WRITTEN QUESTIONS

Questions already placed on the Order Paper are published each Wednesday

- (131) Ms. Lakhoyan Olivier (Chomedey) – 21 May 2024
To the Minister of Economy, Innovation and Energy

Three former elected officials from the Côte-de-Beaupré region are urging the government to break the impasse at the Mont-Sainte-Anne ski resort, whose dilapidated state has been denounced for several years.

They would like Québec to consider the offer from the Franco-Swiss e-Liberty Group and certain regional investors, who say they are ready to acquire the mountain and invest millions of dollars in its revitalization.

The Minister indicated last month that the Government was prepared to give financial assistance to Resorts of the Canadian Rockies to revitalize Mont-Sainte-Anne. However, no plan or investment have been announced by Québec or the company since then.

When will new developments be announced to save Mont-Sainte-Anne?

- (140) Ms. Caron (La Pinière) – 30 May 2024
To the Minister Responsible for Seniors and Minister for Health

Over 200,000 people in Québec are living with a neurodegenerative disorder. Life after diagnosis has profound impacts on the affected individuals, their families, caregivers and our health system.

It is therefore essential to address the issue of degenerative disorders as constructively as possible. To do this, Québec should have a clear portrait of the situation and develop a strategy for accessing innovative treatments and advancing research.

In this regard, is the Minister willing to create an advisory committee to mobilize, in particular, the best experts in innovative treatments, research, patient organizations and caregiving?

(143) Ms. Prass (D'Arcy-McGee) – 5 June 2024
To the Minister Responsible for Social Services

With regard to homelessness, it is important to have an accurate portrait of the situation.

Can the Minister provide us with the number of places available in Québec by region for people experiencing homelessness?

Can he let us know how many places were available between 31 December 2023 and 31 May 2024?

Can he tell us how many of these places are open 24/7, 365 days a year?

(146) Mr. Bouazzi (Maurice-Richard) – 6 June 2024
To the Minister of Cybersecurity and Digital Technology

Implementing a centralized medical record presents major challenges in terms of digital security. The centralization of Quebecers' health data in a single digital infrastructure would make it a prime target for hackers, and any breach could have catastrophic consequences given the quantity and sensitive nature of the data stored. Epic Systems Corporation, the firm chosen by the Québec government to build the future digital health record, has been affected by data breaches on several occasions, which does not alleviate the cybersecurity concerns this project raises.

Furthermore, the easier access to and circulation of health data made possible when Bill 3 came into force has multiplied the potential gateways through which malicious actors could gain access to Quebecers' health data. One of the aims of Bill 3 is to facilitate the training of artificial intelligence programs in health care, which requires large databases.

Québec currently has no legislative framework or approval process with respect to the use of artificial intelligence technologies in health care, which raises a number of issues, in particular with regard to language. Since artificial intelligence is largely trained on English-language databases, there is no guarantee that its performance will be the same in French as in English without making corrections.

In Canada, Health Canada, which approves medical technologies proposed by companies, has so far only authorized a few medical programs based on artificial intelligence, mainly in the field of imaging. Health Canada's approval process does not differentiate between French and English when evaluating artificial intelligence programs, which could create inequalities in terms of effectiveness and safety.

My questions to the Minister of Cybersecurity and Digital Technology are the following:

1. What measures does the Minister intend to implement to ensure the integrity of health data as part of the deployment of the digital health record?
2. Are initiatives being taken to legislate and oversee the use and security of Quebecers' health data in the research and development of artificial intelligence projects in health care?
3. Does the Minister of Cybersecurity and Digital Technology support the creation of a Francophone approval channel for evaluating artificial intelligence projects with a linguistic component?

(147) Mr. Bouazzi (Maurice-Richard) – 6 June 2024

To the Minister of Health

Several departments are already funding the implementation of artificial intelligence in the healthcare network, including the Ministère de la Santé et des Services sociaux, the Secrétariat du Conseil du trésor and the Ministère de l'Économie, de l'Innovation et de l'Énergie.

In addition, artificial intelligence is funded by the public sector through public research funds and public investment funds, such as the Fonds de recherche du Québec, Investissement Québec and the Caisse de dépôt et placement du Québec.

Most government funding is invested in private consortia, which in turn invest the funds in various research projects or start-ups in accordance with their own investment policies. The financial statements of these consortia are not in the public domain, which makes it difficult to track their investments.

Moreover, the objectives of these companies may not be consistent with the interests of Quebecers. These funds pursue an investment strategy focused on profit, innovation and commercialisation, and concentrate on healthcare sectors that are likely to drive up healthcare costs. These additional public expenses will not be borne by the investment consortia, but by the Ministère de la Santé et des Services sociaux, which has already had to cope with soaring costs for several years.

My questions to the Minister of Health are the following:

What measures has the Ministère de la Santé et des Services sociaux implemented to ensure that the artificial intelligence technologies funded by the Government are in the best interests of Quebecers, in particular clinical relevance, cost reduction, free circulation of knowledge and citizen representation?

Is the Ministère considering developing its own artificial intelligence investment strategy rather than delegating this task to private consortia?

(153) Mr. Fontecilla (Laurier-Dorion) – 10 September 2024

To the Minister Responsible for Housing

Under the AccèsLogis program, two subsidies are available to improve a project's accessibility and adaptability. The housing adaptation subsidy (SUAL) makes it possible to integrate adaptation measures for housing in order to better meet the changing needs of those who live there. The home adaptation subsidy (SAD) allows people who need adaptations to have them made during the construction.

These two subsidies are through the AccèsLogis program and are not part of the Québec affordable housing program (PHAQ).

Currently, people with disabilities can apply to the home adaptation program (PAD). However, they must already be living in the home before applying for the PAD, which means they must wait a long time for their new home to be adapted to their needs. Furthermore, the PAD is intended for specific people and therefore does not apply to temporary housing projects, such as those for victims of domestic violence or people experiencing homelessness.

My question to the Minister Responsible for Housing is the following:

Could the SUAL and SAD subsidies, or other similar measures, be included in the PHAQ program?

(154) Mr. Fontecilla (Laurier-Dorion) – 10 September 2024

To the Minister Responsible for Housing

For the AccèsLogis program, project accessibility and adaptability standards are clearly defined in the project development and implementation guide, last updated in 2021.

For example, hallways must be at least 1,500 mm wide, room dimensions are specified and at least 10% of units must be accessible and adaptable. If the building has an elevator, all units must be accessible and adaptable.

There does not appear to be a similar guide or similar standards for the Québec affordable housing program (PHAQ) or for the agreements not covered by programs, such as the Mission Unitâinés project. Projects funded by Québec through the PHAQ may therefore have hallways that are 920 mm wide (the minimum under the Construction Code). These hallways are not accessible for most people who use mobility aids.

Funding such projects therefore means using public funds to increase systemic exclusion and discrimination against people with disabilities.

My question to the Minister Responsible for Housing is the following:

What measures do you intend to implement to ensure that Québec-funded housing can be visited and lived in by anyone, regardless of their abilities?

(155) Ms. Caron (La Pinière) – 11 September 2024
To the Minister Responsible for Seniors

On 3 May 2024, the Minister announced that she would restore the reputation of CLSCs and make them the main gateway for seniors to access health care and services. She stated she would launch a pilot project for the ten best-performing CLSCs, create a new job category and implement the project across all 300 facilities by fall 2025.

It has been nearly four months since this response to the report from Ms. Castonguay, Health and Welfare Commissioner, which recommended the creation of a single gateway for seniors with a view to helping users navigate the health system.

Can the Minister provide a list of the CLSCs selected for the pilot project, their respective operating budgets, and the job description for the information agents who will be specialized in programs for seniors?

(156) Ms. Caron (La Pinière) – 11 September 2024
To the Minister Responsible for Seniors

During the examination of the estimates of expenditure on 23 April, I asked the Minister about the financial contribution of CHSLD residents with regard to their family status. I gave the example of a couple who have been separated for several years, but not divorced, where the income of a former spouse is used to calculate the contribution of the other spouse living in a CHSLD, despite their having been separated for decades. This approach can be unfair and may distort the financial reality of some users.

In his response, Mr. Sylvain Gagnon, Assistant Deputy Minister, said that work is underway internally with the MSSS Finance Directorate to examine the financial capacity of users and update the contributions being charged, taking into account family circumstances, in particular.

Mr. Gagnon also confirmed that the work underway would be completed with a final proposal in the coming months.

It has been almost five months since the examination of the estimates of expenditure. Can the Minister table the results of this work and a timeline for implementing the new rates to be considered by her department for accommodation in CHSLDs, seniors' homes and alternative homes?

(157) Ms. Prass (D'Arcy-McGee) – 12 September 2024

To the Minister Responsible for Social Services

According to an article published in the Le Devoir newspaper on 21 March 2024, there are inconsistencies on the Ministère de la Santé et des Services sociaux's dashboard with regard to wait times for psychiatric services. Official data listed 13 people waiting to see a psychiatrist in the Montréal region, while the Îles-de-la-Madeleine region showed five times that number, and the Mauricie and Centre-du-Québec regions each had 2,000 people on a waiting list. Claire Gamache, chair of the Association des médecins psychiatres du Québec, said these statistics were implausible, and confirmed that thousands of patients were waiting in the regions affected by a shortage of psychiatrists.

The CIUSSSs of Montréal appear to remove patients from waiting lists once they have been directed to the Adult Mental Health Access Desk (GASMA), a much-criticized practice that minimizes the real extent of needs. Even though the department recognizes its shortcomings in the way the data is recorded, it nonetheless continues to display these inaccurate statistics.

Can the Minister tell us if the data accurately reflect reality as of today?

How does the Minister make sure that the information is reliable and up to date?

(158) Ms. Nichols (Vaudreuil) – 17 September 2024

To the Minister of the Environment, the Fight Against Climate Change, Wildlife and Parks

The Government has been working on establishing new maps for flood zones for months now.

According to experts, thousands of homeowners will be affected, in particular by a significant loss of property value, as well as restricted access to mortgage credit and insurability.

Elected municipal officials claim that more than 70,000 homes in Québec will be affected by the Minister's new provisions and could lose an average of nearly one-third of their value.

First, can the Minister confirm whether he has discussed his new maps with certain elected municipal officials? Has he assessed the acceptability of his proposal? Has he taken into account all the criteria put forth by the mayors of Québec? What does the Minister have to say to citizens whose property value will be greatly affected?

Furthermore, for the sake of equity, can the Minister make sure that all elected municipal officials, and especially the people who will have to shoulder this enormous loss in property value, be informed of the Government's intentions at the same time and as soon as possible? Lastly, can the Minister inform the National Assembly if he is ready to table his new maps?

(159) Mr. Beauchemin (Marguerite-Bourgeoys) – 18 September 2024

To the Minister of Economy, Innovation and Energy

In May 2024, the Conseil de l'innovation du Québec announced the 2024 results for the Grande enquête sur l'innovation québécoise.

Although the proportion of companies with at least one innovation project increased by 18 percentage points since the last survey, a decline in R&D spending was also noted.

As a percentage of GDP, R&D spending by Québec companies decreased by 25%. The Conseil de l'innovation du Québec considers this decline to be worrisome, especially when compared to the OECD average of +32%.

Does the Minister have a plan to reverse this trend in Québec?

(160) Mr. Grandmont (Taschereau) – 19 September 2024

To the Minister of Transport and Sustainable Mobility

My riding office was approached by a citizen living with a disability. For this citizen to be able to drive a car and thus enjoy autonomous mobility, she has to purchase a minivan with a special system known as Joysteer technology. This system can only be installed on new vehicles, and since these vehicles cost more than $40,000, the SAAQ charges an additional registration fee for luxury vehicles.

While we support this tax on luxury vehicles for people who buy them by choice, people living with disabilities have no other choice but to buy a minivan so they can get around in their wheelchair. No such vehicle is available for less than $40,000. These people are being forced to pay additional fees when the choice of vehicle is beyond their control. Most people living with disabilities are already in a precarious financial situation. Therefore, we believe that imposing this additional financial burden every year is unfair to them.

My question to the Minister of Transport and Sustainable Mobility is the following:

Can the department make changes to add specially equipped vehicles to the list of luxury vehicles exempt from additional registration fees?

(161) Ms. Nichols (Vaudreuil) – 24 September 2024

To the Minister of Transport and Sustainable Mobility

It is well known that traffic management in the greater Vaudreuil-Soulanges region poses a sizeable challenge, given that the current government removed the Île-aux-Tourtes bridge reconstruction project from the Québec Economic Plan tabled in March 2018.

To further complicate traffic management, the Government still refuses to proceed with the completion of Autoroute 20 from Vaudreuil-Dorion to L'Île-Perrot. As such, Autoroute 20, which barely qualifies as one, is becoming an urban boulevard with traffic lights.

Faced with unmanageable traffic, drivers use the residential road network to try and avoid the constant jams on the main road. This puts the safety of the children in these residential neighbourhoods at risk. Parents and elected municipal officials are worried, and I am as well.

I regularly receive messages from the mayors of the Vaudreuil riding complaining about poor traffic management. Then, I am forced to communicate with the Minister's office to tell them about an incident or an accident or to inform them of the lack of police officers to control traffic, or that the traffic lights are not synchronized, that they are defective or simply not working.

I am glad I can count on the excellent collaboration of the staff at the Minister's office. However, I wonder why mayors have to go through me to get the attention of the department or the police regarding incidents that disrupt traffic.

Therefore, can the Minister tell us if there is a protocol that enables elected officials to report incidents as quickly as possible and directly to the relevant responders? If so, we invite the Minister to share the guidelines established by her department with all stakeholders in this field, in particular elected municipal officials, following such reports.

Moreover, can the Minister share with all stakeholders the contingency plan outlining the measures implemented by the Ministère des Transports et de la Mobilité durable in the event of complete closure of the bridge and the parallel roads? In fact, what concrete measures are being systematically taken by the department and the organizations involved to ensure free-flowing traffic on Autoroute 20, among others, when the Île-aux-Tourtes bridge is completely closed? Also, how often are the traffic lights synchronized and, in the event of a malfunction, how long would the department take to resolve the problem?

To the Minister Responsible for Social Solidarity and Community Action

The Ministère de l'Emploi et de la Solidarité sociale allocated funding to the mission of the Accorderie de Shawinigan and the Accorderie de l'Estrie-Ouest within the framework of the 2022–2027 government action plan on community action.

However, the Accorderie de Sherbrooke has no stable source of funding, which would ensure a certain level of financial predictability.

Can the Minister explain why the Accorderie de Sherbrooke does not receive stable funding like the Accorderie de Shawinigan and the Accorderie de l'Estrie-Ouest?

- (163) Ms. Garceau (Robert-Baldwin) – 24 September 2024
To the Minister Responsible for the Status of Women

In the spring of 2023, the Minister Responsible for the Status of Women established an interdepartmental committee on access to abortion in order to propose concrete measures to the Government to ensure equal access to abortion services across the different regions of Québec.

Can the Minister Responsible for the Status of Women inform us on the progress of the committee’s work and the scheduled date for the tabling of its report and recommendations?

- (164) Ms. Garceau (Robert-Baldwin) – 24 September 2024
To the Minister of Culture and Communications

On 4 March 2024, the Government announced the end of the Espaces bleus project, after three years of delays and rising costs. At a press conference, the Minister said that the remaining funds earmarked for this project would be reallocated to other cultural projects.

However, on 7 August 2024, the Government authorized funding of up to $7 million for the Musée de la civilisation to ensure the maintenance of the four Espaces bleus owned by the Government.

Can the Minister of Culture and Communications tell us the source of the $7 million and whether he intends to allocate other similar sums in the coming year? Can he also tell us how much is left from the initial budget for the Espaces bleus project?

- (165) Ms. Prass (D’Arcy-McGee) – 24 September 2024
To the Minister Responsible for Social Services

In his announcement in Dolbeau-Mistassini on 6 August 2024, the Minister mentioned a permanent housing project with a “high threshold of acceptability” in Ville de Dolbeau-Mistassini.

Can the Minister specify what is meant by the expression “high threshold of acceptability”? In addition, how is this threshold assessed by the Minister, and what specific criteria are used to define the threshold?

Have any public consultations been held?

(166) Ms. Prass (D'Arcy-McGee) – 25 September 2024

To the Minister Responsible for Social Services

The number of people experiencing homelessness continues to grow, and an ever-increasing proportion have mental health problems, making it more difficult for them to access services adapted to their needs.

The Minister recently announced additional funding for people experiencing homelessness and who have serious mental health problems.

Can the Minister explain what criteria or conditions are used to define these serious mental health problems?

(167) Ms. Rizqy (Saint-Laurent) – 25 September 2024

To the Minister of Education

On 19 September 2024, La Presse reported that students residing in Québec were attending school in Ontario. As this situation is a cause for concern, we would like to have a clear picture of the situation:

How many students are attending school in Ontario instead of Québec?

How many are in elementary school and how many are in high school?

Have these students left the Québec network or have they simply never attended Québec schools?

Is it because of a lack of services?

Is it because of the program choices?

Can the Minister also tell us what the Ministère is doing to prevent this situation and what it intends to do to avoid an exodus of students from Québec to Ontario?

(168) Ms. Rizqy (Saint-Laurent) – 25 September 2024
To the Minister of Education

On 19 September 2024, the newspaper Le Devoir published an article stating that the Québec government was currently working to simplify the framework for certain protected budget measures, in particular for food aid and tutoring.

We also learned that some school service centres are returning to the government unused funds for issues that are very real.

Can the Minister provide us with a status report for each school service centre and school board and for each measure, with regard to the funds returned to government coffers in 2023–2024?

Can he also provide us with a progress report on the Ministère’s work regarding the process to optimize and simplify current budget rules and the timeframe for the work?

(169) Ms. Maccarone (Westmount–Saint-Louis) – 25 September 2024
To the Minister of Justice

On 15 May 2024, the Minister tabled a regulation on the designation of foreign States where the rules and practices relating to surrogacy meet the requirements prescribed by the Civil Code.

Following the Government’s adoption of this position, I worry about the potential consequences for Québec families.

First, the Government’s decision to exclude parts of Canada, in particular New Brunswick, is bewildering. It is well known that Quebecers and New Brunswickers are linguistically united and share undeniable bonds. I believe the exclusion of that province puts francophone Quebecers at a disadvantage, as both parents and children will have trouble developing significant bonds with surrogate mothers.

Second, I noticed that, in spite of the regulation, the exclusion of certain Canadian provinces creates confusion for future parents and may hinder their parental projects. There is a real risk that the filiation of future children will not be recognized in Québec, and that parents may not be eligible for benefits under the Québec Parental Insurance Plan. As such, I believe it is appropriate to provide the best possible support to families getting ready to welcome a child.

Can the Minister tell us if, similar to international adoption, he intends to adapt his regulation to make it more flexible and include more countries of the Francophonie and all Canadian provinces?

(170) Mr. Ciccone (Marquette) – 26 September 2024

To the Minister of Health

On 26 August 2024, the Convenience Industry Council of Canada (CICC) stated in a press release that ever since the entry into force of the regulation banning the sale of vape flavours in Québec ten months ago, the government has struggled to enforce the law.

The CICC denounces the fact that there are still nearly 400 non-compliant vape shops who circumvent the law by selling flavours supposedly intended for water, but designed to be mixed with unflavoured nicotine liquids.

Also, certain merchants have already said they did not know the exact content of these flavours and even mentioned the possibility of products potentially being carcinogenic if inhaled.

Will the Minister commit to closely examining the Convenience Industry Council of Canada's proposal, or any other proposal that could quickly end the illegal sale of vaping flavours?

(171) Mr. Morin (Acadie) – 26 September 2024

To the Minister of Immigration, Francization and Integration

On 25 September 2024, Le Journal de Chambly published an article on wait times entitled “Un délai injuste”. This article tells the sad story of Ms. Christine Hallé, one of the Minister's constituents, who is suffering because of the administrative delays imposed by the CAQ government with regard to family reunification.

The situation is deeply sad and inhumane. Ms. Hallé is under a great deal of stress, which is affecting her mental health. The excessively long wait times in Québec have been documented, and the lengthy separation of spouses is unbearable. Her plans for a life together are on hold, and this is only because she lives in Québec.

Indeed, the newspaper reports that, unlike Canadians living in other provinces, Quebecers have to wait two to four years rather than 13 months as in other provinces. That wait time is three times longer on average because of a decision made by your Government.

Can the Minister deal with this case in his riding and act quickly so that this citizen can live in Québec with her spouse? The waiting is having serious impacts on her mental health. What does the Minister have to say to his constituent?

(172) Ms. Cadet (Bourassa-Sauvé) – 1 October 2024

To the Minister of the French Language

The 2023–2024 annual report on the application of the Charter of the French Language in the bodies of the Administration with the exception of parliamentary institutions shows, on page 28, that 35 complaints regarding alleged Charter violations were received by government departments.

Can the Minister tell us which departments were the subject of these complaints, the number of complaints per department, the nature of the alleged violations, and whether the complaints were deemed to be substantiated?

(173) Ms. Cadet (Bourassa-Sauvé) – 2 October 2024

To the Minister of the French Language

Page 4 of the 2023–2024 annual management report of the Ministère de la Langue française mentions a certain obligation for the bodies of the Administration subject to the governmental language policy and who intend to use a language other than French. This obligation includes adopting a guideline for staff members on the applicable rules of conduct with regard to the use of language within the bodies, as well as the exceptions allowed.

The report also indicates that departments and bodies had until 1 June 2024 to issue such a guideline.

Can the Minister tell us which departments and bodies have developed a guideline on this matter to date?

(174) Ms. Cadet (Bourassa-Sauvé) – 2 October 2024
To the Minister of the French Language

The 2023–2024 annual management report of the Ministère de la Langue française mentions the failure to achieve the target set for indicator 2.2.1, which is the percentage of bodies of the Administration subject to the governmental language policy who reported using tools with regard to the duty of exemplarity.

The result for 2023–2024 is 57%, whereas the target set by the department was 60%.

Given the importance of the State’s exemplarity with regard to language, can the Minister personally commit to making sure next year’s target is achieved, and can he tell us what measures he intends to implement to do so?

(175) Ms. Cadet (Bourassa-Sauvé) – 2 October 2024
To the Minister of the French Language

Page 13 of the 2023–2024 annual report of the Office québécois de la langue française and the Commission de toponymie mentions an inspection process, established under section 167 of the Charter of the French Language, to assess the level of compliance of employers with regard to the legislative provisions regulating the requirement to have knowledge of a language other than French to keep a position or to obtain a position, in particular through recruitment, hiring, transfer or promotion.

According to the report, an analysis of 500 job offers in the finance and insurance sector and the retail sector reveals that 9 out of 10 companies do not comply with the new provisions of the Charter.

Can the Minister tell us what additional measures he intends to implement so that the obligations set out in the Charter are better known and respected by the companies of these sectors?

(176) Ms. Cadet (Bourassa-Sauvé) – 3 October 2024

To the Minister of the French Language

The 2023–2024 annual management report of the Ministère de la Langue française states that the targets set for the presence of members of visible and ethnic minorities in the Ministère’s regular and casual workforce have not been met.

The results are below the targets for all staffing regions, except the Capitale-Nationale region.

Furthermore, there are no members of visible and ethnic minorities in the Ministère’s management staff, despite a representation target of 6%.

Can the Minister tell us what actions he intends to take to achieve these objectives?

(177) Ms. Cadet (Bourassa-Sauvé) – 3 October 2024

To the Minister of the French Language

The 2023–2024 annual report of the Office québécois de la langue française and the Commission de toponymie states, on pages 46 to 49, that many targets for the hiring of visible and ethnic minorities and for their presence in the Office’s regular and casual workforce have not been met.

The report shows that the hiring rates for members of target groups for regular and casual employment have declined steadily in recent years and are far below the objective of 25%.

Furthermore, the presence of members of visible and ethnic minorities in the Office’s regular and casual workforce is declining and falling short of the targets set.

Given that the Office has increased its total workforce by more than 70 FTEs in 2023–2024, can the Minister tell us why these targets have not been met, and what measures he personally intends to take to ensure they are met in the future?

(178) Ms. Cadet (Bourassa-Sauvé) – 3 October 2024

To the Minister of the French Language

The 2023–2024 annual management report of the Ministère de la Langue française states that the Direction de la francophonie canadienne is now under the Ministère’s responsibility. On page 14 of the report, it is noted that the service standards commitment to process requests related to the Direction’s programs within a maximum of 60 days has not been met.

The result for 2023–2024 is 36%, while the objective set by the Ministère was 85%.

The Ministère cites several reasons for this failure, including the implementation of a new subsidy management platform, delays in confirming co-funding for intergovernmental cooperation projects, and delays attributable to the Direction’s transfer within the Ministère.

Can the Minister give us an overview of the situation for the first six months of the 2024–2025 fiscal year and confirm that, if the trend continues, the 85% commitment will be met by 31 March?

(179) Mr. Bérubé (Matane-Matapédia) – 3 October 2024

To the Minister of Transport and Sustainable Mobility

For the second year in a row, the Rimouski-Forestville ferry service has been suspended. Established more than 25 years ago, this seasonal link plays an essential role for the Bas-Saint-Laurent and Côte-Nord regions. Radio-Canada recently reported that a new promoter has expressed an interest in operating the ferry.

My question is the following:

Given the importance of the Rimouski-Forestville ferry for the residents, workers and companies of the region, does the Québec government intend to provide financial support or implement a specific strategy to ensure the resumption and sustainability of the ferry service, while considering the issues related to operating costs and user access?

(180) Mr. Bérubé (Matane-Matapédia) – 3 October 2024
To the Minister of Economy, Innovation and Energy

Since 2022, Ville de Rimouski and the municipality of Grande-Rivière have been actively working to implement an innovation zone, the Blue Zone, to promote research, innovation, industrial development and entrepreneurship in the marine sector. The official announcement of the creation of the Blue Zone is, to this day, highly anticipated in Eastern Québec.

My questions are the following:

- Can the Minister confirm if the Government still intends to implement this innovation zone?
- If so, what is the expected deadline for its implementation?
- If not, what are the reasons behind the eventual delay or abandonment of this initiative?

(181) Mr. Cliche-Rivard (Saint-Henri–Sainte-Anne) – 8 October 2024
To the Minister of Justice

On 17 November 2022, federal Bill C-5, An Act to amend the Criminal Code and the Controlled Drug and Substances Act, received the Royal Assent necessary to become an Act of Parliament (c. 15), and thus became applicable in all Canadian provinces. Though its purpose was to repeal minimum penalties, the Act also opened the door to diversion for simple possession of drugs.

Given that Québec does not have federal prosecutors and that it is up to the Minister of Justice to provide clear guidelines on the application of that Act, my colleague, the Member for Sherbrooke, questioned the Minister a few months later, on 22 March 2023, on how he intended to give effect to the coming into force of the Act. The Association des intervenants en dépendance du Québec (AIDQ) also organized a forum at the end of March 2023 on Chapter 15 of the Criminal Code. Its goal was for Québec to establish an application policy for harm reduction. The group invited the Minister to the forum so that he could provide clarification on the application of the Act, but he rejected the invitation.

On 27 April 2023, the Member for Sherbrooke received a reply to her written question. It stated that the Minister of Justice had planned measures in substitution of the traditional judicial process, that he had developed an approach that is adapted to the Act, and that a guideline had been published on the matter in the Gazette officielle du Québec on 24 April 2023. The Minister also insisted that he would continue to work closely with the community sector. However, workers of the community sector, including some, if not all, health and social services network employees, were not informed of the new guideline. Police forces were also kept in the dark. On 25 April 2023, the day following the Minister's notice, the Directeur des poursuites criminelles et pénales (DPCP) amended its "DRO-1" directive, which is solely intended for prosecutors. The amendment did not include any instructions that prevented the laying of charges for simple possession of drugs. Rather, it added criteria, allowing prosecutors to assess whether to initiate a prosecution.

Then, in July 2024, we learned from a Radio-Canada article that the police services of Montréal, Laval, Gatineau, Sherbrooke, Châteauguay and Granby were still not aware of the new guideline or directive. As such, they continue to enforce the Act by transmitting cases for simple possession to the DPCP, even though the latter may not follow up on them. This wastes time and money in a context where police officers are overworked, and has a human impact on the people caught up in the legal system.

At the end of September, a little over a year after the coming into force of the guideline, I learned, through an access to information request submitted to the department, that in the four months following the implementation of the new directive, 5,069 criminal cases involving drug possession had been opened. Only five of these case were the subject of a diversion. I have also just learned, via an access to information request made to the SPVM, that, since April 2023, the number of cases involving simple possession offences is higher than it was before the tabling of the Minister's new guideline. Furthermore, the SPVM has not yet received additional information on, or a framework for, the implementation of the new guideline. Consequently, more than one year after its coming into force, it is undeniable that further clarification and directives are greatly needed.

My questions to the Minister of Justice are the following:

- Does he commit to mobilize, in a coherent manner, all the stakeholders concerned (legal sector, police forces, public health, health and social services network, including the community sector and users, elected officials) so as to integrate a shared vision on diversion for simple possession offences?
- Can he make available the framework for assessing the efficiency of the new ministerial guideline?

(182) Ms. Setlakwe (Mont-Royal–Outremont) – 8 October 2024

To the Minister of Municipal Affairs

For some time now, the media have been reporting on a spending reduction policy in government departments. Overtime is now prohibited, and travel expenses are also limited. In other words, departments only provide services between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

In small municipalities, the vast majority of elected municipal officials carry out their elective duties on a part-time basis, and municipal council meetings are held in the evening. As a result, the department's regional offices are often required to support elected municipal officials outside regular business hours.

With the new measure imposed by the Minister, I worry that the department will no longer be present on the field, in particular to provide support in the context of information sessions on the role and responsibilities of elected officials, as well as for conflict management, intermunicipal cooperation, and the examination of the regrouping of municipalities. The department also offers essential services with regard to local and regional development and land planning.

Can the Minister confirm whether such a spending policy exists? Also, has she assessed the impact of such a measure on the municipal sector, in particular for the smallest municipalities in the regions? Lastly, can she table the directive and the assessment, if any?

(183) Ms. McGraw (Notre-Dame-de-Grâce) – 8 October 2024

To the Minister Responsible for Social Solidarity and Community Action

The goal of the 2017–2023 Government Action Plan to Foster Economic Inclusion and Social Participation was to significantly reduce poverty in Québec. To do so, one of the plan’s key measures was to lift 100,000 people out of poverty through various initiatives and resources meant to improve the living conditions of those who are most vulnerable.

As the period covered by this plan comes to an end, it is imperative that an overview of the concrete results achieved be provided to assess the efficiency of the measures taken.

In this regard, I would like to know how many people have actually been lifted out of poverty in Québec since the start of this plan?

(184) Mr. Morin (Acadie) – 9 October 2024

To the Minister of Justice

Currently in Québec, the cost for a citizen to obtain an apostille in Québec is $65. That is twice as much as in Ontario and six times as much as in British Columbia.

Can the Minister of Justice tell us why the cost is so different between Québec and the other Canadian provinces?

(185) Mr. Morin (Acadie) – 9 October 2024

To the Minister of Justice

During consultations on Bill 56, the Chambre des notaires informed us that it was working on the development of new practices and training to provide notaries with a clear process to follow to ensure the consent of all parties to notarial acts.

Based on that information, the Minister of Justice decided not to include any more specific measures on the subject in his family law reform bill.

The bill was tabled almost eight months ago, and assented to five months ago.

Can the Minister of Justice tell us what actions he has taken to ensure that everything will be ready for the coming into force of the Act on 30 June 2025?
