vocational training and workforce mobility with French senators from the France-Québec Friendship Group and its President, Mr. Jean-Claude Carle.

In addition, the President of the National Assembly led a delegation of Québec parliamentarians to France for the 23rd session of the France-Québec Interparliamentary Group from December 14 to 18, 2009. The meeting, which marked 30 years since the group was first formed, was an opportunity for Québec Members to discuss balanced budgets and the school dropout issue with their colleagues from the France-Québec Friendship Group and its President, Mr. Pierre Lasbordes.

Finally, from February 22 to 26, 2010, the fifth session of the Québec-Bavaria Joint Parliamentary Committee was held in Munich from February 22 to 26, 2010. The delegation of Québec parliamentarians learned more about Bavaria's high-tech expertise in renewable energy and discussed vocational training with their German counterparts.

Did you know?

Since 1999 over 200 new parliamentarians from Mali, Benin and Niger have participated in exchange seminars with Québec Members.

RELATIONS WITH EUROPEAN INSTITUTIONS

The National Assembly also enjoys relationships with diverse institutions and parliamentary assemblies in Europe. Representatives from the National Assembly welcomed the President of the Assembly of European Regions (ARE) and the Vice-President of the regional council for the Île-de-France region, Ms. Michèle Sabban. Discussions were held on matters of interest to regions in Europe, notably the environment and the jurisdictions of substate authorities.

Members of the National Assembly delegation for relations with European institutions also went on a fact-finding trip to Brussels and Strasbourg from October 12 to 16, 2009. During meetings with representatives and elected officials from the European Parliament, the Committee of the Regions, the Congress of Local and Regional Authorities of the Council of Europe, the Parliamentary Assembly of the Council of Europe and the Assembly of European Regions, Québec Members discussed Québec's positions on climate change, the handling of petitions and promoting parliamentary democracy.

INTERPARLIAMENTARY COOPERATION

For several years now, the National Assembly has been providing technical support to the parliamentary institutions of emerging and consolidating democracies at both the parliamentary and administrative levels. These cooperation activities bring together parliamentarians and experts as they share knowledge and experiences at seminars and workshops.

This year the National Assembly hosted a seminar for the secretaries general of the national assemblies of Benin, Burkina Faso, Burundi and Mali, as well as the Senate of Cambodia. It also welcomed a delegation from Mali that came to draw inspiration from our parliamentary control processes with a view to reforming government administration. In addition, the National Assembly sent a mission to the national assemblies of Benin and Mali. This mission sought to foster discussions with political and administrative authorities in both institutions in order to gauge their needs and agree on a new action plan to continue training and technical partnerships with both parliaments.

The Association des secrétaires généraux des parlements francophones (Association of Secretaries General from French-Speaking Parliaments, ASGPF) held its first training seminar on parliamentary governance in Burkina Faso, thanks among other things to the efforts of the National Assembly and its Secretary General, who is currently President of the ASGPF. This seminar brought together 22 participants from 10 parliaments.

CITIZENS

In addition to providing citizens with the opportunity to follow parliamentary proceedings and on occasion to take part in them, the National Assembly has a vast array of communications tools to bring citizens and their elected representatives closer together.

EDUCATIONAL AND RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

To stimulate the interest of people of all ages in the exercise of democracy and contribute to their becoming active and well-informed citizens, the National Assembly has developed various activities and publications to educate on democracy.

Youth Strategy

Building on the educational mission it has developed since 1992, the National Assembly released a youth strategy in November 2009 aimed at helping teachers educate students about democracy and reach young people in their everyday environments. This innovative initiative for 2009–2012 provides for new teaching materials, an Education Zone on the Assembly website and a kit to accompany Member visits to schools. It also provides for new training workshops, the development of a communications plan for National Assembly educational activities and a promotional campaign for youth groups, a Presidents' Tour (which has already begun), changes to how school groups are welcomed to the Assembly and lastly the implementation of Parliaments in Elementary Schools, a project overseen by the Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant.

This strategy allows the National Assembly to reaffirm its educational leadership to citizens and democracy as a whole.

Tournament and parliamentary simulations

The Tournament and parliamentary simulations are role-playing activities designed to educate participants about the operation of the National Assembly, its rules and privileges and the limits of its powers. Apprentice Members spend several days drafting and discussing bills while learning the art of compromise, consensus and respect for others, as others put their historical knowledge to the test by answering questions raised by the tournament.

In addition to Members' work, two parliamentary simulations at the National Assembly give young people an opportunity to try their hand at being a press officer or journalist. Kept up to date on the latest news from Parliament by apprentice government and opposition press officers, trainee journalists produce their own newspaper, L'attaché de presse, published once at the end of the Young People's Parliament, and Vox Populi, which is distributed five times during the week-long parliamentary proceedings at the Student Forum. Both publications are available online in the "Educational Activities" section of the National Assembly website.

PRESIDENTS' TOUR

Launched on November 6, 2009, the Presidents' Tour has taken the President of the National Assembly and three Vice-Presidents, accompanied by Members for the electoral divisions in question, to 24 high schools in 10 regions across Québec. Tour participants have met with some 4,500 students interested in parliamentary institutions.

Set to the theme of "La démocratie au cœur de nos vies," the activity aims to make students aware of the importance of democracy and civic participation, promote the role played by the National Assembly and explain the duties of Assembly Members and presidents. The tour will continue in spring 2010 in other regions of Québec.

Youth Parliament, Student Parliament and the Parlement des sages

The National Assembly lends its support to various groups by helping them organize parliamentary simulations and arrange event logistics. The Parlement des sages brings together seniors and people who have taken early retirement, while the Youth Parliament and the Student Parliament are both aimed at college and university students. All three parliaments give groups an opportunity to spend a few days learning the basics of the legislative and parliamentary process.

Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant

This National Assembly foundation bears the name of the man celebrated at his death in 1978 as one of the great intellectuals of Québec. Since 1978 the foundation has kept the memory of Jean-Charles Bonenfant—a law clerk, university scholar, historian, author and humanist—alive among the general public, particularly young people.

In continuing its namesake's efforts to further democracy and parliamentary institutions, the foundation organizes a host of activities each year, including the activity known as Parliaments in High Schools, which reaches over 5,000 students age 13 to 17 in their home school environment, as well as a conference on themes relating to parliamentarism. It also funds paid parliamentary internships for Québec university students.

In 2009–2010 the foundation was more active than ever in the province's schools, colleges and universities, with a new project called Parliaments in Elementary Schools, which reaches elementary students in their school environment and allows them to experience a new student council format inspired by certain aspects of parliamentarism.

Parliamentary internships

Each year since 1978, the Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant has provided paid parliamentary internships at the National Assembly. Participants experience the numerous aspects of Québec parliamentary life, becoming more familiar with the operation of the National Assembly and of the institutions that report to it, namely the Auditor General, the Québec Ombudsman, the Chief Electoral Officer and the Lobbyists Commissioner. Subsequently, each intern is paired with a Member from the Government and then a Member of an opposition party. The interns also take part in a mission abroad and are required to prepare a dissertation comparing legislative systems.

In June 2009 scholarship recipients for 2008–2009 Olivier Bégin-Caouette, Pierre-Olivier Legault-Tremblay, Marie-Astrid Ospina D'Amours, Marc-André Turcotte and Pierre-Luc Turgeon completed their internships. Over the ten months, the interns learned more about the parliamentary system in Québec and had the chance to compare it with the system in Brazil, which they visited. They were particularly interested in electronic voting, mandatory voting and Brazil's thriving federalism.

On June 16 an official ceremony presided by Mr. Jacques Chagnon, the Second Vice-President of the National Assembly and the foundation's Vice-President, marked the end of a busy year as the interns submitted their dissertations:

- Les parlementaires québécois et leur influence sur la réforme de l'éducation de 1997 (Olivier Bégin-Caouette)
- La promesse d'un rôle accru pour l'Assemblée nationale et le gouvernement du Québec dans les négociations commerciales internationales : Analyse des négociations à trois niveaux (Pierre-Olivier Legault-Tremblay)
- Portrait de l'autonomie administrative de l'Assemblée nationale et du Bureau, en vertu de la Loi sur l'Assemblée nationale (Marie-Astrid Ospina D'Amours)
- Déclin du parlementarisme : collaboration des pouvoirs ou concentration des pouvoirs (Marc-André Turcotte)
- Les parlementaires québécois face aux défis engendrés par la mondialisation (Pierre-Luc Turgeon)

The dissertations are available from the Library of the National Assembly and the foundation's website at www.fondationbonenfant.qc.ca

Beginning of 2009–2010 internships

Scholarship recipients for 2009–2010 Laurie Comtois, Maxime Fortin, Laurence Fouquette-L'Anglais, Pierre Lessard-Blais and Martine Sirois began their internships by being twinned with a Member from the Government, then a Member of the Opposition. They each wrote a dissertation during their internships. The interns then went on a fact-finding mission to Japan, where they compared the situation in Québec with how things were in Tokyo and the Canadian government with the Japanese government. The issues of population aging and Japan's union culture were of particular interest to the group.

Parliaments in High School

Parliaments in High School takes its inspiration from the National Assembly while mirroring the operation of student councils. The program encourages secondary schoolers in years one through five to take part in decisions affecting student life, thus helping them to feel that they have a role to play in their school communities. Participation takes place in a spirit of cooperation and assistance between the school board, school principal and school staff members.

The activity allows young people to acquire knowledge of the National Assembly and experience the process of debating public issues while upholding values such as respect for differences of opinion and the art of compromise.

As at March 31, 2010, Parliaments in High Schools included 191 schools and over 5,000 student council members.

Inaugurated in spring 2008, the Parliaments in High Schools Award rewards students for their achievements in drafting their own bills. The foundation awarded $500 to each of the three schools that came up with the best bills:

- Act respecting the development of a morning newscast (École Les Compagnons-de-Cartier, Québec City)
- Act prohibiting the consumption or possession of energy drinks in school (École Marcel-Raymond, Lorrainville)
- Act respecting the creation of a student lounge (École aux Quatre-Vents, Bonaventure).

The three conference participants, left to right: Messrs. François Gélneau, Norman Delisle and Marcel Blanchet. To the right, conference host and then President of the Press Gallery, Mr. Pierre Duchesne

Organized in conjunction with the Faculty of Law at Université Laval, the Jean-Charles-Bonenfant conferences address themes that were close to the heart of Jean-Charles Bonenfant: parliamentarism, the fundamental principles of public law, federalism and jurisdiction sharing, the legal history of institutions and the drafting and interpretation of statutes.

The 7th conference, which was hosted by Radio-Canada journalist Pierre Duchesne, was held on November 18, 2009, and examined what to do about declining voter turnout. Three speakers debated the subject: Mr. Marcel Blanchet, Chief Electoral Officer; Mr. François Gélneau, a politics professor at Université Laval; and Mr. Norman Delisle, former journalist and member of the press gallery.

Mr. Gélneau took the opportunity to unveil the findings of a study looking into why people vote in Québec. The study, which he led for the Chief Electoral Officer, was carried out by the Research Chair on Democracy and Parliamentary Institutions at Université Laval.

Course on parliamentary law and procedure at Université Laval

For a sixth consecutive year, the National Assembly and Université Laval have formed a partnership to offer a course on parliamentary law and procedure to university students. Tailor-made for law and political science students, this course seeks to instruct them on the rules and principles that characterize the organization and operation of the parliamentary proceedings carried out at the National Assembly.

Duplessis in the Library of the National Assembly

The year 2009 marked the 50th anniversary of the death of a man who was Québec's Premier for close to 20 years and who left his mark on the province's political history: Maurice Duplessis. The National Assembly devoted an exhibition to Duplessis in the Library of the National Assembly to celebrate his impressive legacy and remember a character who leaves no-one indifferent.

The Duplessis exhibition was officially opened on the occasion of the seminar "Duplessis, son milieu, son époque," which was held in Trois-Rivières on September 17 and 18, 2009. The exhibition moved to the National Assembly on September 25, 2009 and ran until February 5, 2010.

Le Québec, ses députés, ses régions

Since December 2006 there has been a great coming-together of hearts and minds at the Parliament. In 2009 the National Assembly updated Member video profiles and found a new home for the permanent exhibition Le Québec, ses députés, ses régions in the Visitor Centre. For a third year, the National Assembly is showcasing the beauties and riches of Québec's 17 regions as seen through the eyes of the Members, in the form of some stunning photography.

These videos in which the 125 Members introduce themselves, explain their role at the National Assembly and talk about their regions are a central part of the exhibition. They can be viewed on interactive terminals in the Visitor Centre and can also be accessed from Member biography pages on the National Assembly website (assnat.qc.ca), in addition to being broadcast on the National Assembly Channel.

A NATIONAL ASSEMBLY THAT DOES ITS PART FOR SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

The National Assembly launches a sustainable development action plan

Building on steps already taken in this direction, particularly the Pour l'avenir, je récupère Campaign of 2007, the National Assembly's Sustainable Development Action Plan was made public on November 12, 2009, by the President of the Assembly, Mr. Yvon Vallières, accompanied by Minister Line Beauchamp, representing the Premier; Ms. Pauline Marois, the Leader of the Official Opposition; and Mr. François Bonnardel, then Leader of the Second Opposition Group. The holder of the Chaire de recherche et d'intervention en écoconseil at the Université du Québec à Chicoutimi, Mr. Claude Villeneuve, was also in attendance to support the National Assembly's initiative.

The result of efforts initiated in 2008, the three-year plan—which all National Assembly staff were invited to contribute to—sets out 11 goals and 40 measures concerning various aspects of sustainable development (social, economic, ethical and ecological).

Sustainable development actions

In 2009–2010 a number of measures listed in the action plan were implemented, including the acquisition of a NEMO electric vehicle and the publication of guides on greening the workplace and environmentally responsible activities.

Work to enhance sustainability and energy savings was also performed on the Jean-Antoine-Panet Building, including replacing heating and air conditioning pumps and installing a heat pump.

On October 14, 2009, the National Assembly reached Level 2 of Recyc-Québec's Ici on recycle Program, the result of action taken to reduce, reuse and recycle waste.

As part of continued efforts to reduce waste, the National Assembly has also begun using composting bins.

The National Assembly's Sustainable Development Action Plan is available on-line in the “Sustainable Development” section of the National Assembly website at assnat.qc.ca.

NEMO electric vehicle

In line with its commitment to sustainable development, the National Assembly has purchased an electric vehicle for its Messenger Service, an initiative unveiled at the launch of the Sustainable Development Action Plan on November 12, 2009.

The small noise-free truck is powered by batteries and an electric engine. It produces zero CO₂ emissions and has a range of 115 km at a maximum speed of 40 kph, carrying up to 1,000 lb. It was assembled in Laval by Québec company NEMO Inc. and cost approximately $35,000.

National Assembly couriers clock up some 25,000 km every year and had gas receipts of $6,500 in 2008–2009. The NEMO costs around 75¢ per 100 km to run, or about $190 a year in electricity, representing savings of $6,312.50. The truck will therefore pay for itself in approximately five years.

Choosing an electric vehicle is tangible evidence of the National Assembly's determination to do its part for sustainable development.

The award seeks to encourage the production of original, quality works on the political history of French-speaking America that are well researched and accessible to the general public.

It is evidence of the National Assembly of Québec's desire to showcase its heritage and disseminate historical and political knowledge through quality books.

The inaugural Prix de l'Institut d'histoire de l'Amérique française et de l'Assemblée nationale du Québec for 2009 was awarded to France – Canada – Québec : 400 ans de relations d'exception, co-edited by Serge Joyal and Paul-André Linteau.

On November 25, 2009, Dictionnaire des parlementaires du Québec de 1792 à nos jours was reissued at a ceremony celebrating the 15 and 20 year anniversaries of several current Members.

The dictionary, which boasts over 2,400 biographies of parliamentarians, is now in its third edition. The National Assembly first published Répertoire des parlementaires du Québec, 1867-1978 in 1980, followed 12 years later by Dictionnaire des parlementaires du Québec, 1792-1992 to mark the bicentenary of the parliamentary institutions.

For the first time, the dictionary includes a short analysis of various aspects of parliamentary life in Québec, including political life expectancy, Members' occupational backgrounds, comparisons between the sexes and differences between the make-up of our institution and the Legislative Council of yore.

Nutrition Month

To help staff maintain healthy diets and lead active lifestyles, the National Assembly organized various activities for Nutrition Month on the theme of “Celebrate food... from field to table!” Among other things, employees were invited to a conference, took part in an interactive quiz on Canada’s Food Guide and were able to meet with a nutritionist. Healthy recipes from the dietitians’ and nutritionists’ website were also posted on the Assembly’s intranet portal.

Promoting a healthy diet is part of the National Assembly’s occupational health and safety policy, which aims to keep staff both mentally and physically healthy, and is in keeping with its Sustainable Development Action Plan.

Occupational Health and Safety Month

On June 10, 2009, 37 employees gave the gift of life by generously donating blood as part of the Héma Québec Blood Drive.

Occupational Health and Safety Month

September 2009 was designated Occupational Health and Safety Month in order to promote health and safety in the workplace through a series of activities. It was also an occasion for occupational health and safety managers, the Joint Committee for Occupational Health and Safety (CPSST), members of the Association paritaire pour la santé et sécurité du travail – Administration provinciale (APSSAP) and National Assembly employees to share ideas.

Did you know?

The Joint Committee for Occupational Health and Safety (CPSST) took home the “Hommage à un bâtisseur” Award in the category for best occupational health and safety committee in the public service at the APSSAP Gala.

ADMINISTRATIVE ORGANIZATION

Fund-raising campaigns

Entraide Campaign

The honorary campaign president, Mr. Yvon Vallières, and the Entraide Committee for 2009 were keen to get involved by proposing some new activities, and so in addition to a luncheon fundraiser to mark the start of the new session and an Oktoberfest meal, a friendly competition was held between the various directorates, all of which responded enthusiastically to the challenge.

Auction for Haiti

Following the earthquake in Haiti on January 12, 2010, employees at the National Assembly rallied to organize a special fundraiser. On February 18, 2010, items donated by parliamentarians were sold to the highest bidder in a special auction that raised almost $5,000. Money raised by Members and employees at the Assembly was donated to the Québec Division of the Canadian Red Cross's Haiti Earthquake Relief Fund.

With each determined to outdo the other, the administrative units organized donation drives, sporting and art events and Christmas candy sales. Payroll deductions brought the total beyond the target of $44,000, thanks to the generosity of our staff. As the national campaign slogan puts it so well, once again this year Members and employees of the National Assembly “left behind a trail of generosity”!

A NATIONAL ASSEMBLY FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

The National Assembly on the Web — much more than a website

On March 16, 2010, the President of the National Assembly, Mr. Yvon Vallières, announced the launch of the Assembly's new website. Boasting 68,000 pages of information and 7,700 videos, the new site is a unique and rich goldmine of reliable information on parliamentary work.

The site provides visitors with much more effective search tools and puts greater emphasis on the latest news from Parliament Hill. In addition to being more user friendly, the website has a more dynamic look and feel to it and lets visitors subscribe to RSS feeds.

Did you know?

The National Assembly has a total of 1,407 computers (369 of which are laptops) and 511 printers on Parliament Hill and in Members' riding offices.

Among other things, additions and improvements to the site now let visitors:

- Keep up with parliamentary proceedings in real time as they watch their Members at work in the Assembly and in committee
- Sign up for RSS feeds
- Make their voices heard by signing online petitions
- Take part in online public consultations
- Comment on topics under consideration by Members
- Follow the progress of bills
- Contact their Members more easily
- Learn about parliamentary history
- View the daily schedule at a glance by consulting the new Event Calendar
- Discover two new sections: “The ABC of the Assembly” and the “News and Press Room”.

Over 18,000 people visited the site on launch day, a marked increase over the average of 5,000 visits per day.

Time for a change

The National Assembly website had been up and running since 1995—and was still using the same technology platform. Faced with the increase in content and changing needs and expectations of modern websurfers, the site simply could not go on with the same platform. The Assembly’s information management tools were also in need of an upgrade.

The National Assembly turned to specialized firms to improve the way information is displayed on its website and modernize the tools (software, databases) its staff uses to create, publish and update this information. Close to 30 employees from the Assembly and these private firms steered the two-year project to a successful conclusion.

New technology to handle vast amounts of information

The technology overhaul spawned a new database that will be used for numerous IT projects at the Assembly, along with a brand new website and a software program to manage the site’s huge amount of content. These tools will lead to considerable efficiency gains for employees.

The brand new assnat.qc.ca site is like having your own seat in the Assembly!
