Part 5

WRITTEN QUESTIONS

Questions already placed on the Order Paper
are published each Wednesday

- (118) Mr. Zanetti (Jean-Lesage) – 4 February 2020
To the Minister of Health and Social Services

As the Public Protector (Québec Ombudsperson) pointed out in her 11 October 2018 report on the Centre intégré de santé et des services sociaux de l'Outaouais – Hôpital de Hull: “. . . every person has the right to receive appropriate health care services in a personalized, safe manner . . .” Following the investigation, the Ombudsperson recommended that “a complete ban on wearing perfume apply to the emergency room staff of Hôpital de Hull”.

Many ingredients used in the composition of fragrances can cause or exacerbate health issues such as asthma, eczema, multiple chemical sensitivity, sinusitis and migraines. For example, some people who are ill experience difficulty accessing health care because they cannot tolerate the chemicals in various products such as cologne, aftershave, hairspray, soap and perfume.

In 2015, Statistics Canada identified 173,500 persons diagnosed as suffering from MCS/HCM in Québec alone. By 2016, this number had climbed to 230,500.

The Commission des droits de la personne et des droits de la jeunesse du Québec has declared that “. . . the definition of handicap in the Charter of human rights and freedoms that our Commission has adopted and the way it has been interpreted by the courts of Québec is sufficiently broad and open for people suffering from environmental hypersensitivity to invoke it”.

In its 3 November 2015 issue, the Canadian Medical Association Journal (CMAJ) published an editorial in which the authors wrote: “There are many practices that are acceptable outside hospitals — but not inside. One of these is the application of artificial scents to our bodies. . . There is little justification for continuing to tolerate artificial scents in our hospitals. . . Hospital environments free from artificial scents should become a uniform policy, promoting the safety of patients, staff and visitors alike.”

According to the Environmental Health Association of Québec (EHAQ): “Policies have been implemented in several government and hospital facilities in Canada where visitors, patients, health-care professionals, and other staff members are asked to refrain from using any products containing fragrances.”

The EHAQ recently asked the Ministère de la Santé et des Services sociaux to create fragrance-free health care services in Québec. Last 13 November, Ms. Lucie Opatrny, Assistant Deputy Minister, responded that employers were responsible for adopting fragrance-free policies. On 2 December 2019, the EHAP received a new letter, signed by Mr. Yvan Gendron, Deputy Minister, refusing to meet with them under the pretext that the department had just given the “Institut national de santé publique du Québec the mandate to do a rigorous analysis of the scientific literature”.

My questions to the Minister of Health and Social Services are the following:

- Does the Minister acknowledge that at least 3.2% of Quebecers suffer from environmental hypersensitivity?
- Does the Minister believe it is wise to rely solely on employers when the health of many citizens of Québec is at stake?
- Could the Minister envisage establishing fragrance-free policies for Québec’s health care institutions?
- If so, what reasons would the Minister give for not moving forward with such a policy that could facilitate appropriate access to health care for such people?
- If not, what measures does the Minister intend to take so that these vulnerable people can have access to health care system?
- In 2012, the Minister of Health, Mr. Yves Bolduc, gave Dr. Gaétan Carrier of the INSPQ the mandate to prepare a literature review on multiple chemical sensitivity; can the Minister inform us of what stage the writing of that review has reached?
- Can the Minister inform us of the deadline the Institut national de santé publique du Québec must comply with for filing its report?
- Since expertise in this field is rare and it is vital that the literature review be peer reviewed, can the Minister give us the names and areas of expertise of the reviewers?

(120) Ms. Ghazal (Mercier) – 5 February 2020

To the Minister of the Environment and the Fight Against Climate Change

Last January, Conservation de la nature Québec (CNQ), a non-profit organization whose mission is to preserve Québec's natural settings, asked the Government of Québec to participate in the Héritage naturel Québec nature conservancy project (PHNQ 2019–2023), which aims to take advantage of $100 million in matched funds from CNQ partners, provided $100 million is invested by the provincial government in its land conservation project.

My question for the Minister of the Environment is the following:

To meet the commitments made in the context of the Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD), namely to protect 17% of its land and inland waters, will the Government of Québec, which currently protects just under 10% of its land and inland waters, seize the opportunity offered by the CNQ to protect the equivalent of $200 million of territory for only $100 million?

(121) Ms. Labrie (Sherbrooke) – 6 February 2020

To the Minister of Education and Higher Education

Last December, the Minister of Economy declared that education would be one of the most important sectors to act on to fight the labour shortage in Québec. In January, the Minister of Finance mentioned education as a means to generate long-term wealth in Québec.

Although the Government is following the 2017 Policy on Educational Success, that policy fails to take into account a good number of adult education sectors. The most recent adult education policy dates back to 2002 and its related action plan expired in 2007. The review of the 2002 policy highlighted its shortcomings and the issues relating to adult learning.

My question is as follows:

In this context, will the Minister of Education and Higher Education commit to giving Québec a real adult education policy?

123) Ms. Fournier (Marie-Victorin) – 18 February 2020
To the Minister of Justice

Public confidence in our justice system is largely dependent on having access to justice. Although the situation has been improved somewhat in recent years, the eligibility threshold for free legal aid is still well below the level of viable income for a single-person household.

According to an IRIS study, the weighted average viable income for a single person was $26,721 in 2019, whereas the threshold to be eligible for free legal aid for a single person has been $22,750 since 2019. A person whose earnings are just on the viable income cutoff point has to spend $400 to get access to legal aid. Hence, justice is too often becoming a luxury that is difficult for the poorest in society to access.

My question is as follows:

- Will the Minister commit to raising the eligibility thresholds for free legal aid?

124) Ms. Dorion (Taschereau) – 19 February 2020
To the Minister of Culture and Communications

In November 2016, then Minister of Culture, Luc Fortin, announced the creation of a working committee on promoting Québec's modern-day religious heritage.

My two questions for the Minister of Culture and Communications are as follows:

- What follow-up has been given to this committee's work?
- Can the report of the committee be made available to the public?

125) Ms. Fournier (Marie-Victorin) – 19 February 2020
To the Minister of Finance

An entrepreneur brought to my attention certain practices in the hair stylist industry and in the personal care industry as a whole.

Speaking from personal experience, that person said it is common practice for people in the industry not to declare their work and many employees are paid their commissions “under the table”. Through other popular schemes, such as leasing chairs in salons, many salons and workers in the industry declare less than $30,000 a year in income to avoid paying taxes. This two-tier system creates unfair competition that discourages and harms the interests of honest entrepreneurs in the industry, particularly in the context of a labour shortage where it would be more advantageous for an employee to work partially or entirely under the table.

The fears of the entrepreneur in my riding appear to have been confirmed by a 2014 study by the workforce sectoral committee on personal care services. In that study, Revenu Québec estimates losses due to tax evasion at around $280 million per year in the personal care sector, ranking it third among the sectors most affected by tax evasion, right between the restaurant industry and contraband tobacco. Since then, new measures such as the introduction of compulsory sales recording modules (SRM) have helped to fight tax evasion in the restaurant industry, but no similar measure has been put in place for the personal care industry.

My questions are as follows:

- Will the Minister commit to tightening controls on the personal care industry, in particular, by
  - Increasing oversight of companies operating in the personal care sector?
  - Implementing measures on invoicing and requiring the use of SRMs?
- If so, what is the Minister’s timeline for taking action related to this matter?

126) Ms. Fournier (Marie-Victorin) – 19 February 2020
To the Minister of Labour, Employment and Social Solidarity

An entrepreneur brought to my attention certain practices in the hair stylist industry and in the personal care industry as a whole.

Speaking from personal experience, that person said it is common practice for people in the industry not to declare their work and many employees are paid their commissions “under the table”. Through other popular schemes, such as leasing chairs in salons, many salons and workers in the industry declare less than $30,000 a year in income to avoid paying taxes. This two-tier system creates unfair competition that discourages and harms the interests of honest entrepreneurs in the industry, particularly in the context of a labour shortage where it would be more advantageous for an employee to work partially or entirely under the table.

What is more, newcomers are the main victims of the lack of oversight in this industry and the subsequent disinformation. Recruiting abroad to offset the labour shortage is common practice, and some entrepreneurs exploit these newcomers and their lack of knowledge of Québec laws by offering them conditions that do not comply with labour standards.

My question is as follows:

- How does the Minister intend to go about better protecting employees who are being exploited in the personal care industry?

127) Ms. Melançon (Verdun) – 20 February 2020
To the Minister of Culture and Communications

On 6 November 2018, the government announced the discovery of the Beaucours ramparts wooden fortifications in Québec City's old quarter.

At the time of the announcement, the Premier declared that the entire population of Québec could rejoice at this news because our cultural heritage, which is something we can be so proud of, had just been further enriched, as had also our knowledge of our past and our history. In addition, you, yourself, declared that you wished to acknowledge the exemplary collaboration of all those who made it possible for us to, today, appropriate another piece of our history – another legacy of our ancestors.

In addition, the press release issued on 6 November 2018 by the Minister of Culture and Communications also mentioned the following highlights:

- The vestige discovered in the Old Québec heritage site is approximately 20 metres in length. It is part of the fortification erected according to plans drawn up by French military engineer Josué Dubois Berthelot de Beaucours around 1693 to 1694. It was the second fortification erected on the Plains of Abraham. Built by 500 military troops, it replaced the initial temporary fortification system built in 1690 according to plans drawn up by military engineer Robert de Villeneuve.
- The Historic District of Old Québec contains the most complete and well-preserved ensemble of urban colonial fortifications in North America. The city's fortifications were built from 1608 to 1871, starting with the founding of Québec City by Samuel de Champlain through to the departure of the British garrison. Within the current fortifications footprint, which extends over more than four kilometres, portions of previous fortifications remain. All of these fortifications bear witness to the development of Québec's defensive system.
- Québec's fortifications have been considered a heritage asset of Québec City, Québec and Canada since 1872. They are also an integral part of the Old Québec heritage site, whose boundaries were decreed in 1963 and a reason for its inclusion on the UNESCO World Heritage List in 1985.

Last 19 January, we learned in a news report by Mr. Sébastien Tanguay of Radio-Canada that we were not dealing with a rampart and that it did not date back to 1693. An analysis by Université Laval revealed that construction date was most likely 1775 at the earliest, a difference of more than 80 years from the date announced at the 6 November 2018 press conference.

Will the Minister tell us what actions she intends to take in order to ensure that archeology management in Québec is conducted in compliance with best practices, particularly when establishing the dating of historic finds?

128) Mr. LeBel (Rimouski) – 20 February 2020
To the Minister of Transport

In a letter dated last September, the Premier confirmed to me his desire to include the Autoroute 20 project between Notre-Dame-des-Neiges and Rimouski in the Québec Infrastructure Plan (PQI) again. The population is expecting this project to move forward and those concerned would like to see the proposed routes and understand the project's impact in that area. But to do this, the project must first be reintegrated into the PQI.

In the same context, a public announcement was made in relation to this matter and reported on by several media outlets in the Bas-Saint-Laurent region, which reported the Premier stating that Autoroute 20 is indeed a commitment made during the electoral campaign and as I have been repeating for a year, all our electoral commitments will be respected. Further in an interview with Radio-Canada on 13 September, the Premier stated that it was the Liberal party that removed the Autoroute 20 project from the PQI, but that his party was going to reintegrate it into the PQI.

129) Mr. Leduc (Hochelaga-Maisonneuve) – 11 March 2020
To the Minister of Education

The learning paths offered by community education centres are just as essential as traditional academic paths. The proof of this is the fact that community education is recognized in adult education policies – a recognition that UNESCO recommends Member States adhere to and that implies:

- considering community education as one of the three pillars of any national adult education policy;

- recognizing the mandate of public education networks in this area and therefore granting them the means to offer such educational services;
- promoting community education activities within community networks.

Since 2012, despite the ongoing strong mobilization of the population served by InterCEP members, successive ministers have failed to come up with a sustainable solution, yet all have acknowledged the importance of taking action in this area to protect Montreal's most vulnerable communities.

The six community education centres are now entering a critical phase because as of 1 April 2020 there will be no funding to cover their operating costs and they will be required to pay even higher rent starting in June 2022.

My questions for the Minister of Education are the following:

What actions do you intend to undertake for their survival by 1 April 2020?

What sustainable solution do you intend to offer them by 1 April 2020 to ensure their survival?

Do you intend to

1. respect their mission and thus maintain their funding within your department;
2. renew the 3-year agreement covering their operating costs;
3. complete phase two (2) of the renovations; and
4. proceed with a financial catch-up for CEDA and the Carrefour to achieve equity among the community education centres?

130) Mr. Zanetti (Jean-Lesage) – 11 March 2020
To the Minister of Health and Social Services

On 12 February 2020, the CIUSSS Center-Sud-de-l'Île-de-Montréal (Montréal regional public health directorate) announced that 8 persons who have an intellectual disability or an autism spectrum disorder with serious behavioral problems will be moving into a unit at Montréal's Institut Philippe-Pinel for a 3-year period. These individuals have been living in unit 44 of Hôpital Rivière-des-Prairies, under the supervision of incident control officers.

The Ministère de la Santé et des Services sociaux is currently working on a residential and long-term care policy, the guiding principles of which are self-determination, dignity and well-being. Given Institut Philippe-Pinel's quasi-prison environment, one must ask what kind of security and stability this establishment will provide to the eight individuals who will be placed there.

My questions to the Minister of Health and Social Services are the following:

- Does the Minister believe that this housing solution is the best suited for the social reintegration of these individuals?
- Can the Minister list the reasons for her choice of CIUSSS?
- Can the Minister specify which other establishments were considered and the reasons why they were not chosen?
- Can the Minister certify that the CIUSSS selected has obtained the approval of intervention experts for persons with severe behavioural disorders before authorizing this transfer?
- Can the Minister guarantee that the residents of unit H2 will never, under any circumstances or pretext, even in the event of an evacuation or an emergency situation, have contact with Institut Philippe-Pinel's other clients?
