WRITTEN QUESTIONS

Questions already placed on the Order Paper are published each Wednesday

(83) Mrs. Fournier (Marie-Victorin) – 24 September 2019
To the Minister for Government Digital Transformation

I have received questions respecting the lack of accessibility to various government department services for people with visual impairments or who are functionally illiterate. Many citizens have pointed out to me that the digital shift in many government services has gradually moved complaint taking processes from telephone services to digital platforms. This has made these citizens feel discriminated against because they have to use a medium that is not adapted to them, since they are visually impaired or unable to provide written accounts of complex situations.

Remember that, unlike the private sector, the Québec Government must ensure universal access to its services for all Quebecers.

Therefore, my question is the following:

- Will the Minister commit to introducing measures to ensure citizens' free choice as to the medium used in their communications with the public and parapublic sectors, namely, the choice to use either writing or voice, particularly when a citizen's special situation requires it?

(84) Mrs. Fournier (Marie-Victorin) – 24 September 2019

To the Minister of the Environment and the Fight Against Climate Change

I have received questions in connection with AQLPA's defunct Faites de l'air! program. It ensured that old polluting vehicles were recycled while promoting the use of sustainable modes of transport. This program ended in 2014 even though it was very popular, with more than 50,000 vehicles having been recycled ecologically thanks to it.

Therefore, my question is the following:

- Will the Minister commit to examining the possibility of reinstating the Faites de l'air! program or developing a new equivalent program?

(85) Mrs. Fournier (Marie-Victorin) – 24 September 2019
To the Chair of the Conseil du trésor

Québec's speech language pathologists and audiologists are grouped into a single profession in both the public and private sectors. The profession is predominantly female: close to 96 % of those practising are women. This is therefore a perfect example of the type of occupation for which the Pay Equity Act was passed in 1996 to correct inequities between various professions.

Currently, the remuneration for this profession is assessed in the category of classification 22, based on its initial assessment in 2001, carried out during the application of the Pay Equity Act. Since that time, the profession has experienced a pay gap relative to the Canadian average, even though it requires obtaining a higher degree than other professions in the same category, such as occupational therapy and physiotherapy. In this regard, the unions representing these professionals filed a complaint with the Conseil du Trésor in 2011. To date, this complaint has not been addressed.

Therefore, my questions are the following:

- Will the Conseil du trésor respond to the complaint filed in 2011 by the various unions representing the members of the Quebec Association of Speech Language Pathologists and Audiologists with respect to the reassessment of the job classification in the context of the application of the Pay Equity Act? This complaint was based on a marked change in the profession's duties during the reference period from 2001 to 2010.
- Will the Conseil du trésor consider the importance of closing the pay gap between the remuneration of Québec's speech language pathologists and audiologists and those working in the rest of Canada, which was 12.3% for the 2015–2016 period, in order to determine a new, more appropriate job category, in the context where several other professions have received adjustments proportional to the Canadian average over the same period?
- Will the Conseil du trésor, when assessing the job category, take into consideration the level of education required to practise the speech language pathologist or audiologist profession, which is a master's degree, while its current job category is comprised mainly of professions that require only a bachelor's degree?
