HIGHLIGHTS

2008-2009

FROM THE 38TH TO 39TH LEGISLATURE

The 38th Legislature of the National Assembly was dissolved on November 5, 2008 on the recommendation of the Premier of Québec, and a general election was called for December 8. The beginning of the 39th Legislature was a busy time for the personnel involved in welcoming the 125 candidates elected to the National Assembly, holding training sessions for them, organizing their swearing-in ceremonies and helping them set up their offices in the Parliament Building and in their constituencies.

François Gendron

TWO PRESIDENTS ELECTED

On July 14, 2008, Michel Bissonnet, the 42nd President (or Speaker) of the National Assembly since 1867, announced that he was resigning after serving in that office for slightly over five years. The Members of the National Assembly of the 38th Legislature held a vote to fill the vacancy when the Assembly resumed on October 21, 2008. The Member for Abitibi-Ouest, François Gendron, was elected President.

Then, on January 13, 2009, the first sitting day of the 39th Legislature, Yvon Vallières, Member for Richmond, was elected President by his peers.

The Assembly celebrates the 400th anniversary of Québec City

As 2008 marked the 400th anniversary of Québec City, the National Assembly offered visitors a special program featuring 15 activities and publication launches. A new research chair, exhibitions, deluxe coffee-table books, open house days, conferences, thematic brunches, panel discussions, intergenerational mock parliaments, a new visitor centre—every aspect of the program was designed to highlight the pivotal events in the city's 400-year history. The Assembly wishes to thank the public for their participation in the festivities. Together, we celebrated 400 years of political traditions and institutions!

* For more on the activities held in 2008 after March 31 as part of this special program, look for Québec City's 400th anniversary logo throughout this report.

MEMBERS AND PRESIDING OFFICERS OF PARLIAMENTARY ASSEMBLIES IN THE FRANCOPHONIE MEET IN QUÉBEC CITY

Michel Bissonnet, the President of the National Assembly and First Vice-President of the Assemblée parlementaire de la Francophonie (APF), hosted the 34th Session of the APF from July 1 to 8, 2008. In a departure from custom, the annual Conference of Presiding Officers of La Francophonie was held concurrently. The annual APF session brings together Members of Parliaments and Assemblies from countries and communities that are partly or entirely French-speaking; attendance for 2008 set a record high, with over 50 sections and some 450 delegates.

30TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE TELEVISED BROADCASTING OF PARLIAMENTARY DEBATES

October 3, 2008, is an important date in the history of the Assembly television channel, as the Assembly's proceedings were aired live for the first time 30 years earlier. The Assembly channel celebrated this milestone with a full rebroadcast of the first televised Routine Proceedings. The channel also ran the first Question Period of each subsequent legislature, thus providing a survey of the political issues that have taken centre stage over the last three decades. Lastly, the anniversary provided an opportunity to show how far parliamentary broadcasting has come since those early years: today, the channel broadcasts most of the Assembly's parliamentary and institutional activities as well as high-quality in-house productions such as Mémoires de députés, a series of in-depth interviews with former MNAs.

A HISTORIC MOMENT: THE PRESIDENT OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC ADDRESSES QUÉBEC'S MNAs

On October 17, 2008, during a visit that coincided with the 12th Francophonie Summit, Nicolas Sarkozy wrote a new page in Québec's history by becoming the first President of the French Republic to address our elected representatives in the Chamber of the National Assembly.

Fatima Houda-Pepin, First Vice-President of the Assembly, presented Mr. Sarkozy with the President's Medal on behalf of all Québec parliamentarians. The French President's visit was but one of the events that made 2008 a richly celebratory year for Quebecers.

A WORD FROM THE PRESIDENT

I am very pleased to present the Activity Report of the National Assembly of Québec for 2008-2009. Raising public awareness about the role of the Members, and bringing the institution closer to the people it serves, have been the Assembly's guiding lights in the past year. Accordingly, this year's report provides a choice opportunity to underline the activities both of the Members and of the Assembly's administrative personnel.

The report gives an account of the Members' work in the House and in committee, work that is the keystone of our democracy. During the fiscal year ended March 31, 2009, Assembly business was interrupted by the calling of a general election. The December 8, 2008 vote brought 37 newcomers to the House and, at the beginning of the 39th Legislature, my peers elected me President of the National Assembly. I am grateful to them for entrusting me with an office of such vital importance in our parliamentary system.

The year was further marked by the Assembly's special program to commemorate the 400th anniversary of Québec City. This is just another example—as are the parliamentary simulations and visitor activities—of how the Assembly has been stepping up its efforts to become ever more accessible to Quebecers.

The report also testifies to the high-profile role the Assembly played on the international stage in 2008-2009, when it hosted major meetings such as those that brought together Francophonie parliamentarians and a number of other related events, all of which bear witness to the productive ties we have forged with other parliaments and with jurisdictions the world over.

It is my hope this tenth report will leave you with a fuller appreciation of the breadth and scope of the Assembly's achievements.

Yvon Vallières

A WORD FROM THE SECRETARY GENERAL

“ a year that has once again contributed to raising the Assembly’s visibility both at home and abroad. ”

I am proud to join with the President of the National Assembly in presenting this tenth activity report, which provides a review of the parliamentary business and achievements of the Assembly in the last fiscal year.

I would first of all like to thank the personnel of the Assembly for taking on the challenges of a most eventful year, challenges that arose not only from the work and special measures required by a general election, but also from the Assembly’s role in commemorating Québec City’s 400th anniversary.

The year 2008-2009, under the banner of the quatercentenary, was rich in activities held as part of a special program planned for the occasion. The Assembly celebrated this exceptional event in its own way by welcoming visiting dignitaries, launching flagship publications, holding exhibitions and hosting the 400th anniversary show.

This activity report thus brings the curtain down on what has been a singular year on all fronts, filled with parliamentary activities and festivities, a year that has once again contributed to raising the Assembly’s visibility both at home and abroad.

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

The National Assembly and the Lieutenant-Governor form the Parliament of Québec. This Parliament assumes all the powers conferred on the Legislature of Québec (Act respecting the National Assembly).

The responsibility for debating and passing bills and the budget lies with the Members. They also have the role of supervising the actions of the Government, particularly during Oral Questions and Answers, during consideration of the Government's estimates of expenditure and in discussions of matters of public interest. The duration of the collective term of office of these Members, which is called a "legislature," is provided for in the Constitution and may not exceed five years.

By-elections

A by-election is held in an electoral division for the purpose of filling a vacancy arising from the resignation or death of a Member or further to a legal ruling. When a seat becomes vacant, a government order instituting the holding of an election must be forwarded to the Chief Electoral Officer within six months of the first day of vacancy.

In accordance with a government order dated April 9, a by-election was held on May 12, 2008, in the electoral divisions of Pointe-Aux-Trembles, Hull and Bourget, at the outcome of which Nicole Léger (PQ), Maryse Gaudreault (QLP) and Maka Kotto (PQ) were declared elected by the Chief Electoral Officer. Another by-election was held in the electoral division of Jean-Talon on September 24 and won by Yves Bolduc (QLP).

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

The President of the Assembly awarded the Québec City 400th Anniversary commemorative medallion

On July 2, 2008, Michel Bissonnet, President of the National Assembly, received a Québec City 400th Anniversary commemorative medallion from Jean Leclerc, board chair of the Société du 400<sup>e</sup> anniversaire de Québec, and Daniel Gélinas, the organization's CEO. They stressed Mr. Bissonnet's dedication and initiative in contributing to the 400th anniversary celebrations through a rich and varied program of popular and cultural events for the general public coupled with history and research initiatives. Mr. Bissonnet was also made Grand Officer of France's Ordre national de la Légion d'honneur on July 13, 2008.

Resignation of Mr. Bissonnet, President of the National Assembly

On July 14, 2008, Michel Bissonnet notified the Secretary General of the National Assembly of his immediate resignation as President of the National Assembly, a position he had held since 2003. He also resigned his office as Member in September 2008.

Election of the new President of the 38th Legislature

When work resumed with the first session of the 38th Legislature, parliamentarians elected their new President by secret ballot in accordance with the temporary rules adopted for the circumstance by the Members of the National Assembly. Two candidates ran for election, including one from the group forming the Government and the other from the second opposition group. On the first ballot, François Gendron, Member for Abitibi-Ouest, was declared elected President of the Québec National Assembly. This was the fourth time since 1999 that the President had been elected using this voting procedure.

Did you know?

The secret ballot system was also used for elections that took place on March 2, 1999, March 12, 2002, and May 8, 2007. According to the temporary rules adopted for each election, Members can become candidates for President by producing a nomination paper by noon the day before the sitting devoted to the election. If only one candidate runs for President, this candidate is declared elected.

DISSOLUTION OF THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

On November 5, 2008, the Cabinet adopted two orders-in-council on the recommendation of the Premier. The first directed the dissolution of the National Assembly and the summoning of a new Assembly for January 13, 2009. The second requested that the Chief Electoral Officer hold a general election on December 8, 2008. The Lieutenant-Governor then signed the royal proclamations giving effect to the orders-in-council, thus ending the 38th Legislature.

Once the Assembly is dissolved, the Members cease to perform their duties, but the Ministers remain in office so long as their successors have not been appointed. The President and the three Vice-Presidents also remain in office until they are replaced by the new Assembly. As regards parliamentary proceedings, dissolution causes current procedural acts and bills that have not been passed to lapse.

The 39th Legislature

GENERAL ELECTION

In the general election held on December 8, 2008, Quebecers elected the 125 Members who would represent them during the 39th Legislature. Of this number, 37 were elected for the first time and 12 returned following an interruption in their parliamentary career. Of the 123 Members in office when the National Assembly was dissolved, 76 were reelected, 9 did not run again, and 38 were defeated. Following this general election, the membership of the National Assembly now stands as follows:

	Number of seats
Québec Liberal Party	66
Parti québécois	51
Action démocratique du Québec	7
Québec solidaire	1

Royal Proclamation

The House Secretariat drafts royal proclamations, which are signed by the Lieutenant-Governor. These proclamations must strictly adhere to the content of decrees issued by the Cabinet and bear the seal of the province of Québec.

At the bottom of the letters patent, which must be signed by the Lieutenant-Governor, the Secretary General of the National Assembly indicates the words “By order” followed by his/her signature and publishes the content of the proclamations in the Québec Official Gazette.

Did you know?

Before sitting in the National Assembly, Members must take two oaths of allegiance. The first stems from the Constitution Act, 1867 and reads as follows: “I, (Member’s name), do swear (or solemnly affirm), that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.”

The second, taken under the provisions of the Act respecting the National Assembly, reads as follows: “I, (Member’s name), declare under oath that I will be loyal to the people of Québec and that I will perform the duties of Member honestly and justly in conformity with the constitution of Québec.”

Resignation of the leader of the 2nd opposition group, Mario Dumont

On March 6, 2009, Mario Dumont, leader of Action démocratique du Québec and Member for Rivière-du-Loup, announced his resignation in a letter as both party leader and Member. Elected for the first time in 1994 as the Action démocratique du Québec Member for Rivière-du-Loup, he held this office until 2008, in addition to fulfilling the duties of Leader of the Official Opposition from April 4, 2007, to November 5, 2008.

The swearing-in of Members

The taking of the oath by the Members is one of the most important events in parliamentary life. It is the gateway to the most valuable privilege a Member may enjoy, that of freedom of expression and its corollary, parliamentary immunity in the National Assembly. This is a solemn act, a commitment on the honour of the person who takes the oath to be loyal to the authority, respect the will of the people and act honestly and justly for the benefit of his/her fellow citizens.

After having taken these oaths before the Secretary General of the Assembly, the Members sign the Oath Book of the National Assembly. They then receive the Member’s medal, on the back of which is inscribed the oath of loyalty to the people of Québec, as well as the Member’s lapel pin. The Members of the 39th Legislature took their oaths at five different ceremonies in December 2008 and January 2009.

The welcoming of Members

General elections mark the beginning of parliamentary life for newly elected candidates. Immediately following an election, the National Assembly sets a major initiative in motion to ensure Members adapt well to their new duties.

Following the general election of December 8, 2008, National Assembly staff contacted Members to provide them with information they would need for the decisions they would be required to make in the first weeks of their term of office.

Starting December 19, 2008, the Members, their spouses and their staff were invited to take part in hospitality activities and training sessions on the operation of the National Assembly, the organization of parliamentary proceedings, their work conditions and the services provided to them by the National Assembly.

Election of the President and Vice-Presidents of the 39th Legislature

Following a general election, the Members must elect a new President, whose role is to chair the proceedings of the Assembly, administer its services and represent it in its relations with other parliaments. On January 13, 2009, Yvon Vallières, Member for Richmond, was elected President of the National Assembly. Three Vice-Presidents (two from the governing party and one from the Official Opposition) were elected: Fatima Houada-Pepin, Member for La Pinière; Jacques Chagnon, Member for Westmount–Saint-Louis; and François Gendron, Member for Abitibi-Ouest.

The roles of Members: legislators, monitors and intermediaries

The main role of Members is to participate in the legislative process. As legislators, they study, analyze, and vote on bills in the National Assembly. They exercise this role in several stages in both the Assembly and standing committees.

Members also have several means for monitoring the actions of the Government, including the opportunity to question Ministers on topics of current interest during Oral Questions and Answers and to examine the activities and management of departments and agencies in committee. They have a notable role to play when standing committees hold public consultations on major issues of the day.

In addition, Members play the role of intermediaries between citizens and the civil service. As representatives of the voters in their ridings, they defend their interests and explain their needs to the government.

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

During their term of office, Members are called upon to debate a variety of issues concerning the public affairs of Québec. Various means are at their disposal to help them examine questions regarding societal issues and fully participate in parliamentary proceedings. Debates at the National Assembly and in committee proceed according to a set of rules based on the British parliamentary system, guaranteeing freedom of speech to Members and their legal authority over the business of the State.

SCHEDULE OF SITTINGS

The Standing Orders of the National Assembly establish a parliamentary work calendar divided into two annual periods during which the Assembly meets: one in the spring and one in the fall. The spring session runs from the second Tuesday in March until June 23 at the latest. The fall session runs from the third Tuesday in October until December 21 at the latest.

In both spring and fall, the Assembly holds sittings based on two distinct periods: a period for ordinary hours of meeting and a period for extended hours of meeting. The following table summarizes the schedule of the National Assembly according to the time of year:

Schedule of National Assembly Sittings
Schedule	Ordinary hours of meeting: 2nd Tuesday in March to May 24 3rd Tuesday in October to November 24	Extended hours of meeting: May 25 to June 23 November 25 to December 21

* The Assembly may sit on Mondays on motion by the Government House Leader.

Outside the periods provided for in the Standing Orders, the Assembly holds extraordinary sittings at the request of the Premier. This request is made to the President or, in the President's absence, to the Secretary General.

Standing committees may sit at any time during the year, from Monday to Friday, at the times set in the Standing Orders.

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

Conduct of a sitting at the National Assembly

An Assembly sitting consists of two distinct periods: Routine Proceedings and Orders of the Day.

Routine Proceedings	Orders of the Day
Routine Proceedings are divided into nine items of business devoted to information provided by the Government to the National Assembly. One of the more interesting items is without doubt Oral Questions and Answers, which takes place on every sitting day. The items of business are considered in the following order: <ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Statements by Ministers</li><li>2. Introduction of Bills</li><li>3. Tablings</li><li>4. Complaints of Breach of Privilege or Contempt and Personal Explanations</li><li>5. Oral Questions and Answers</li><li>6. Deferred Divisions</li><li>7. Motions without Notice</li><li>8. Notices of Proceedings in Committees</li><li>9. Information on the Proceedings of the Assembly</li></ol>	Orders of the Day are devoted mainly to debates on bills at any stage of consideration. At this time, the National Assembly also takes into consideration all other substantive motions for debate. The five items of business for this period are considered in the following order: <ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Business Having Precedence</li><li>2. Urgent Debates</li><li>3. Debates on Reports from Committees</li><li>4. Other Business Standing on the Order Paper</li><li>5. Business Standing in the Name of Members in Opposition</li></ol>

Oral Questions and Answers

This item of business is without doubt the most familiar to citizens. During this 45 minute period, Members can question Ministers on current matters of public interest that fall within their or the Government's purview.

44 hr. 25 min. were devoted to Oral Questions and Answers.

The number of questions asked can be broken down as follows:

- Main questions: 642
- Supplementary questions: 689

Statements by Ministers – Ministers may make statements to the Assembly on any subject they deem appropriate, e.g., the announcement of a government policy or the Government’s reaction to a particular event.

Introduction of Bills: Bills may be introduced during Routine Proceedings. Members do not discuss the content at this point; they simply allow bills to be submitted for consideration during subsequent stages of the legislative process.

In 2008–2009, 287 motions without notice were carried.
They dealt with subjects such as

- The outstanding contribution of aboriginal nations to the development of Québec
  - Journée internationale de la Francophonie (International Francophone Day)
  - The 30th anniversary of the Conseil supérieur de la langue française

Information on Orders of the Day

Business Having Precedence – As the name indicates, this business takes precedence over all other matters due to its importance or urgency. The opening speech of the session, delivered by the Premier, and the speeches by the leaders of the parliamentary groups or their representatives during the subsequent debate rank first among business having precedence. Other business having precedence includes the budget speech and non-confidence motions.

Urgent Debates – Any Member may request an urgent debate. The President authorizes such a debate if he/she deems that the request concerns a specific matter of particular importance that is under the authority of the National Assembly and cannot be discussed otherwise.

Debates on Reports from Committees – Committee reports that contain recommendations are entered on the Order Paper immediately after being tabled in the National Assembly and must be taken into consideration within 15 days.

Other Business Standing on the Order Paper and Notices – At this time, the National Assembly goes through the various stages of studying bills, notably passage in principle, consideration of reports from committees that have examined bills, and the passage of bills.

Only a Minister may introduce a bill having financial implications. However, barring this exception, any Member has the right to introduce a bill to the National Assembly and use the Assembly’s legal and legislative services to have it drafted.

A few 2008–2009 statistics

- A ministerial statement was made by the Premier dealing with the tabling of the report by the Consultation Commission on Accommodation Practices Related to Cultural Differences.
- A total of 658 documents were tabled at the National Assembly, including decisions by the Office of the National Assembly, annual reports of departments and public agencies, committee reports and petitions.

The 2008 legislative report of the National Assembly is a summary of the previous year’s legislative activity. It contains a fact sheet on all public acts, a table of amendments made to these acts, a list of acts by department or sector and an alphabetical index of public acts.

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

Research Chair on Democracy and Parliamentary Institutions

Launched in November 2007 as part of the special program for Québec City's 400th anniversary celebrations at the National Assembly, the Research Chair on Democracy and Parliamentary Institutions has now begun its work, entrusting various projects to researchers on subjects such as the decline in voter turnout and the budget review process. These projects are being carried out on behalf of the Chief Electoral Officer and the Auditor General of Québec.

In summer 2008, chair holder Louis Massicotte spoke in Québec City at the Conference of Presiding Officers of La Francophonie, the Conference of Lobbyist Registrars and Commissioners and the Conference of Secretaries General of Francophone Parliaments. He also took part in the symposium on democracy and change in Canada at the Political Studies Institute of Grenoble. In addition, he was invited as an expert to a seminar on democracy assessment criteria for the parliaments of French-speaking countries, held on March 23, 2009, in Fribourg, Switzerland. In Paris, he met with Paul Dannaud, director of the Department of International Affairs and Defence at the French National Assembly, and Jean-Yves Pauti, administrative secretary general of the Parliamentary Assembly of the Francophonie.

In 2008–2009 the National Assembly passed 35 bills, which included the following:

During the 38th Legislature

- 28 sponsored by Ministers, 79% of which were passed unanimously
- 5 private bills, all passed unanimously

On average, 111 days elapsed between the time these bills were introduced and passed.

During the 39th Legislature

- 2 sponsored by Ministers, 50% of which were passed unanimously

STANDING COMMITTEES

A considerable portion of parliamentary work is not carried out in the National Assembly itself, but rather in standing committees, where Members exercise their roles as legislators and monitors of the Government's actions. These committees bring together Members of the various political parties that make up the National Assembly and are responsible for examining any matter under their authority. In committee, the public can express its views during public consultations on bills or important societal issues. In committee, Members also analyze bills in depth, examine the activities of departments and government agencies, study the Government's budget and may, on their own initiative, elect to investigate any other matter under their authority.

There are eleven permanent standing committees, nine of which are sector-based. A Member of the Official Opposition chairs the Committee on Public Administration and the President of the National Assembly chairs the Committee on the National Assembly.

Committee chair

The committee chair is a Member of a parliamentary group and is elected by the members of the committee for a two-year term. The chair organizes and chairs the proceedings of the committee, takes part in the debates and has the right to vote.

Committee vice-chair

The committee vice-chair is a Member of a parliamentary group other than that of the chair and is elected by the members of the committee for a two-year term. The vice-chair assists the chair in his/her duties and replaces him/her when necessary.

Schedule of standing committee sittings*

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

Did you know?

A “Wednesday motion” is the name given to issues raised by the Opposition and debated from 10 a.m. to noon on Wednesdays during regular hours of meeting.

Key events: Orders of reference given by motions placed on the order paper by Opposition Members

A “Wednesday motion” is the name given to issues raised by the Opposition and debated from 10 a.m. to noon on Wednesdays during regular hours of meeting.

The Committee on Public Administration was thus tasked with shedding light on the dismissal of Québec’s Delegate General in New York City. The motion was presented by the Official Opposition and amended before being unanimously adopted by the National Assembly. The Minister of International Relations and the Premier both appeared before the hearings that resulted. A report containing observations and one recommendation was then tabled.

Another “Wednesday motion” tasked the Committee on Institutions with looking into why the Government of Québec had signed a contract with Attractions Hippiques and producing a report on the matter. The motion had been adopted by a majority of Assembly Members. To this end, the Committee held three days of public hearings in August 2008. Fifteen individuals and organizations were heard, including Senator Paul J. Massicotte, the owner of Attractions Hippiques; the Auditor General of Québec; the Finance Minister of Québec; and the Loto-Québec President and CEO. The Committee tabled a report containing three recommendations on October 29, 2008.

Only one other motion of this type had ever previously been adopted. Again, it came in the 38th Legislature, which was notable for the fact that a majority of Members belonged to the Opposition parties.

The Committee on Public Finance was also given an order in the wake of a motion jointly presented by a Member from each parliamentary group and subsequently unanimously passed by the Assembly. In accordance with the motion, on September 30, 2008, the Committee heard the six members of the working committee tasked with studying the cost of indexing pension plans. The working committee had been asked to determine main parameters and facts to consider with regard to the indexation of pension plans in the public and broader public sectors. The hearing was very well attended, particularly by representatives of the government retiree associations most affected by the issue.

The mandates of the standing committees

The sector-based standing committees may carry out three types of mandate: orders of initiative, orders of reference and statutory orders. The list of mandates carried out by the standing committees in 2008–2009 can be found in the appendix. Following the dissolution of the 38th Legislature, over 40 orders referred to standing committees or raised on the committees’ own initiative lapsed. As at March 31, 2009, certain orders interrupted in November 2008 had been reintroduced by the 39th Legislature, and new orders had also been issued.

Orders of initiative

In the course of 2008–2009, the members of the various committees took the initiative to examine issues affecting numerous areas of activity. Such mandates require the holding of many meetings during which Members prepare consultation or background papers, hear experts, plan public hearings and, following the hearings, draft final reports containing recommendations for the Government.

The Committee on Social Affairs began an ambitious order of initiative in 2008 to address homelessness in Québec. After tabling a consultation paper outlining the problem, the Committee decided to hold public hearings in Montréal, Trois-Rivières and Gatineau, before holding further hearings in the Parliament Building. However, the dissolution of the 38th Legislature spelled the end of the Committee's hearings. After 11 days of hearings, the Committee had heard from over 100 individuals and organizations, including personal accounts by people who were or had been homeless. By the end of its work, the Committee had received close to 150 briefs, in addition to discussion papers and responses to the questionnaire posted on the National Assembly website as part of the consultation process to facilitate the participation of all citizens interested in the issue. When visiting Montréal and Trois-Rivières, Committee members were also able to visit organizations that work with the homeless. On March 18, 2009, the members of the Committee on Social Affairs elected to continue the work they had begun under the 38th Legislature and thus bring the hearings to completion and begin drafting a final report.

For its part, the Committee on Culture held two days of public hearings as part of its order of initiative to investigate the dubbing of movies and television series in Québec. It took a particular interest in DVDs and new technologies, among other things. These hearings gave the Committee the opportunity to hear from 11 individuals and organizations with close ties to the industry.

Finally, in the wake of special consultations held in February 2008 on waste management, the Committee on Transportation and the Environment tabled a report in June 2008 containing 48 recommendations. Among other measures, Committee members called on the Government to take sustainable development and climate change into account in future waste management policy.

Orders of initiative

On their own initiative, committee members examine draft regulations and regulations, the direction, operation and management of public agencies and any other matter of public interest.

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

Standing committees also exercised surveillance of agencies as part of their mission to examine the direction, operations and management of public agencies within their jurisdiction. For instance, the Committee on Culture heard from the three organizations spawned by the Charter of the French Language: the Conseil supérieur de la langue française, the Office québécois de la langue française and the Commission de toponymie du Québec. Following this examination, the Committee tabled a report advocating, among other things, closer collaboration between the Conseil supérieur de la langue française and the Office québécois de la langue française when monitoring the language situation in Québec. The Committee on Transportation and the Environment also devoted two days to a hearing with the chair and CEO of the SAAQ (Société de l'assurance automobile du Québec).

Orders of reference

Clause-by-clause consideration of bills

The standing committees examined 35 bills of which a complete list may be consulted in the appendix. For all bills submitted for study by the standing committees, 2,057 sections were examined and 569 amendments were adopted out of the 633 amendments introduced.

Special consultations

Special consultations are limited to individuals and organizations chosen by the committee or by the Assembly owing to their knowledge or expertise regarding the matter under consideration.

Public consultations

In 2008–2009, 414 groups and individuals came before the committees to give their opinions on the various matters on which consultations were held. The standing committees received 194 briefs. These consultations enable the parliamentarians to properly assess the issues arising from a matter under consideration and to make observations, conclusions and recommendations.

For example, the Committee on Labour and the Economy was tasked with leading special consultations on the document entitled L'occupation du territoire forestier québécois et la constitution des sociétés d'aménagement des forêts. To this end, 11 days of public hearings saw 66 individuals and organizations make representations. The Committee on Transportation and the Environment held special consultations on Bill 92, An Act to affirm the collective nature of water resources and provide for increased water resource protection. Thirty individuals and organizations appeared before the parliamentarians of the Committee and gave their comments on the bill, which notably sought to confirm the legal status of water as a collective resource that is part of Québec's shared heritage.

At the request of the National Assembly, the committees examine bills, estimates of expenditure and any other matters they may be asked to study. These are known as “orders of reference.”

General consultations

General consultations are open to the population at large. Prior to their holding, a public notice must be published in selected newspapers, in the Québec Official Gazette and on the National Assembly website inviting any individuals and organizations interested in the matters under consideration to submit briefs to the committee. Public hearings are then held by the committee in order to discuss the submissions received.

The following bills were also submitted for public consultation:

38th Legislature

- Bill 23, An Act respecting clinical and research activities relating to assisted procreation
- Bill 68, An Act to amend the Supplemental Pension Plans Act, the Act respecting the Québec Pension Plan and other legislative provisions
- Bill 60, An Act to amend the Police Act
- Bill 88, An Act to amend the Education Act and the Act respecting school elections
- Bill 93, An Act to amend the Charter of Ville de Québec
- Bill 96, An Act to amend the Act respecting transportation services by taxi
- Bill 97, An Act to regularize and provide for the development of local slaughterhouses and to amend the Food Products Act
- Bill 99, An Act to amend the Code of Civil Procedure to prevent abusive use of the courts and promote freedom of expression and citizen participation in public debate

39th Legislature

- Bill 6, An Act to establish a seniors caregiver support fund
- Bill 25, An Act to amend the Pay Equity Act

Examination of the 2008–2009 estimates of expenditure

For a three-week period in April, the standing committees considered the estimates of expenditure of the Government, as stipulated in Standing Order 282. By the conclusion of their mandate, the committees had devoted 195 hours to the examination of the estimates of expenditure granted to the departments and agencies, totalling over $64 billion.

Statutory orders and orders in compliance with the Standing Orders

Pursuant to sections 45 and 68 of the Lobbying Transparency and Ethics Act, the Committee on Public Finance twice heard the Lobbyists Commissioner in spring 2008. The Committee first examined the annual reports of the Commissioner—one of the four individuals designated by the Assembly—for the years 2002 to 2007. On this occasion, the Lobbyists Commissioner, André C. Côté, reported on the organization and answered questions from members of the Committee. The Committee then held four days of public hearings on the document entitled Rapport sur la mise en œuvre de la Loi sur la transparence et l'éthique en matière de lobbyisme et du Code de déontologie des lobbyistes. This report by the Minister of Justice looks at how the Act has worked, considers some of the enforcement difficulties it has encountered and discusses whether or not it should be amended. The Committee also addressed the record of the Lobbyists Commissioner over the first five years of the Act's existence. In addition

PARLIAMENTARY WORK

Some orders of the standing committees come from an act or regulation, others from the Standing Orders of the National Assembly.

Did you know?

Unlike the other public standing committee hearings, which are held in the four chambers of the Parliament Building and the Pamphile-Le May Building, interpellations always take place in the National Assembly Chamber. On such occasions, the committee chair sits at the clerks' Table in the seat normally reserved for the Secretary General of the Assembly.

to the Lobbyists Commissioner, 23 individuals and organizations participated in the consultation, and 46 others conveyed their comments via the online consultation. However, the dissolution of the 38th Legislature prevented the Committee from completing these two orders.

Interpellation

Pursuant to the Standing Orders of the National Assembly, every Member of the Opposition may interpellate a minister on a matter of general interest for which he or she is officially responsible. The interpellation is held at a meeting of the appropriate standing committee, on Friday morning, from 10.00 o'clock a.m. to 12.00 o'clock noon. One interpellation may be held each week during the periods in which the National Assembly ordinarily meets (excepting during intensive session, when none may be held). During 2008–2009, the Government's ministers were interpellated eight times on the following subjects:

38th Legislature

- Public security in Québec (Committee on Institutions, April 4 and May 26, 2008)
- The state of the French language in Québec (Committee on Culture, May 2, 2008)
- The health system in Québec (Committee on Social Affairs, May 12, 2008)
- Flaws in the CHUM modernization project (Committee on Public Finance, May 16, 2008)
- Investment plans for the CHUM and the Hôtel-Dieu de Québec (Committee on Social Affairs, October 31, 2008)

39th Legislature

- The decisions of the federal government and their impact on the financial situation in Québec (Committee on Institutions, March 20, 2009)
- PPP financing in the context of the global financial crisis (Committee on Public Finance, March 27, 2009)

The Committee on Public Administration

The Committee on Public Administration calls public administrators to account on their management. It carries out this mandate by inviting the deputy ministers and the chief executive officers of public bodies to come before it to answer the questions of parliamentarians on their annual management reports or to discuss the observations contained in the Auditor General's reports.

Pursuant to the Standing Orders of the National Assembly, the Committee must also examine all financial commitments equal to or exceeding $25,000 granted to departments and public agencies whose estimates of expenditure are voted on by the Assembly. In scrutinizing these expenditures, the Committee ensures itself of their advisability, the observance of government rules and standards governing the granting of contracts and subsidies, and the equitable allocation of public funds.

During the 2008–2009 fiscal year, the Committee on Public Administration tabled its 20th report in the National Assembly on the accountability of the deputy ministers and the managers of organizations. The report contains 14 recommendations and addresses the following topics: the 2006–2007 annual management report of the Ministère de l'Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport, follow-up to the cadastral reform, the management of real estate projects, and building management in the health and social services network, including oversight of the modernization projects for Montréal's university hospitals. Chapter 5 of the report suggests a new approach to examining the Committee's annual management reports. This approach, based on a developing practice, will now enable the Committee to evaluate the performance of departments and agencies in addition to analyzing the quality of the information contained in the annual management reports of these same organizations. With more than ten years of experience, the Committee on Public Administration hopes, by adopting this new practice, to remain one of the leading standing committees in Canada with a mandate to examine accountability issues.

The Committee also held public hearings on the Auditor General's special report on the use of public funds by the former Lieutenant-Governor of Québec. On this occasion, the Committee heard, in order, the Auditor General of Québec, the Secretary General of the Executive Council, the former Lieutenant-Governor and the current Lieutenant-Governor of Québec. It was the first time in Canada that a former or incumbent Lieutenant-Governor had ever been called before a standing committee.

EFFECTIVE SUPPORT FOR THE WORK OF MEMBERS

A computerized clerks' Table

The new parliamentary clerks' Table installed in the National Assembly Chamber in October 2007 now features further computer enhancements. During Oral Question Period, interventions are automatically displayed on the President's screen, enabling him to see at the beginning of each intervention whether a main question or a supplementary question is being asked and to keep track of the time allotted for each intervention.

The Computer Services Directorate has also developed a computerized seating plan for recorded divisions. In addition to displaying Members' names and how they voted (for, against or abstention), this application allows votes to be counted automatically and the results sent over a secure network to the House Secretariat for compilation of the Votes and Proceedings.

Contribution of the Research Division to the exercise of parliamentary control

The primary purpose of the Research Division of the Library of the National Assembly is to assist standing committee members in carrying out orders of initiative and parliamentary control. During 2008–2009, it actively supported the work of nine committees working on accountability matters and in carrying out orders of initiative. It also produced some 70 documents to meet the research and writing needs of the committees. To provide for the information needs of parliamentarians, the Division produced an information booklet of some 50 articles on the main missions of the State as well as briefing cards on public organizations in order to help Members with their surveillance work.

The Amicale des anciens parlementaires du Québec brings together former Members of Parliament. Its mission is to help promote the parliamentary institutions of Québec and to distribute information on parliamentarism. In September 2008–2009, it hosted the 5th Convention of the Union mondiale des associations d'anciens parlementaires francophones (the World Union of French Language Associations of Former Parliamentarians, UMAPF) as part of Québec City's 400th anniversary celebrations. A few months later in December, the Amicale celebrated its 15th anniversary.

CITIZENS

CITIZENS

In addition to providing citizens with the opportunity to follow parliamentary proceedings and on occasion to take part in them, the National Assembly has a vast array of communications tools for the purpose of bringing the citizens and their elected representatives closer together.

EDUCATIONAL AND RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

Few parliaments in the world offer educational activities to the public as rewarding as those of the National Assembly of Québec. To stimulate the interest of people of all ages in the exercise of democracy and contribute to their becoming active and well-informed citizens, the National Assembly has developed various activities and publications to educate on democracy.

The Tournament and the parliamentary simulations

The Tournament and parliamentary simulations are role-playing activities designed to educate participants about the operation of the National Assembly, its rules and privileges and the limits of its powers. Citizen-Members spend several days drafting and discussing bills while learning the art of compromise, consensus and respect for others.

Intergenerational Parliament

To mark Québec City's historic 400th anniversary, the National Assembly added an innovative Intergenerational Parliament to its special program of activities. The parliamentary simulation—presided over by Fatima Houda-Pepin, First Vice-President of the National Assembly, and Jean Leclerc, the chair of the board of the Société du 400<sup>e</sup> anniversaire de Québec and former Member for Taschereau, assisted by former Olympic skier Mélanie Turgeon—was an activity all could enjoy.

The parliamentary simulation took place from September 15 to 17, 2008. It attracted some 100 participants from all age groups and areas of Québec. During the simulation, young people, adults and seniors worked toward the common goal of creating an Intergenerational Charter.

The charter, which represented participants' hopes and ideals, also served as a bridge between generations. It was drafted, discussed and adopted by the apprentice Members with a primary focus on citizens' rights and duties, particularly regarding health, safety, the environment, education and employment.

Based on the values and principles of respect and solidarity, the charter was intended to provide direction to 21st century Québec. It reflects the National Assembly's desire to promote Québec's democratic heritage and to broaden knowledge of political history and parliamentary democracy.

The National Assembly of Québec organized the Intergenerational Parliament initiative in cooperation with the Association québécoise de défense des personnes retraitées et préretraitées (AQDR).

The Intergenerational Charter can be read online at www.assnat.qc.ca, in the section "Mission éducative."

Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant

This National Assembly foundation bears the name of the man celebrated at his death in 1978 as one of the great intellectuals of Québec. Since 1978, the Foundation has kept alive the memory of Jean-Charles Bonenfant, law clerk, university scholar, historian, author and humanist.

In continuing its namesake's efforts to further democracy and parliamentary institutions, especially among the young, the Foundation organizes a host of activities each year, including the activity known as Parliaments in High Schools, which reaches over 4,000 students ages 13 to 17 in their home school environment, as well as a conference on themes relating to parliamentarism. It also funds parliamentary internships for Québec university students.

Parliamentary internships

Each year since 1978, Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant has provided paid parliamentary internships at the National Assembly. Participants experience the numerous aspects of Québec parliamentary life, becoming more familiar with the operation of the National Assembly and of the institutions that are accountable thereto, namely the Auditor General, the Québec Ombudsman, the Chief Electoral Officer and the Lobbyists Commissioner. Subsequently, each intern is paired with a Minister of the Government and then with a Member of an opposition party. The interns also take part in a mission abroad and are required to prepare a dissertation comparing different legislative systems.

Scholarship interns from September 2007 to June 2008

The scholarship interns for 2007–2008—Julien Domingue, Nicolas Fontaine, Mathieu Fraser, Alexandre Paré and Alexandre A. Regimbal—took part in a mission to Romania where they studied that country's bi-cameral parliamentary system as well as its proportional electoral system.

Their internship dissertations, submitted on June 25, 2008, to Jacques Chagnon, National Assembly Vice-President and Fondation Vice-President, bore the following titles:

- From its creation to its consecration as the court of final appeal: the Supreme Court of Canada as it was conceived, created and modified by parliamentarians in the House of Commons (1867–1949) (Alexandre A. Regimbal)
- Online consultation at the National Assembly of Québec: a credible democratic advancement at work? (Alexandre Paré)
- Introduction of popular initiative referendums in Québec: an evaluation of the advantages and risks for democracy (Julien Domingue)
- Petitioning practices in the Lower Canada House of Assembly, 1792–1795: origins and uses (Mathieu Fraser)
- Party leaders: Québec's power brokers (Nicolas Fontaine)

These dissertations, which can be found in the Library of the National Assembly, are also available on the Fondation's website, www.fondationbonenfant.qc.ca

The 2008–2009 scholarship recipients—Marie-Astrid Ospina D'Amours, Marc-André Turcotte, Pierre-Luc Turgeon, Olivier Bégin-Caouette and Pierre-Olivier Legault Tremblay—began their internships in September 2008. In addition to working on behalf of individual Members of Government, they completed a number of assignments for various administrative units of the National Assembly.

Parliaments in High Schools

Parliaments in High Schools takes its inspiration from the National Assembly while mirroring the operation of student councils. The program encourages secondary schoolers in years one through five to take part in decisions affecting student life, thus helping them to feel that they have a role to play in their school communities. Participation takes place in a spirit of cooperation and assistance between the school board, school principal and school staff members.

Parliaments in High Schools also affords a lesson in democracy. The activity allows young people to acquire knowledge of the National Assembly and experience the process of debating public issues while upholding values such as respect for differences of opinion and the art of compromise.

The generous contribution of Rio Tinto Alcan helps the Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant run this exercise in democratic participation and education. The Fédération des commissions scolaires and the Secrétariat à la jeunesse also provide financial contributions for Parliaments in High Schools. In addition, The Foundation benefits from the support of the Chief Electoral Officer and the Ministère de l'Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport.

As of March 31, 2009, Parliaments in High Schools included 173 schools and over 4,000 student council members.

Course on parliamentary law and procedure at Laval University

For a fifth consecutive year, the National Assembly and Université Laval have formed a partnership to offer a course on parliamentary law and procedure to university students. Tailor-made for law and political science students, this course seeks to instruct them on the rules and principles that characterize the organization and operation of the parliamentary proceedings carried out at the National Assembly.

Open House Day

On June 24, Québec's national holiday, nearly 1,800 people accepted the invitation of the President of the National Assembly of Québec, Michel Bissonnet, to meet him personally and tour the Parliament Building. Musicians, face painters and clowns were on hand to entertain visitors, and historians and seasoned guides fielded questions on everything from the architecture and ornamentation of the Parliament Building to the roles and responsibilities of government Members. Also open to visitors was the National Assembly Library, where the exhibit Québec reliée comme jamais was inaugurated and authors of Québec: quatre siècles d'une capitale were present to meet the public and sign copies of their book.

Exhibitions

Espace Champlain Exhibition

The National Assembly's special program of activities for the 400th anniversary of Québec City featured a wealth of exhibitions dedicated to the city's founder, including Espace Champlain. On July 2, Michel Bissonnet, President of the National Assembly, inaugurated the exhibit, which was open to the public until August 31, 2008.

Highlights of the exhibit were L'arrivée de Champlain à Québec, an enormous painting by Henri Beau dating from 1908, as well as documents said to be in Champlain's own hand. They included a manuscript from the period 1599–1601 describing a voyage to the West Indies that Champlain may have made. It was the first time that this priceless document was on display in Canada.

Québec reliée comme jamais. Œuvres témoins de 400 ans d'histoire

The exhibition Québec reliée comme jamais was inaugurated at the Library of the National Assembly on June 24, Québec's national holiday, by National Assembly president Michel Bissonnet and Jonathan Tremblay, the president of Amis de la Reliure d'Art du Canada (ARA-Canada). Jean Leclerc, the president of the board of the Société du 400<sup>e</sup> anniversaire de Québec, and Philippe Sauvageau, the Library head, also took part in the inauguration.

Included in Québec reliée comme jamais, which was on display until September 29, 2008, were books from 66 binderies in Canada, the United States, France and Japan that took part in a competition organized by ARA-Canada. The items in the exhibit shared a common theme—Québec City—despite their various genres, periods, settings and publication dates.

At the time of the inauguration, three works received awards:

- La vieille Capitale - Québec historique, suivi de Montcalm - L'épopée canadienne by Alain Taral (first prize)
- Les annales de l'Hôtel-Dieu de Québec, 1636-1716, by Louise Mauger (second prize)
- Chez Gérard, la petite scène des grandes vedettes 1938-1978, by Aline Mauger (third prize).

Each of the three prizewinners received a decorative knife designed and crafted by Chantal Gilbert, sculptor and knifemaker.

The exhibition Québec reliée comme jamais was also shown at the Myriam and J. Robert Ouimet Library of Hautes Études Commerciales de Montréal management school from November 7, 2008, to February 27, 2009.

Les Trésors de la Bibliothèque

The Library of the National Assembly showed off some of the most beautiful volumes in its rare book collection in Les trésors de la Bibliothèque, an exhibition that ran from April 14, 2008, to March 30, 2009. For over 200 years, the Library has possessed works of significant historical value. Its many treasures include Lex parliamentaria, ou Traité de la loi et coutume des parlements (1803), translated by Joseph-François Perrault, and Modus tenendi parliamentum, or The Old Manner of Holding Parliaments in England (1671). Visitors may also admire several works in aboriginal languages, including a magnificent manuscript in Huron. The Library displayed a number of books depicting the city's history throughout the year-long observation of Québec City's 400th anniversary.

Rencontres

July 3, 1608, marks a memorable date in Québec City's history: the day that Samuel de Champlain first set foot on Québec soil. Exactly 400 years later, a commemorative show organized by Société du 400<sup>e</sup> anniversaire de Québec was held on the Parliament Building grounds. Rencontres mixed song, humour and an historic setting—the architecture and grounds of Parliament were part of its opening scene as an actor playing the role of Champlain descended from the central tower of Parliament by cable and forded a small stream symbolizing the St. Lawrence River to depict the explorer's arrival at Stadacona in 1608.

Guided tours

A total of 88,426 guests took guided or self-guided tours of the Parliament Building and over 24,700 persons visited the National Assembly's restaurants, standing committee chambers and La Boutique in 2008–2009.

Restaurants of the Parliament Building

Cafeteria renovations

The Mini-Débat cafeteria was last redesigned in 1991. Nearly 20 years later, it was ready for a makeover on several fronts. Its reception, dining and preparation areas were consequently renovated to offer better service and a healthier menu that reflects today's tastes. The National Assembly also took advantage of the occasion to rename the cafeteria the Café du Parlement—former name of Le Parlementaire—and to refurbish it with a decor evoking the early 20th century.

Private functions in the restaurants

During the past year, close to 100 private businesses and organizations held functions at Le Parlementaire restaurant. They were thus able to enjoy meals in the unique Beaux-Arts decor of Le Parlementaire and guided tours of the Parliament Building.

A Mother's Day brunch—a resounding success—joined traditional brunches held during the Québec Winter Carnival and on major summer holidays such as Québec's national holiday and the New France Festival. Nearly 1,400 diners in all enjoyed these brunches.

EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATIONS

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY CHANNEL

30th anniversary of televised broadcasting of parliamentary debates

Direct televised broadcasts of Québec National Assembly debates began on October 3, 1978. To mark the 30 year anniversary of this pivotal event, the National Assembly Channel offered viewers four days of special programming (October 3 through 6), beginning with a complete rebroadcast of the first period of Routine Proceedings shown in 1978, as well as all of the first Oral Question and Answer periods that followed each general election thereafter.

A reminder of the leading political issues of the past 30 years and the debates between the political figures who instigated them, the excerpts were provided with context by librarian and historian Martin Pelletier. They represented a singular viewing opportunity for all who are students of history and politics.

A channel that is always growing and evolving

This anniversary presented an opportunity to spotlight the remarkable progress made in telecasting debates. At the outset, broadcasts consisted only of National Assembly sessions, aired in full. The subsequent presentation of standing committee sessions, press conferences, press briefings and special activities helped accelerate the development of the channel and its programming.

In addition, the National Assembly took advantage of the special 30th anniversary programming to promote a new service, the channel's integration into the Assembly website (www.assnat.qc.ca). Now a greater number of Quebecers—and viewers from all over the world—have unfettered access to parliamentary proceedings. This innovation also attests to the technological development that has been ongoing since the earliest televised debate broadcasts.

New broadcasts from the series Mémoires de députés

The channel covers all National Assembly parliamentary and institutional activities and also presents high quality in-house productions. Among the latter is Mémoires de députés, a series that began in 2006, in which former parliamentarians recount memorable experiences from their political careers.

The series, which airs Sundays at 7:00 p.m. on the National Assembly Channel, began its third season in 2008–2009 and has presented 21 original programs. Former parliamentarians appearing during the past year have included Madeleine Bélanger, Clément Vincent, Antoine Drolet, Rodrigue Biron, Jacques Brassard, Denis Hardy, Marcel Masse and Lucien Lessard. The series is available online at www.assnat.qc.ca in the video and audio archives.

PARLIAMENTARY DIPLOMACY

PARLIAMENTARY DIPLOMACY

PARLIAMENTARY DIPLOMACY

In democratic systems based on the separation of powers, parliaments conduct their international relations independently and in respect of political pluralism. The President of the National Assembly has the responsibility of representing the institution in international activities, whose non-partisan nature is ensured by having delegations composed of Members from the various political groups represented at the Assembly. Over the years, the Assembly has developed an extensive network of multilateral and bilateral interparliamentary relationships.

The objectives of the interparliamentary and international relations of the National Assembly

The National Assembly's interparliamentary and international relations are based on four major objectives:

1. Reinforce the effectiveness of the parliamentary institution and elected officials in their duties as legislators, overseers of government actions, defenders of the public interest and representatives
2. Improve the position of the National Assembly on the international scene and its institutional reach within interparliamentary networks
3. Actively participate in building a global community founded on democracy, peace, justice and prosperity
4. Broaden the reach of Québec society, particularly by promoting its sectors of excellence

MULTILATERAL RELATIONS

The Parliamentary Assembly of the Francophonie (APF)

The National Assembly of Québec is very active within the Parliamentary Assembly of the Francophonie (APF), an important forum for discussing themes that are close to the hearts of elected officials in Québec, including culture, education and parliamentary democracy.

On the occasion of Québec City's 400th anniversary, the National Assembly hosted the 34th Session of the APF from July 1 to 8, 2008. The event was a resounding success and enjoyed the participation of over 50 sections and some 450 delegates. The Americas Regional Assembly also met from June 30 to July 2 for its 24th Session.

Parliamentarians meeting in Québec City discussed themes making the news, such as the environment and social development, the world food crisis, crises in the French-speaking world and action taken by the Francophonie with regard to education, training and the implementation of the UNESCO Convention on the Protection and Promotion of the Diversity of Cultural Expressions. Speaking on the occasion of the general debate, the National Assembly President, Michel Bissonnet, noted the need to strike a balance between economic and social prosperity on the one hand and preserving the environment and its resources on the other.

In a plenary session, the French-speaking parliamentarians passed a number of resolutions on issues like migration policies within the French-speaking world, multilateral trade negotiations within the framework of the World Trade Organization (WTO), the promotion of the French language in a multilingual world, politics in the French-speaking world, the food crisis and high living costs and the environment and social development. Parliamentarians also adopted a statement for presentation at the 12th Francophonie Summit. The statement addressed major Summit themes as well as the Francophonie's ten-year strategic framework.

The Conference of Presiding Officers of La Francophonie was also held during the 34th Session of the APF on July 4 at the invitation of the President of the National Assembly of Québec. The subject of the conference was legislative assembly presiding officers and ways to bolster parliamentary democracy. Forty-four APF presidents and vice-presidents accepted the invitation.

A Member from the Québec section of the APF also took part in the Annual Session of the Parliamentary Conference on the World Trade Organization, jointly organized by the Interparliamentary Union (IPU) and the European Parliament in Geneva, Switzerland, on September 11 and 12, 2008. A Québec Member was also a speaker at a Network of Women Parliamentarians information and awareness seminar on the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW) in Nouakchott, Mauritania, May 20 to 22, 2008.

In addition, the new President of the National Assembly, Yvon Vallières, took part in the APF Executive Meeting, which on this particular occasion was held at United Nations headquarters in New York City from January 20 to 23, 2009. One purpose of the meeting was to draw attention to parliamentarians' desire to see French and other languages used in international organizations.

APF

PARLIAMENTARY DIPLOMACY

CPA

Commonwealth Parliamentary Association: Founded in 1911, composed of 170 parliaments of unitary, federal and federated States from 53 countries forming the Commonwealth (National Assembly: full member since 1933)

Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA)

The National Assembly represented the Canadian region of the Commonwealth Women Parliamentarians Network at the 54th Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference, held in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, from August 1 to 10, 2008. The National Assembly representative's term as chair of the Commonwealth Women Parliamentarians Network for the Canadian region and Vice-President of the APC's Commonwealth Women Parliamentarians Network has now come to an end. The National Assembly also participated in the 46th Canadian Regional Conference of the CPA, which ran from July 21 to 27, 2008, in Halifax, Nova Scotia. Its representative gave a presentation on parliaments and sustainable development.

Parliamentary Confederation of the Americas (COPA)

COPA continued implementation of its electoral observation mission program, begun in 2005, which affords parliamentarians the opportunity to develop expertise in electoral processes, all while cementing the organization's strategic role in promoting and consolidating democracy in the Americas.

The National Assembly took part in two COPA electoral observation missions in the past year, in Paraguay in April 2008 and in El Salvador in March 2009. Both missions were organized by the Québec Secretariat of COPA, which is headquartered at the National Assembly, with the collaboration of the Chief Electoral Officer of Québec. They were aimed at providing an on-the-ground look at how preparations for elections were coming along and to observe the conduct of the elections on election day. In the mission's report to Paraguay's electoral officials, mission members, while stressing the exemplary conduct of the elections, made a number of recommendations, including that Paraguay improve the accuracy of its voters list to boost public confidence and that of other political parties and that it clearly set out the role, duties and rights of the forces of law and order in voting centres.

A delegation of parliamentarians from the National Assembly took part in 7th General Assembly of COPA and the 7th Annual Meeting of the Network of Women Parliamentarians of the Americas from September 9 to 13, 2008, in Mexico City and Toluca, Mexico, which played host to close to 200 parliamentarians from some 20 countries across the Americas. The National Assembly was entrusted with a Senior Vice-President position within the organization for 2008–2010, in addition to retaining positions of responsibility on COPA's working committees and the Network of Women Parliamentarians. More than ten resolutions were adopted after the meeting, which was a showcase for Québec expertise in political funding and cultural diversity. For their part, the women parliamentarians in attendance completed their work on human trafficking.

COPA

Parliamentary Confederation of the Americas: Created in 1997 on the initiative of the National Assembly of Québec, composed of the parliamentary assemblies of the unitary, federal and federated States, the regional parliaments and the interparliamentary organizations of the Americas

American Interparliamentary Organizations (ERC, CSG, NCSL)

The National Assembly of Québec continued its work within the interparliamentary organizations of the United States, which offer valuable opportunities for Québec's elected officials to discuss issues of concern to them and to defend the interests of Québec, mostly in the fields of energy, the environment, agriculture, health, education and relations between Québec and the United States.

Through its collaboration with the Council of State Governments (CSG) throughout 2008 and its Eastern Regional Conference (ERC), where it holds positions of responsibility, the National Assembly continued to work with American parliamentarians on the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative (WHTI), climate change and greenhouse gas reduction. A delegation of Québec parliamentarians attended the 48th Annual Meeting of the ERC from August 9 to 13, 2008, in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

At the Annual Meeting of the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL) in New Orleans, Louisiana, from July 20 to 26, 2008, a Québec Member had his term on the NCSL executive committee renewed for a fourth consecutive year. The National Assembly is the only international associated member to sit on the executive committee of the NCSL. Québec's action with regard to immigration initiatives was presented during a working meeting.

BILATERAL RELATIONS

The National Assembly's bilateral relations, through the contacts they foster between parliamentarians and the similarities in political and socioeconomic issues they address, contribute both to research into best practices abroad (be they institutional, legislative, cultural or social) and to positioning the National Assembly as a key player in sectors where Québec has proven expertise.

In May 2008 the National Assembly welcomed a delegation from the French Senate's France-Québec Interparliamentary Group led by its President, Senator and former Prime Minister Jean-Pierre Raffarin. Discussions mainly touched on government policy to support research and development.

The 21st and 22nd Sessions of the France-Québec Interparliamentary Committee were both held in a relatively short space of time. The 21st Session, which took place in Québec in July 2008, looked at demographic aging and the financing of higher education. The following Session, held in Paris in September 2008, dealt with biodiversity conservation and research and innovation policies.

From May 12 to 16, 2008, the President of the National Assembly, Michel Bissonnet, received his counterpart from the Landtag of Bavaria, Alois Glück, on the occasion of the 4th Meeting of the Québec-Bavaria Joint Parliamentary Committee, held at the Parliament Building. The parliamentarians discussed immigration, immigrant integration and early childhood services.

CSG

On May 2 and 3, 2008, parliamentarians from the Canada-Germany Friendship Group from the Bundestag, Germany's lower house of Parliament, came to meet their Québec counterparts at the National Assembly. And on September 4, 2008, members of the Committee for Civil Affairs from Sweden's Parliament (Riksdag) took part in a joint working meeting with Québec Members on social housing policies and programs.

INTERPARLIAMENTARY COOPERATION

For several years now, the National Assembly has been providing technical support to the parliamentary institutions of emerging and consolidating democracies, thus fostering their reinforcement at both the parliamentary and administrative levels. These interparliamentary cooperation activities actively support these partner institutions as they take charge of their own development programs.

This year the National Assembly carried out various activities with the Parliament of the Republic of Haiti in collaboration with Canada's Parliamentary Centre. In particular, it led a second technical support mission from November 24 to 28, 2008 for the transcription and broadcast of sessions of the Haitian Parliament in Port-au-Prince. Between February 9 and 20, 2009, the National Assembly also conducted a training seminar for plenary assembly and parliamentary committee staff at the Haitian Parliament.

Over the course of the year, the National Assembly also played a key role within the Association des secrétaires généraux des parlements francophones (Association of Secretaries General from French-Speaking Parliaments, ASGPF) and hosted the Association's General Meeting on September 4 and 5, 2008, at which the Secretary General of the National Assembly, François Côté, was elected president of the Association.

Michel Bissonnet's portrait joins the Presidents' Gallery

On March 31, 2009, Yvon Vallières, President of the National Assembly of Québec, unveiled a photo portrait of Michel Bissonnet, 42nd president of the National Assembly from June 4, 2003, to July 14, 2008. Daniel Lessard, the photographer, also attended the ceremony, which took place in the Presidents' Gallery. It was Mr. Bissonnet's wish that photography, traditionally employed in the first half of the 20th century, be used for his portrait.

Launching of Québec : quatre siècles d'une capitale

Authors Christian Blais, Gilles Gallichan, Frédéric Lemieux and Jocelyn Saint-Pierre received a Québec City 400th Anniversary commemorative medallion for their book, Québec: Quatre siècles d'une capitale.

The President of the National Assembly of Québec, Michel Bissonnet, and representatives of Les Publications du Québec launched the book Québec: Quatre siècles d'une capitale at the Salon international du livre de Québec book fair on April 17, 2008. This expansive and attractive volume, produced in conjunction with the National Assembly's special program of activities for Québec City's 400th anniversary, attests to the institution's commitment to promote our heritage and disseminate knowledge of our history and politics.

The book, which depicts 400 years of political history in a city rich in symbolism, is both an enjoyable read and a reference work for those eager to learn more about political life in Québec over the last four centuries.

With nearly 700 pages and 500 original illustrations, the book represents three years of work by authors and historians Christian Blais, Gilles Gallichan, Frédéric Lemieux and Jocelyn Saint-Pierre. They write passionately about our earliest days and unearth a host of unusual findings. In fact, the authors were awarded the Québec City 400th Anniversary Commemorative Medallion on December 9, 2008 for the history input they provided for the festivities. This medallion—only 100 of which were produced—pays tribute to the outstanding efforts by selected recipients in promoting Québec City's 400th anniversary and contributing to the development of the capital.

The book—reprinted three times since April 2008—has been a bookstore hit and earned its four authors the Medal of Honour of the National Assembly, awarded by President Michel Bissonnet on May 1, 2008. The Medal of Honour is bestowed by the National Assembly on recipients deemed worthy of recognition by all the institution's parliamentarians.

Cap-aux-Diamants magazine devotes a special issue to the political history of Québec City

On August 13, 2008, Fatima Houda-Pepin, First Vice-President of the Québec National Assembly, presented a special issue of the magazine Cap-aux-Diamants to the Library of the National Assembly as part of the latter's special program for the 400th anniversary of Québec City. The presentation, during the 74th annual congress of the International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions (IFLA), took place at the meeting of the Library and Research Services for Parliaments Section. The special issue, dedicated to the city's political history, was titled Québec 1608–2008: quatre cents ans d'histoire politique. Most of its articles—edited by National Assembly historians Frédéric Lemieux, Jocelyn Saint-Pierre, Gilles Gallichan and Christian Blais—expand upon the insights in their book, Québec : Quatre siècles d'une capitale.

L'hôtel du Parlement, mémoire du Québec awarded a Prix Zénith

L'hôtel du Parlement, mémoire du Québec, a critically acclaimed work recounting the history of Québec City through its Parliament Building, was published as the city's 400th anniversary celebrations got under way and later received a Prix Zénith in the prestige publication category. The Zénith awards, conferred by the Québec Government's Forum des responsables des communications, showcase praiseworthy public sector communications. The jury hailed the book's high quality and handsome graphics, noting that it filled a collective need. The book was also praised for its timely contribution to raising Québec City's profile during its 400th anniversary year.

ARCHITECTURAL AND URBAN HERITAGE

Bust of Samuel de Champlain unveiled

A bronze bust of Samuel de Champlain was given by the speaker of the Senate of Canada, the Honourable Noël A. Kinsella, to the President of the National Assembly, Michel Bissonnet, on May 26, 2008, to mark the 400th anniversary of Québec City.

Mr. Bissonnet commented that the gift honoured both the memory of the famed explorer and the presence of the French in North America. Mr. Kinsella, in reply, stated that the 400th anniversary of the founding of the first permanent French settlement at Québec was an event deserving commemoration, and that it was in this spirit that the Senate of Canada wished to pay tribute to Samuel de Champlain.

The statue is the work of artist Alfred Laliberté, who created the plaster model in about 1930. The bust was cast in bronze in 2003 at the Inverness Art Foundry near Thetford Mines. Examples of Alfred Laliberté's foremost works also decorate the Parliament Building façade in Québec City. The bust is on display inside Parliament, between the National Assembly and Legislative Council Chambers.

Remembrance Tree planting

The Ministère des Ressources naturelles et de la Faune celebrated the Mois de l'arbre by presenting 60-centimetre red oak and sugar maple saplings to 400 National Assembly employees, members and political staff. In honour of the city's 400th anniversary, a yellow birch—Québec's provincial tree—was planted on the National Assembly grounds near the statue of Jean Lesage in a ceremony attended by President Michel Bissonnet. "The 400th anniversary Remembrance Tree will bear witness to memorable encounters for generations to come," said Jean Leclerc, chair of the board of the Société du 400<sup>e</sup> anniversaire de Québec.

Eighth phase of Parliament Building office restoration

In all, 28 of the 310 offices reserved for parliamentarians and their staffs have been restored. This effort—the first total office renovation since the Parliament Building was constructed over 120 years ago—has been long overdue.

In 2008–2009, the Building Management and Telecommunications Directorate handled some 9,600 service requests from the political and administrative sectors of the National Assembly, ranging from plumbing and electrical work to furniture, kitchen equipment and telecommunication equipment repairs.

OFFICE OF THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

The National Assembly is administered within the framework of the statutes, regulations and rules to which it is subject. It must, among other duties, approve the Assembly's budgetary estimates and regulate matters of immediate concern to Members, such as their allowances and working conditions.

ADMINISTRATIVE ORGANIZATION

A quarter century of commitment

On December 12, 2008, a ceremony was held in the company of the President of the Québec National Assembly, Mr. François Gendron, and the Secretary General to celebrate the dedication of personnel who have worked in the Québec National Assembly or as public servants for 25 years. Louise Auger, Lucille Bigaouette, Francine Boivin Lamarche, Michèle Vachon, Doris Arsenault, Donald Chouinard, Gaétan Poulin and Mario Raymond were all honoured at the event.

Professional development: parliamentary procedure training

In 2008–2009, parliamentary personnel once again responded to various requests for staff training from Québec departments and agencies and from universities. A training session on parliamentary procedure was held for the professional staff of the Ministère du Revenu and of the Auditor General.

A number of information sessions on parliamentary procedure were also held for public service managers and students enrolled in certain university courses

Entraide 2008 campaign

Last year marked the 40th anniversary of public and parapublic sector fundraising campaigns. This year the National Assembly had to take a different approach to the campaign because of the general election. Its determined 2008 Entraide committee found a way to participate by suggesting new activities.

In addition to a luncheon fundraiser to mark the session start, a friendly competition was held between the various directorates, all of which responded enthusiastically to the challenge. With each determined to outdo the other, the administrative units organized a drive for donations, a shaved head challenge, sporting and art events and Christmas candy sales. Payroll deductions and a much appreciated donation of funds raised by the administrative staff Christmas party planning committee through the sous noires drive brought the total up to $28,151.78, an impressive amount that would not have been possible without the generosity of our staff.

The National Assembly cares about employee well-being

Vaccination clinic and blood drive

On June 11, 2008, 43 employees gave the gift of life by generously donating blood as part of the Héma Québec blood drive. Shortly thereafter, some 180 National Assembly employees protected themselves against the flu by getting vaccinated as part of our annual flu vaccination campaign held on November 11 and 20, 2008.

Our employees are in tip-top shape!

On October 10, 2008, some 30 National Assembly employees joined in a friendly game of soccer and a 30-minute hike in honour of the 4th Journée nationale du sport et de l'activité physique.

The joint committee on occupational health and safety (OHS), which is made up of 12 management and union members, met in December 2008 for the 50th time since its founding in 2003 to take stock of the past five years. In addition to being shortlisted for the Hommage à un bâtisseur 2009 award presented by the Association paritaire pour la santé et la sécurité du travail secteur administration provinciale (APSSAP), some of the committee's other successes include the installation of a more discreet bell in the Parliament Building, increased security in the Parliament Building coatroom and the purchase of an electric cart for moving IT equipment.

The committee's prevention measures and recommendations not only serve National Assembly workers, but also parliamentarians, their political staff and our many visitors.
