Oral Questions and Answers

The President gave a directive on modifications in the distribution of certain measures and speaking times having become necessary following changes in the composition of the Assembly, which has a new Member from the Third Opposition Group and one additional independent Member.

RULING FROM THE CHAIR

Following the election of the Member for Jean-Talon and the arrival of an additional independent Member, the President informed the Assembly that the parliamentary groups had reached an agreement on the changes to be made in the allocation of certain measures and speaking time for limited debates. Since this agreement is in keeping with the principles established by parliamentary jurisprudence, the President will implement it.

17 October 2023

In short, as regards Business Standing in the Name of Members in Opposition and Interpellations, the Third Opposition Group will be granted an additional measure per two 14-sitting cycles, in 5th place, in substitution for a measure by the Official Opposition.

As regards Statements by Members, the Third Opposition Group will be granted an additional statement, in 8th place, at the 1st sitting of the cycle, in substitution for a statement by the parliamentary group forming the Government. The new independent Member will be granted a statement, in 6th place, at the 2nd sitting of the cycle, in substitution for a statement by the Official Opposition.

The allocation of speaking time for limited debates was adjusted to take into account the new proportion between opposition groups and the presence of an additional independent Member.

Concerning the allocation of questions for Question Period, the parliamentary groups could not, however, reach an agreement on the changes required following the new composition of the Assembly. It is therefore up to the Chair to rule on this matter, taking into account the current composition of the Assembly. Parliamentary jurisprudence has established a number of fundamental principles to guide the Chair in the conduct of this exercise: all Members must be able to ask questions of the Government, including Government Members; most questions are assigned to Opposition Members; the concept of parliamentary group must be considered together with the first two principles; the Official Opposition must be given a preponderant role; and finally, the Chair must take into account the presence of any independent Members.

Along with these principles, the President's ruling is based on the parameters negotiated by the parliamentary groups at the beginning of the legislature and aims to preserve the proportions they established between themselves at that time. To the extent possible, the Chair has tried to respect the logic of the grid that allocates speaking rights, while keeping in mind that the questions allocated to one group necessarily come from what had belonged to another opposition group. In light of these factors, the following is the allocation of questions for Question Period.

The Third Opposition Group will now be allocated three additional questions, for a total of 10 questions per 10-sitting cycle, that is, one question per sitting. These new questions are in 8th place, at the 3rd and 7th sittings of the cycle, in substitution for the questions by the Official Opposition, and in 7th place, at the 9th sitting of the cycle, in substitution for a question by the Second Opposition Group.

17 October 2023

Changes were also made for the 1st and 5th sittings of the cycle. The questions belonging to the Second Opposition Group, which were in 7th place, will now be in 6th place, and the questions belonging to the Third Opposition Group, which were in 8th place, will now be in 7th place. The questions belonging to the Official Opposition, which were in 6th place, will now be in 8th place. These are questions that may be granted to the independent Members.

To this end, the new independent Member will be granted 3 questions per two 10-sitting cycles. As for the other independent Member, his questions may be asked in 8th place, at the 1st, 5th and 9th sittings of the cycle, in substitution for the questions by the Official Opposition. The Official Opposition must notify the independent Member, as well as the Chair, of the times when the Member will be able to ask his questions.

As regards the questions already granted to the other independent Member for the end of the current two-cycle reference period, they will have to be reallocated to reflect the changes made for the questions of the Official Opposition in 8th place.

She then tabled the following:

Tables indicating the distribution of measures and the allocation of speaking times for Statements by Members, Business Standing in the Name of Members in Opposition, limited debates and interpellations;

(Sessional Paper No. 990-20231017)

A table indicating the distribution of measures and allocation of speaking times for Oral Question Period.

(Sessional Paper No. 991-20231017)

The Assembly proceeded to Oral Question Period.
