A WORD FROM THE PRESIDENT

I am proud to present the Activity Report of the National Assembly of Québec for the 2014-2015 fiscal year. This report presents an overview of a year that was particularly marked by a general election, on 7 April 2014. The National Assembly welcomed 44 new Members, and for eight of them, this election marked their return to the Assembly after an interruption in their political career.

Right from the 1st Session of the 41st Legislature, on 20 May 2014, the Members unanimously did me the honour of re-electing me as President of the National Assembly for a third term of office. I thank them for placing their trust in me and assure them that I will fulfill my duties with the requisite impartiality.

Among the more noteworthy activities of the past year was the official visit of the President of the French Republic, Mr. François Hollande, who addressed the parliamentarians on 4 November 2014. During his visit, I had the honour of awarding him the President's Medal.

Furthermore, on a different note entirely, the Parliament Building's infrastructure improvement project was launched. We live in a world where the security issue has taken centre stage. This project therefore focuses on installations and security measures. It also aims to improve reception areas, access to visitors as well as services to committees, parliamentarians and citizens. It will include work to bring infrastructure up to standards, this work having become necessary to meet Members' needs, which have evolved considerably since the completion of the Parliament Building's construction in 1886.

The year 2014-2015 was highlighted by landmark dates that were underlined by the National Assembly. Thus, on the occasion of the 20th anniversary of the Amicale des anciens parlementaires du Québec (association of former parliamentarians), the Histoires de députés exhibition was launched in May 2014. Subsequently, to commemorate the centennial of the beginning of the First World War, the Library set up an exhibit entitled "Souvenirs de la Guerre 14-18, les collections de l'Assemblée nationale".

History is in the making day after day within our walls, and while the National Assembly plays an instrumental role in making history, it is also a witness thereof. That was again the case this past year. In addition to the exhibitions, a plaque was unveiled and placed on an exterior wall of the Parliament Building in memory of the victims of the May 1984 shooting: Messrs. Georges Boyer, Roger Lefrançois and Camille Lepage. An emotional ceremony was held in September 2014.

Lastly, I hope this report will allow you to fully grasp the scope of the work of the Members and the personnel of the National Assembly and help you become better acquainted with the exercise of democracy in Québec.

Enjoy your reading!

A WORD FROM THE SECRETARY GENERAL

Like the President, I am proud to present this 16th activity report, which provides an overview of parliamentary work and the achievements of the National Assembly during the past year.

The mission of the Assembly's administration is to provide all of the services and resources that are required by parliamentarians to support them in the exercise of their duties as legislators, overseers of the public administration and representatives of their fellow citizens. The General Directorate for Legal and Parliamentary Affairs, the General Directorate for Administration and the General Directorate for Institutional Affairs and the National Assembly Library are the administration's three main sectors.

Following the general election of 7 April 2014, the National Assembly launched a large-scale operation to welcome the newly-elected Members. Once again, administrative staff members made exceptional efforts to expeditiously provide the necessary services and tools to Members, both at the Parliament and in the constituencies, in order for them to begin their term of office.

Year after year, the Assembly's 700 plus staff members enable Members to perform their duties effectively, whether at the National Assembly, in the parliamentary committees or in their riding. We offer a variety of services. These range from the preparation, follow-up and broadcasting of parliamentary proceedings to the safety of persons and the security of buildings, through the management of human, financial and material resources, research and information services, telecommunications and computer services, as well as restaurants, visitor services and communications with the citizens, management of the architectural and documentary heritage, parliamentary diplomacy and many more. A review of the services offered has been initiated mainly to optimize and modernize support provided to parliamentarians.

Each and every member of our staff is important and contributes, through his or her talent, creativity and knowledge, to making our institution a Parliament that is open, modern and efficient, in the service of Members and the population. The members of this great National Assembly staff team form an invaluable resource on which MNAs can always rely, wherever they may be. I am very proud of this and, once again, express my deepest thanks and appreciation to them.

Secretary General of the National Assembly

Beginning of the 41st Legislature

The 125 Members of the 41st Legislature were elected in the general election held on 7 April 2014. This new Parliament officially opened when the Secretary General of the Assembly received the list of candidates declared elected from the Chief Electoral Officer.

On 20 May, at the opening of the First Session, Mr. Jacques Chagnon, Member for Westmount–Saint-Louis, was re-elected as President of the National Assembly. Furthermore, Mr. François Ouimet, Ms. Maryse Gaudreault and Mr. François Gendron were elected as Vice-Presidents.

Visit of François Hollande

The President of the French Republic, Mr. François Hollande, was welcomed in the National Assembly Chamber on 4 November 2014, where he delivered a speech to the Québec parliamentarians and several guests. “Over and above our friendship, our history, our exchanges, I am here today in hopes of giving renewed impetus to our relations”, he emphasized. Mr. Hollande also noted that culture is even more beautiful when it is expressed in French. During the ceremony, the President of the National Assembly, Mr. Jacques Chagnon, awarded him the President’s Medal.

Launching of Par ici la démocratie website

User-friendly and up-to-date, the National Assembly's new tool box is a reliable source of information as regards history and citizenship education. Online since 27 August 2014, the Par ici la démocratie website echoes the National Assembly's desire to reach young people in educational institutions to acquaint them with the role of parliamentarians and democracy in society.

Par ici la démocratie is:

- A youthful and visually pleasing interface;
- A user-friendly pedagogical tool;
- Jargon-free and streamlined, free and modifiable content;
- A thematic, dynamic and original historical timeline;
- A personal space allowing users to pin articles, photos, maps and graphs;
- A portal showcasing the activities on education for democracy offered by the National Assembly.

In March 2015, this website received the "Mérite du français dans les technologies de l'information" award by the Office de la langue française.

Unveiling of a plaque honouring the victims of the 1984 shooting

On 18 September 2014, a moving ceremony marked the unveiling, by the President of the National Assembly, Mr. Jacques Chagnon, of a plaque in memory of the victims of the 8 May 1984 shooting, which plaque was installed on an exterior wall of the Parliament Building. The names of the three victims, Messrs. Georges Boyer, Roger Lefrançois and Camille Lepage, are engraved in bronze. Some one hundred people attended the ceremony, including the victims' loved ones and Mr. Marc Jalbert, son of Sergeant-at-Arms René Jalbert. It should be noted that, by his courageous actions, Mr. Jalbert, now deceased, prevented the loss of many more lives. Mr. Chagnon underlined that the victims were killed while in the service of democracy.

New exhibitions: Histoires de députés and Souvenirs de la guerre 14-18 : les collections de l'Assemblée nationale

Prepared from National Assembly archives, two new exhibitions opened in 2014-2015. Inaugurated on 13 May and presented on the occasion of the 20th anniversary of the creation of the Amicale des anciens parlementaires du Québec, the Histoires de députés exhibition highlights the roles and responsibilities of Québec parliamentarians as well as their everyday lives at the Parliament.

An exhibition marking the 100th anniversary of the beginning of the First World War, Souvenirs de la Guerre 14-18 : les collections de l'Assemblée nationale, opened at the Library on 24 September 2014. This anniversary was underlined in various ways by several organizations across Québec, Canada and internationally.

Both exhibitions will be on display for National Assembly visitors again in 2015.

Infrastructure improvement project

The world in which we live has changed considerably since 1886, the year that the construction of the Parliament Building was completed. The work of parliamentarians has greatly evolved and the number and nature of the activities that take place therein are quite different.

In terms of security, it is now obvious, in light of the tragic events that unfolded last fall at the Parliament in Ottawa, in particular, but also elsewhere in the world, that the security issue has become unavoidable, even within our parliamentary institutions.

It is for this reason that the Office of the National Assembly tasked architecture and engineering professionals to design the plans and specifications of the National Assembly's infrastructure improvement project. Continuation of construction work will be conditional on obtaining the approval of the Office of the National Assembly in fall 2015.

THE WORK OF MEMBERS

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

Mission of the National Assembly

The National Assembly of Québec constitutes the foundation of legislative power. It is composed of the Members elected by the population of Québec in each of the 125 electoral divisions. The responsibility for debating and passing bills and the budget lies with the Members. They also debate all matters of public interest, most notably in standing committees. The duration of the collective term of office of these Members, between two general elections, is called a “legislature”.

Composition of the Assembly

The most recent general election was held on 7 April 2014.

Québec Liberal Party	69
Parti québécois	30

THE CHAIR

The Assembly must elect a President at the opening of the first meeting in every Legislature. On 20 May 2014, the Assembly thus proceeded to elect its President and Vice-Presidents. On this occasion, Mr. Jacques Chagnon, Member for Westmount–Saint-Louis, was re-elected President of the National Assembly. As he was the only Member of the Assembly to have filed a declaration of candidacy with the Office of the Secretary General, the Presiding Officer, Mr. François Gendron, declared Mr. Chagnon elected President. Mr. Gendron was acting as longest-serving Member of the Assembly.

Definition of longest-serving Member of the Assembly: He or she is the Member who has served longest as a Member of the Assembly, but who is not a Member who stands candidate for the office of President, nor any minister, nor the leader of any parliamentary group, nor any member of the Committee on the National Assembly.

President's Oath

As he had done at the opening of the 40th Legislature, the President took the oath before the Secretary General following his election.

Election of the three vice-presidents

Mr. François Ouimet, Member for Marquette, Ms. Maryse Gaudreault, Member for Hull, and Mr. François Gendron, Member for Abitibi-Ouest, were elected as First, Second and Third Vice-President of the Assembly, respectively.

Parliamentary Work

DIRECTIVE FROM THE CHAIR

Allocation of instruments of parliamentary oversight and speaking time

Owing to the new composition of the Assembly since the last general election, and as is customary under such circumstances, the President of the Assembly gave an important directive at the sitting of 26 May 2014 on the management of question period and the allocation of measures and speaking time for the duration of the legislature.

To this end, he based his directive particularly on the major principles established over the years by parliamentary jurisprudence.

Among these principles are:

- the preponderant role traditionally played by the Official Opposition;
- the right for any Member to ask a question during Oral Question Period;
- the relative proportion of each parliamentary group and the independent Members.

So that each Member may fully and efficiently fulfill his role, the following instruments of parliamentary oversight were thus allocated among the parliamentary groups and the independent Members:

- questions assigned during Oral Question Period;
- motions discussed during business standing in the name of Members in opposition;
- interpellations;
- statements by Members;
- debates upon adjournment;
- speaking times during the various limited debates.

Discussions among the political parties represented in the Assembly subsequently led to the adoption of the Agreement relating to the conduct of proceedings in the National Assembly and in parliamentary committees as well as to parliamentary offices and budgetary aspects.

By this agreement, in addition to reiterating the allocation of instruments of parliamentary oversight stipulated in the directive handed down on 26 May, the Members agreed on various conditions surrounding committee work, including:

- the composition of committees;
- the allocation of chairs, vice-chairs and temporary chairs;
- the allocation of speaking time.

Furthermore, other provisions contained in this agreement concern budgetary matters and the recognition of the parliamentary offices of caucus chair, deputy House leader and second committee vice-chair for the Second Opposition Group.

At the sitting of 2 June 2014, the Assembly adopted the temporary amendments stemming from this agreement for the duration of the 41st Legislature.

Government bills	25, 60% of which were passed unanimously
Private Members' public bills	None
Private bills	4 bills, all passed unanimously

At the Premier's request, the National Assembly may hold an extraordinary sitting outside the period provided for in the parliamentary calendar. This request is addressed to the President or, in his absence, to the Secretary General.

In 2014-2015, at the request of the Premier, the National Assembly was summoned to extraordinary sittings on two occasions:

- on 3 July, to complete the consideration and adoption of the estimates of expenditure for the 2014-2015 fiscal year;
- on 6 February 2015, to complete the examination of Bill 10, An Act to modify the organization and governance of the health and social services network, in particular by abolishing the regional agencies.

ROUTINE PROCEEDINGS

An Assembly sitting consists of two distinct periods, the first being Routine Proceedings. This part is divided into items of business devoted to information provided by the Government to the National Assembly.

0.1 ■ Statements by Members

This item of business, which signals the beginning of a sitting, is an opportunity for Members, including ministers, to make a one-minute statement on a particular matter. Up to ten Members may make a statement per sitting.

1 ■ Statements by Ministers

Ministers may make statements to the Assembly on any subject they deem appropriate, such as the announcement of a government policy or the Government's reaction to a particular event.

In 2014-2015, three ministers made statements.

- On 18 November, the Minister of Sustainable Development, the Environment and the Fight Against Climate Change made a statement about the fight against climate change.
- On 20 November, the Minister of Families made a statement about the Government's family policy.
- On 10 February 2015, the Minister of Finance made a statement about establishing a tax holiday for businesses carrying out large investment projects.

2 ■ Introduction of bills

Members do not discuss the content of bills at this point; they simply allow them to be submitted for consideration during subsequent stages of the legislative process. In all, 54 bills were introduced in the National Assembly in 2014-2015, including:

- 34 Government bills;
- 15 Private Members' public bills;
- 5 private bills.

3 ■ Presenting papers, reports from committees and petitions

Between 1 April 2014 and 31 March 2015, 963 papers were tabled in the National Assembly. They are divided as follows:

Report on a mission	1
Replies to written questions placed on the Order Paper	38
Reports from the Law Clerk	5
Decisions from the Office of the Assembly	11
Petitions	141
Replies to petitions	86
Committee reports	79
Annual reports (departments and agencies)	278
Other documents	324
TOTAL:	963

4 ■ Complaints of Breach of Privilege or Contempt and Personal Explanations

A Member may call attention to any breach of the privileges or immunities of the Assembly or of its Members. With the permission of the President of the Assembly, a Member may also explain a matter that concerns him or her as a Member of the Assembly. For instance, a Member may wish to call attention to inaccuracies contained in the written record of one of his or her speeches, refute allegations made in a publication, or explain remarks that have been misinterpreted.

5 ■ Oral Questions and Answers

Question Period lasts 45 minutes during which Members may question ministers on any matter that is of public interest. This constitutes one of the means by which Members hold the Government accountable for its actions.

The following statistics are based on the parliamentary calendar, not on the fiscal year:

41st Legislature, 1st Session, spring 2014:

Number of hours devoted to Oral Questions and Answers:

10 hr. 17 min.

Number of main questions	158
Number of supplementary questions	302

41st Legislature, 1st Session, fall 2014:

Number of hours devoted to Oral Questions and Answers:

22 hr. 04 min.

Number of main questions	321
Number of supplementary questions	615

6 ■ Deferred Divisions

Votes are taken in the Assembly either by a show of hands or by recorded division. The President may, at the request of the Government House Leader, defer any division until later on the same sitting day. He may likewise defer such division until the Routine Proceedings on the next sitting day thereafter.

7 ■ Motions Without Notice

This stage of Routine Proceedings is set aside expressly to allow Members to discuss motions that have not first been placed on the Order Paper and Notices.

8 ■ Notices of Proceedings in Committees

This item of business enables the Government House Leader to communicate to the Assembly details concerning the committee proceedings held in pursuance of an order of reference from the Assembly. The President also informs the Assembly of the notices of proceedings in committees pursuant to an order made on their own initiative.

9 ■ Information on the Proceedings of the Assembly

The last heading under Routine Proceedings allows the Government House Leader, on his own initiative or at the invitation of a Member, to communicate to the Assembly any information on the proceedings of the Assembly. Requests for information must solely concern items of business placed on the Order Paper and Notices. At this stage, the President may also be called upon to give the Assembly information regarding its proceedings.

ORDERS OF THE DAY

The second part of a sitting at the National Assembly, the Orders of the Day, is devoted mainly to debates on bills at any stage of consideration. At this time, the National Assembly also takes into consideration all other substantive motions for debate.

1 ■ Business Having Precedence

As the name indicates, this business takes precedence over all other matters due to its importance or urgency. The opening speech of the session, delivered by the Premier, and the speeches by the leaders of the parliamentary groups or their representatives during the subsequent debate rank first among business having precedence. Other business having precedence includes the budget speech and want of confidence motions. The opening speech of the First Session of the 41st Legislature was delivered on 21 May 2014, and two budget speeches were delivered, on 4 June 2014, when the newly-elected Government presented its 2014-2015 budget, and on 26 March 2015.

2 ■ Urgent Debates

Any Member may ask leave to debate a definite and important matter involving the responsibility of the Assembly that requires urgent consideration and cannot be, or could not have been, otherwise discussed. The President decides, without debate, whether or not the matter is proper to be discussed. If leave is granted, a two-hour limited debate shall arise on the matter submitted. The debate shall expire without question put. One urgent debate was requested in 2014-2015, which request was ruled inadmissible.

3 ■ Debates on Reports from Committees

Committee reports that contain recommendations are entered on the Order Paper and Notices the day after they are tabled in the National Assembly and must be taken into consideration within 15 days. In 2014-2015, three debates on committee reports containing recommendations were held.

4 ■ Other Business Standing on the Order Paper

At this time, the National Assembly goes through the various stages of studying bills, notably passage in principle, consideration of reports from committees that have examined bills and the passage of bills.

5 ■ Business Standing in the Name of Members in Opposition

Business Standing in the Name of Members in Opposition is taken on Wednesdays, except during any period in which the Assembly has extended hours of meeting, during which period such debates may not be held. The President decides the sequence in which items placed on the Order Paper by Members in opposition are to be raised.

Fourteen motions were debated during Business Standing in the Name of Members in Opposition in 2014-2015. Eight motions were moved by Members of the Official Opposition, five by Members of the Second Opposition Group, and one by an independent Member. Of the 14 motions debated, two were carried.

Written questions placed on the Order Paper and debates upon adjournment

During Oral Question Period, questions must relate to matters of urgent or topical public importance for which a minister or the Government is officially responsible. All other questions must be written. Fifty-seven written questions were placed on the Order Paper in 2014-2015. Replies to written questions are tabled by the Government House Leader at the time set aside for this purpose during the Routine Proceedings.

Moreover, pursuant to Standing Order 308, any Member who is of the opinion that a matter he has raised during oral question period has not been sufficiently discussed may debate it further upon adjournment. Debates upon adjournment are held on Tuesdays and Thursdays and not more than three debates may be held per sitting. There are no debates upon adjournment during any period in which the Assembly has extended hours of meeting. In the past year, 41 debates upon adjournment were held.

Work carried out in the standing committees

A considerable portion of parliamentary work is carried out in standing committees, where Members exercise their roles as legislators and controllers of the Government's actions. These committees bring together a dozen Members of the various political parties that make up the National Assembly and are responsible for examining any matter under their authority. In committee, the public can express its views during public consultations on bills or important societal issues. In committee, Members also closely examine bills and the Government's estimates of expenditure, as well as monitor the activities of departments and Government agencies. Furthermore, on their own initiative, they may elect to investigate any other matter under their authority.

For the schedule of standing committee sittings, please visit our website at assnat.qc.ca.

During the months of October and November 2014, 14 sittings were held in which 64 groups and individuals were heard during public hearings. Clause-by-clause consideration of the bill, which began in December 2014, continued in January and February 2015.

On 6 February 2015, the Assembly was summoned to an extraordinary sitting, thus ending the bill's clause-by-clause consideration by the Committee on Health and Social Services. Following a motion moved by the Government House leader for the Assembly to adopt an exceptional legislative procedure, the bill's clause-by-clause consideration was completed in Committee of the Whole. It should be noted that 77 Internet users submitted comments on this bill.

The Committee on Health and Social Services was one of the busiest committees in 2014-2015. During the months of February and March 2015, it held more special consultations and public hearings, this time on Bill 20, An Act to enact the Act to promote access to family medicine and specialized medicine services and to amend various legislative provisions relating to assisted procreation. The examination of petitions

Each year, a large number of petitions are tabled in the National Assembly. An abstract of each of these petitions is forwarded to the members of the competent parliamentary committees. Multilateral relations

PARLIAMENTARY ASSEMBLY OF THE FRANCOPHONIE

APF - Assemblée parlementaire de la Francophonie (the Parliamentary Assembly of the Francophonie): Founded in 1967, composed of members from 81 parliaments and interparliamentary organizations on the five continents (National Assembly of Québec: full member since 1975).

The National Assembly plays a very active role within the Parliamentary Assembly of the Francophonie (APF). During the past year, the parliamentarians notably continued their work towards promoting the French language and the diversity of cultural expressions, developing interparliamentary cooperation, and consolidating peace, democracy and human rights in the French-speaking world.

It is within this context that a National Assembly delegation took part in the 40th Session of the APF, held in Ottawa from 3 to 8 July 2014. The Ottawa Session provided an opportunity to promote Québec's perspective on the priority issues of the Francophonie. During the general debate on the theme of the 2014 Summit of La Francophonie, Women and youth in the Francophonie: Vectors of peace, actors for development, the President of the National Assembly advocated for the rights of women in French-speaking countries through the fight against violence, access to quality education at all levels and the integration of an approach aiming at gender equality in the United Nations' forthcoming Post-2015 Sustainable Development Agenda.

Furthermore, from 4 to 7 August 2014, the National Assembly took part in the 30th session of the Americas Regional Assembly, which brought together over twenty parliamentarians. This meeting focussed mainly on social media and parliaments. For the first time, the Parlement francophone des jeunes des Amériques (PFJA) was held concurrently with the regional assembly. A joint working meeting bringing together the PFJA's aspiring parliamentarians and those of the Americas Region was held.

Moreover, a woman Member of the National Assembly represented the APF's Network of Women Parliamentarians at the 59th session of the UN Commission on the Status of Women, which was held in New York City in March 2015. This meeting was the high point of the 20th anniversary celebration of the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action. The Member defended the Network's positions before the French-speaking ministers for the status of women who had gathered on the margins of the Commission's proceedings, in addition to promoting Québec's gender equality policies before various international players.

The 32nd Canadian Presiding Officers' Conference was held in Winnipeg, Manitoba, in January 2015. As in previous years, the Assembly was represented by its President, two Vice-Presidents and the Director General of Legal and Parliamentary Affairs. This conference allows parliamentarians and their staff to take part in discussions on topics of interest to the Chair as well as on parliamentary procedure. It should be noted that the President delivered a speech on security issues as viewed through the lens of parliamentary privileges. The Conference's various workshops, which were also attended by the other assembly speakers, gave the President the opportunity to share the National Assembly's experience and exchange views with his Canadian counterparts on various issues.

PARLIAMENTARY CONFEDERATION OF THE AMERICAS

COPA - Parliamentary Confederation of the Americas: created in 1997 on the initiative of the Québec National Assembly, it brings together the parliamentary assemblies and the interparliamentary organizations of the Americas.

The National Assembly plays an important role within COPA. During the past year, Québec Members actively participated in its various proceedings by promoting Québec's interests, in addition to taking part in decisions concerning the institutional workings and strengthening of the organization.

Host of the meeting in Mexico, Ms. Dora Elena Real Salinas, Executive Secretary of COPA and State of Mexico Member of Parliament

The National Assembly took part in the meetings of the Committee on Education, Culture, Science and Technology and the Committee on Environment and Sustainable Development that were held in Toluca, Mexico, on 6 and 7 August 2014. The themes of the Education Committee's proceedings focussed on school reintegration and adult education, professional training, quality of education and bullying in schools. The Québec Member holding the office of rapporteur of this committee participated in the continental roundtable on quality of education. He also presented and tabled the final report on school reintegration and adult education in the Americas, in addition to taking part in discussions on this theme. The Québec parliamentarians also attended various conferences of the Committee on Environment and Sustainable Development, concerning, among other topics, climate change strategies and adaptation measures in development policies and air quality.

Furthermore, the National Assembly actively participated in the meeting of the Committee on Human Rights, Aboriginal Peoples and Citizen Security held in Saltillo, Mexico, from 8 to 10 August 2014. The parliamentarians notably took part in the Seminar on Migration and the Disappearance of Persons, which brought together international experts on human rights.

A delegation of National Assembly parliamentarians also took part in the various proceedings of the 13th General Assembly of COPA and in the 12th annual meeting of the Network of Women Parliamentarians of the Americas, held in Asunción, Paraguay, from 3 to 5 November 2014.

On this occasion, the Québec Members contributed to the discussions on chronic diseases, the Ebola virus epidemic, the integration of public health policies, the arms trade, electoral observation and social economy. Several experts and stakeholders gave presentations on these themes. Furthermore, while chairing the proceedings of the Committee on Democracy and Peace, a Québec woman Member presented the Committee's work plan for the coming year and had the Committee adopt a recommendation on the dispatch of an electoral observation mission. Lastly, a resolution on the Protocol Against the Illicit Manufacturing of and Trafficking in Firearms, their Parts, Components and Ammunition presented by this Member was adopted by the Committee members.

The 12th Annual Meeting of the Network of Women Parliamentarians of the Americas was also held in Asunción. The Network's Québec representative presented the report of the Network Secretariat, which is lodged at the National Assembly, as well as a report on the follow-up to the Interparliamentary Seminar on the 20th anniversary of the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action. This seminar was held at the Québec National Assembly on 21 and 22 January 2014. The representative and another Québec woman Member had the Seminar's Québec Declaration adopted by the Network and the COPA General Assembly.

In addition to taking part in the debates and proceedings, the Québec Members contributed to the planning of the COPA activities for the upcoming year. They also participated in the decisions concerning the organization's finances, the workings of the secretariats and the institutional strengthening of COPA.

AMERICAN PARLIAMENTARY ORGANIZATIONS

CSG - Council of State Governments: Organization created in 1933, composed of representatives of the executive, legislative and judicial powers from the 50 United States and 6 American territories (National Assembly of Québec: international associated member since 1995).

ERC/CSG - Eastern Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments: Organization that constitutes the Eastern Chapter of the CSG and is composed of parliamentarians and governmental representatives from the Northeastern United States as well as five Canadian member provinces (National Assembly of Québec: international associated member since 1990).

NCSL - National Conference of State Legislatures: American interparliamentary organization founded in 1975, composed of parliamentarians and public servants of the legislative assemblies from the 50 United States and 6 American territories (National Assembly of Québec: international associated member since 2000).

With the beginning of a new legislature, the National Assembly continued its efforts to promote and defend the interests of Québec in the influential forums provided by the major interparliamentary organizations of the United States. Parliamentarians from the National Assembly took part in a dozen activities bringing together American legislators and policymakers, in order to consolidate the National Assembly's position within these organizations, to promote Québec therein and strengthen their efficiency as elected officials.

On 24 and 25 July 2014, the National Assembly hosted the meeting of the Great Lakes Legislative Caucus. In addition to raising American and Ontarian parliamentarians' awareness of this region's environmental issues and the impact of the Great Lakes' health on the St. Lawrence River, this meeting provided an opportunity to promote economic exchanges between Québec and the Midwest, particularly through marine transportation.

Cross-border exchanges took centre stage at the Annual Meeting of the Eastern Regional Conference (ERC/CSG), which was held in Baltimore, Maryland, from 2 to 6 August 2014. Indeed, the Québec delegation was instrumental in the adoption of a resolution asking that cargo pre-inspection and preclearance operations extend to all major border crossings between Canada and the United States, including those located in Québec. Furthermore, Québec parliamentarians took part in the proceedings of the Committee on Energy and the Environment on the modernization of American electrical infrastructure. At the end of this meeting, it was agreed that the National Assembly would host the organization's 56th Annual Meeting, which will be held from 6 to 10 August 2016.

Furthermore, Québec Members took part in the proceedings and attended the various conferences at the Annual Conference of the Council of State Governments (CSG), held in Anchorage, Alaska, from 9 to 13 August 2014. The members of the Québec delegation also attended the proceedings of the organization's executive committee, on which the National Assembly sits as an international associated member.

For its part, the Annual Assembly of the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL) was held in Minneapolis, Minnesota, from 18 to 22 August 2014. The Québec parliamentarian who attended this meeting notably participated in the meeting of the working group on energy supply. Moreover, his presence at the meeting of the Natural Resources and Infrastructure Committee provided an opportunity to set the record straight as to the work carried out on Québec's electrical infrastructure, following the solar storm that occurred in March 1989. In accordance with its objectives, the National Assembly adopted, for the second year in a row, the NCSL's policy on climate change.

INTERPARLIAMENTARY COOPERATION

For over fifteen years, the National Assembly has been providing technical support to the parliamentary institutions of States that are in transition or where the consolidation of democracy is taking place, thus allowing them to reinforce their parliamentary and administrative operation. This interparliamentary cooperation reflects the National Assembly's commitment to playing an active role in promoting as well as consolidating democratic institutions worldwide.

The main fields of expertise in which the National Assembly provides its cooperation include all parliamentary and administrative elements contributing to the exercise of elected officials' duties and to ensuring the proper functioning of parliamentary institutions. In general, these actions take the form of seminars and various discussion, information, training and development workshops. Most interventions are intended for new parliamentarians, secretaries-general as well as public servants assigned to either parliamentary or administrative duties.

20th General Assembly of the Ontario-Québec Parliamentary Association

In 2014-2015, the National Assembly continued to support the National Assembly of Côte d'Ivoire (ANCI) by providing technical assistance with regard to human resources management (July 2014). This mission allowed for the production and implementation of a human resources management strategy for the ANCI. This mission was carried out in collaboration with the State University of New York (SUNY) and the Parliamentary Assembly of the Francophonie (APF). Additional missions to implement this strategy are scheduled for 2015, as well as support with regard to archives and documentary research. To provide a framework for this collaboration and to extend it to other countries that might need it, a memorandum of understanding was signed in March 2015 with SUNY, a world leader in the strengthening of parliaments. This agreement will allow international funding partners to take over full responsibility of the National Assembly's expertise in future projects implemented by SUNY.

A mission was also carried out in Colombia, in December 2014, to share Québec's experience on mining legislation with the Colombian Congress. This mission was conducted in collaboration with the Parliamentary Centre, based in Ottawa.

The third session of the Morocco-Québec Interparliamentary Standing Committee was held in Rabat in March 2015. The main topics of discussion were the involvement of young people in democratic life and the use of social media.

Finally, it should be noted that on 8 April 2014, the day after the general election in Québec, the National Assembly welcomed a dozen members of the Réseau des compétences électorales francophones (RECEF), within the framework of an international exchange program organized by the Québec Chief Electoral Officer. The Québec National Assembly shared its approach and methods for welcoming and integrating new Members.

Public participation in parliamentary proceedings

Many avenues are open to citizens who wish to take part in the work of Members and thus express their opinions. The “Voice Your Opinion” section of the National Assembly website provides information on how to attend sittings, sign petitions, table briefs, and submit comments on bills under consideration.

It total, 5,331 persons attended the Assembly’s Oral Question Period, while 4,794 persons took part in or attended a standing committee sitting in 2014-2015.

PETITIONS

Any Québec resident may start a petition and present it to the Assembly through a Member of the National Assembly. Any Member may present a petition except the President of the Assembly. Cabinet members, however, generally refrain from doing so. Finally, the Member need not endorse the content of the petition to present it in the House.

A petition may be started by an individual or an association and signed on paper or online on the website of the National Assembly. This site also allows citizens to consult petitions that have already been presented to the Assembly.

Paper petitions	E-petitions	Total petitions presented	Answers to petitions*
70 petitions 195,436 signatures	71 petitions 354,499 signatures	141 petitions 549,935 signatures	116

* Note that a single answer may be given for several petitions concerning the same subject.

Owing to the elections held at the beginning of the 2014-2015 fiscal year, the number of petitions presented to the Assembly is lower than the average of previous years.

COMMENTS RECEIVED

Citizens may leave comments on the website with regard to topics being considered by the Assembly or by the standing committees, regardless of whether a public consultation is being held on the matter. All visitors have to do is complete the online form and forward it electronically or fill it out on paper and send it through regular mail. Comments are then forwarded to the Members so that they may take better account of citizens’ concerns when carrying out their mandates. In 2014-2015, visitors left a total number of 1390 comments regarding 44 mandates, consultation topics, bills and draft bills.

Visitors at the National Assembly

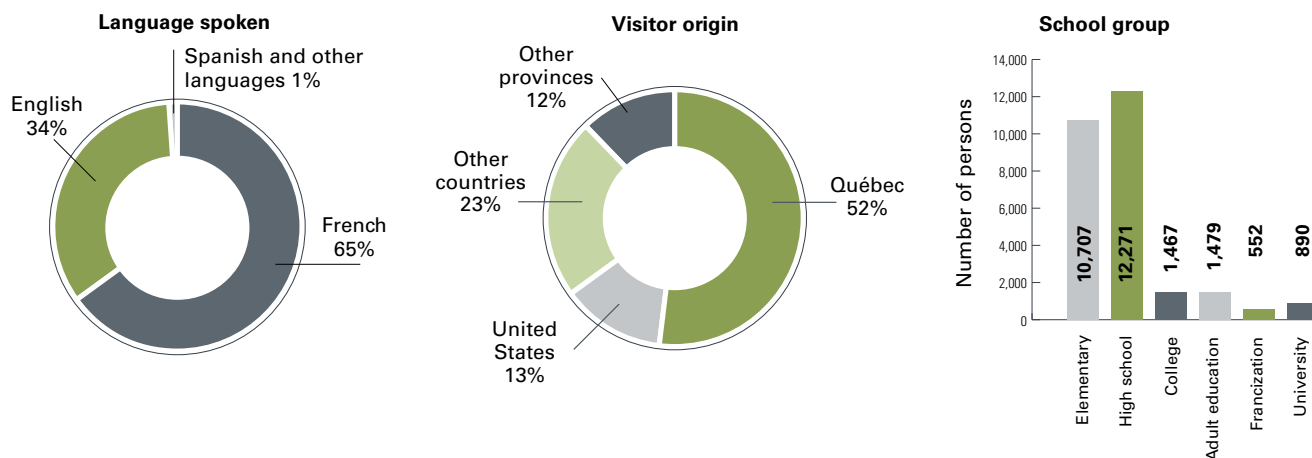

The National Assembly can be discovered in a number of ways. Thus, each year, thousands of visitors take a guided tour or take part in open-house days and brunches.

GUIDED TOURS

In 2014-2015, 87,817 persons took a free guided tour of the Parliament Building, thereby improving their knowledge of the history and workings of the National Assembly. Visitors who are with a group also sometimes have the opportunity to meet with the Member for their riding, which happened 154 times in 2014-2015.

Furthermore, from 24 June to Labour Day, staff members posted at an outdoor kiosk welcome visitors at the Parliament Building entrance. This year, 15,051 persons obtained information from these guides, and 336 among them took an outdoor tour, which includes information on the gardens, statues and architectural features of the Parliament Building.

For more information on the activities of the National Assembly, whether to find out about the work of Members or to reserve a guided tour, citizens may inquire by telephone. This year, the Assembly received 12,694 calls.

OPEN HOUSE DAYS

The National Assembly held open house days on two occasions this year, thus allowing visitors to discover its history, architecture as well as certain areas of the Parliament Building that are not normally accessible to the public.

Thus, 1,422 individuals attended an open house day on the occasion of Québec's national holiday, 24 June. Several activities were organized, including a visit of the clock in the Parliament Building's Central Tower accompanied by master clockmaker André Viger, as well as a guided tour of the gardens and urban agriculture with urban agriculture specialists, the Urbainculteurs.

Furthermore, the National Assembly took part in Culture Days, on 27 and 28 September 2014. Open house visits, exhibitions, brunches and other activities were on the agenda of these festive days that attracted 1,626 persons.

SPECIAL BRUNCHES

On a few occasions during the year, Le Parlementaire restaurant holds brunches to give visitors an opportunity to enjoy a unique culinary experience featuring Québec's regional dishes, in addition to taking a guided tour of the Parliament Building.

Thus, on 10 August, a summer brunch organized during the New France Festival attracted 233 guests, while the one organized during Culture Days attracted 200. Moreover, 535 people attended the two brunches held during the Québec Winter Carnival, on 8 and 15 February.

Familiarization day participants meet parliamentarians and may ask them questions.

FAMILIARIZATION DAYS

Familiarization days for Quebecers from immigrant backgrounds enable these citizens to become more familiar with the democratic institution of the National Assembly. They also have the opportunity to meet the President and some parliamentarians, to exchange views with these Members and to become better acquainted with the history of Québec and the parliamentary system. These days, which take place at the Parliament Building, are organized in collaboration with the Department of Immigration, Diversity and Inclusiveness and the National Capital Commission of Québec.

The Library of the National Assembly

The Library's mission is to provide information and research services to parliamentarians and the administrative branches of the Assembly by providing them with reliable and impartial information and analyses. For these purposes, it offers reference, research, indexing, and document and archival management services.

A LIBRARY THAT OPENS ITS DOORS TO THE PUBLIC

During the past year, 12,204 persons visited the Library of the National Assembly as library users, guests at special events or visitors. In total, 4,803 citizens used the Library's resources and benefited from the welcoming and guidance services as well as training on the use of the available tools. They also had access to the Library catalogue.

Lastly, open houses, guided tours, book launches, exhibitions and conferences held throughout the year attracted over 4,500 visitors.

The Library conferences

Two conferences were held at the Library this year. Within the framework of Culture Days, historian Jean Provencher made a presentation on the following topic: The Great War and the riots of 1918 in Québec City. Furthermore, in November, a lunch and learn session was held with Mr. Carl Pépin on the following theme: The First World War of Quebecers: the necessary rewriting of history.

The painting entitled
"L'incendie du Parlement".

L'incendie du parlement painting

In summer 2014, artist Martin Bureau's painting L'incendie du parlement was donated to the National Assembly and installed in the Library. The work of art is intended as a reflection on democracy, its precariousness and a reminder that our society must be vigilant and concerned about democracy, as indicated on its label, written by Mr. Bureau: "Showing the artist's interest in the critical analysis of established systems, the painting L'incendie du parlement expresses the wish for sustainable democracy, by evoking its precariousness".

The Library also provided research support to the Committee on Public Administration, particularly for the drafting of its December 2014 report on the accountability of the public administration.

During the year, support to interparliamentary and international relations activities resulted in 42 research mandates, in the form of drafting speeches, reports and briefing notes.

INFORMATION AND PUBLICATIONS

In the historical and institutional research sector, work on the Encyclopédie du parlementarisme québécois project, which is available on the National Assembly website, continued at a steady pace. This online encyclopedia aims at organizing and sharing knowledge acquired over the years with regard to parliamentary principles and practices. Additionally, an issue of the Library periodical, the Bulletin de la Bibliothèque, was published in summer 2014.

Moreover, the Library updates several databases that are available online and whose topics include: Québec's political parties, elections and referendums worldwide, public funding of election campaigns, and federalism. Librarians also publish each week a list of the Library's new arrivals and regularly add data to the Bibliographie sur le parlementarisme au Québec, which is available online and constitutes the most comprehensive source of information to date on Québec parliamentary work.

Furthermore, newspaper, magazine, law and regulation databases are available for onsite consultation, as well as the full text of the National Assembly debates since 1867.

THE LIBRARY COLLECTIONS

As at 31 March 2015, over 2.2 million documents, such as monographs, periodicals, newspapers, and microfilms, were available at the Assembly Library. Furthermore, the Library holds over 200,000 of the National Assembly's administrative and historical records, 47 private archival records, over 5,000 objects and artefacts and 72,500 hours of audiovisual and sound recordings of the parliamentary proceedings of the National Assembly.

Lastly, the Library maintains a collection of rare and valuable books consisting of some 9,480 titles. This collection is both a legacy and a testimony of cultural and parliamentary life in Québec. The Pierre-Joseph Olivier Chauveau Collection is the jewel of this group. In 2014-2015, the Library restored six documents of the Rare and Valuable Books Collection, including two from the Chauveau Collection.

Educational mission

The National Assembly is proud to offer various educational activities to young Quebecers. For over thirty years, it has focussed its efforts on working more closely with young people in order to inform and initiate them and give them the tools they will need to fully exercise their role as citizens living in a democracy.

PAR ICI LA DÉMOCRATIE WEBSITE

Launched in fall 2014, the Par ici la démocratie website is the National Assembly's new educational youth zone. It provides a fresh and original look at our parliamentary institutions while enabling a better understanding of the fundamental role of Parliament in society.

This site is designed to serve as an educational tool for social sciences teachers, who can create a personal space allowing them to pin articles, photos, maps, graphs and interactive diagrams that will be useful when planning their courses. The documents presented are free of copyright restrictions, downloadable and editable to meet users' needs. The interface is attractive and adapted to youth and school environments.

FONDATION JEAN-CHARLES-BONENFANT

Internship program

Each year, five ten-month internships are offered to students who have earned a degree from a Québec university in the past two years. The internship includes a $21,000 scholarship. Excellent marks, an interest in democratic institutions as well as social and community involvement are the main selection criteria.

During their internship, the five candidates selected experience the numerous facets of Québec parliamentary life, becoming more familiar with the workings of the National Assembly and the various organizations that report directly to it.

Furthermore, each intern is paired with a Member from the Government and then a Member in opposition. The interns also organize a fact-finding mission to a foreign parliament and exchange with their counterparts from the Parliament of Canada and the Legislative Assembly of Ontario. In parallel to these activities, the interns are required to prepare a dissertation on a topic in relation to parliamentarism and democracy.

End of 2013-2014 internships

On 19 June 2014, an official ceremony presided by Ms. Maryse Gaudreault, Vice-President of the National Assembly and of the Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant, marked the end of a busy year, begun in September 2013, as interns Joël Bégin, Alexandre Duval, Isabelle Giroux, Anaïs Jalbert and Audrée Ross submitted their dissertations.

The dissertation titles are as follows:

- La Charte de la langue française : à la charnière des nationalismes québécois (Joël Bégin)
- Les députés homosexuels de l'Assemblée nationale de 1977 à 2002 : un facteur dans l'atteinte de l'égalité juridique des gais et lesbiennes du Québec ? (Alexandre Duval)
- Les gouvernements minoritaires à l'Assemblée nationale du Québec : entre collaboration et confrontation (Isabelle Giroux)
- L'usage des médias sociaux en politique au Québec #guidepratique #assnat (Anaïs Jalbert)
- La représentation politique des Premières Nations du Québec (Audrée Ross)

These dissertations are available at the Library of the National Assembly and online on the foundation's website (fondationbonenfant.qc.ca).

Beginning of 2014-2015 internships

The 2014-2015 parliamentary internships began on 2 September 2014 for Marianne Desjardins, Antonin Lacelle-Webster, Andrée-Anne Marsan-Paquin, Arnaud Montreuil and Anne-Marie Pilote. Upon their arrival in September, they were introduced to parliamentary life through tailor-made training sessions designed to help them fully benefit from their experience within the institution.

PARLIAMENTS IN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL AND PARLIAMENTS IN HIGH SCHOOL

The Vice-President of the National Assembly, Ms. Maryse Gaudreault, accompanied by the students of a winning school.

Parliaments in Elementary School and Parliaments in High School are inspired by the National Assembly while mirroring the operation of student councils. They encourage students to take part in decisions affecting student life. These parliaments take place in a spirit of collaboration between the school board, the administration and the staff members.

Furthermore, they allow young people to learn and put into practice core democratic values such as freedom of speech, respect for other people's opinions and the art of compromise. On 31 March 2015, 168 schools had renewed their registration with Parliaments in Elementary School (135 schools) and Parliaments in High School (33 schools).

To carry out these Parliaments, the Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant can count on the support of several partners, namely the Commission de la Capitale-nationale du Québec, the Fondation Desjardins, Québecor, the Offices jeunesse internationaux du Québec, the Fédération des comités de parents du Québec, the Québec Chief Electoral Officer and the Department of Education, Higher Education and Research.

RESEARCH CHAIR ON DEMOCRACY AND PARLIAMENTARY INSTITUTIONS

Launched in November 2007, the Research Chair on Democracy and Parliamentary Institutions is the result of a joint initiative of the National Assembly and Laval University. The National Assembly of the French Republic, the Chief Electoral Officer, the Auditor General, the Public Protector, the Lobbyists Commissioner as well as the CROP polling firm are also Chair partners.

The Chair has four objectives:

1. Create a university hub of excellence on democracy and parliamentary institutions;
2. Make parliamentary institutions a specific research, teaching and training subject in political science and the social sciences;
3. Promote the awareness of students about all aspects of parliamentarism in modern democracies;
4. Foster the openness of the parliamentary community concerning its environment.

Its activities include support for research, continuous education and knowledge sharing.

Acknowledgment activity

On 27 November, the President of the Québec National Assembly, Mr. Jacques Chagnon, greeted the 2014-2015 partners and scholarship recipients of the Research Chair on Democracy and Parliamentary Institutions at the National Assembly Library. This was the third event of its kind, which highlights the achievements and projects of the Chair.

Online course on Comparative Parliamentarism (Québec-France)

Following last year's success, the online course on Comparative Parliamentarism (Québec-France) is being offered for the second year in a row. This three-credit course, which is part of Laval University's undergraduate program for political science, is intended for university students and researchers interested in the workings of legislative assemblies, for parliamentarians and for public servants. It is also designed for any person who wants to learn more about the way the democratic process is carried out in Québec and French societies. The dynamic web-based platform provides new insight by comparing both of these parliamentary systems with expert videos and practical exercises that highlight their similarities and distinctive features.

This course is the result of the collaboration between the Québec National Assembly, the French National Assembly and the Research Chair on Democracy and Parliamentary Institutions. It enjoys the collaboration of specialists from each Assembly as well as from Laval University and Sciences Po Bordeaux professors.

In September 2014, 13 students benefitted from this innovative course. Moreover, a tailor-made version for the Centre de la francophonie des Amériques gave 122 more students access to its content, thus providing them with knowledge on parliamentarism as practised in Québec.

COURSE ON PARLIAMENTARY LAW AND PROCEDURE

Laval University and the National Assembly joined forces to set up a course on parliamentary law and procedure. Intended for law, political science, public affairs and international relations students, this course, which is in its 11th year, seeks to instruct them on the various elements of Assembly activities and operations, from the foundations of parliamentary procedure to the legislative and budgetary processes, through to parliamentary privilege, the role of the Chair and the work of the standing committees. This course is complemented by a guided tour of the Parliament Building and a lecture given by the Secretary General.

STUDENT PAGE PROGRAM

Established in collaboration with Laval University in 2009, the Student Page Program allows undergraduate students of Laval University the possibility of gaining valuable work experience and familiarizing themselves with Québec's parliamentary institutions. The primary role of pages is to answer requests from the President and Vice-Presidents, the Members, their political staff and the clerks, so that they may devote themselves exclusively to their debates and activities in the best of conditions. As such, pages must prepare rooms, distribute documents and ensure written communications between Members and their staff. They must also write a research paper that is recognized by the university.

Fourteen university students began work at the end of August 2014 under the instruction and supervision of the person responsible for the pages and deputy sergeant-at-arms, Mr. Gilles Jourdain. Students taking part in this practical training and directed research program earn six academic credits toward their bachelor's degree.

Television broadcasting

The National Assembly Channel offers live and deferred broadcasting of parliamentary and committee proceedings, press conferences and briefings, educational activities held at the National Assembly, the institution's promotional vignettes, and thematic productions such as the Mémoires de députés series. Close to 3,500 hours of programming were broadcast in 2014-2015 by the National Assembly Channel.

These broadcasts are also available on the Assembly website, whose video section provides access to eight live-streaming activities. Once archived, they are available at all times, along with all in-house productions.

ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIVITIES

ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIVITIES

Vision and values of the National Assembly administration

MISSION

The mission of the Assembly administration is to provide all of the necessary services and resources to Members in order to support them in the performance of their duties. Members are called upon to legislate, supervise the public administration and represent their fellow citizens.

VALUES

The administration of the National Assembly supports the statement of values of the public administration of Québec, which is based on competence, impartiality, integrity, loyalty and respect. Within the parliamentary context, it also endorses the following values:

NEUTRALITY: a parliamentary administration focused on service to Members, regardless of political allegiance.

OPENNESS: a parliamentary administration that is ever mindful that the National Assembly must be accessible and inviting to all citizens.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT: a parliamentary administration that respects people, the environment and the universal values of sharing and caring.

MODERNITY: a parliamentary administration that encourages diversity in all of its many forms and that incorporates technologies as a means of developing closer ties.

RESPECT FOR HERITAGE: a parliamentary administration that protects and promotes the rich tangible and intangible heritage of the Assembly.

The Office of the National Assembly

The role of the Office of the National Assembly is to oversee and direct the Assembly administration. It must, among other duties, adopt the administrative organization plan of the National Assembly, approve the Assembly's budgetary estimates and regulate matters of immediate concern to Members, such as their allowances and working conditions, as well as those of their staff.

Changes in the administrative structure

The administrative structure underwent certain changes over the past year. Hence, on 2 October 2014, the Associate General Secretariat for Administration became the General Directorate for Administration. The Restaurants Service was integrated into this directorate, as was the recently created Infrastructure Improvement Service.

The changes in the administrative structure were aimed at:

- generating wage bill savings by reorganizing directorates or by eliminating positions subsequent to retirements;
- regrouping similar directorates or services to improve the provision of services to parliamentarians and improve synergy between these directorates;
- offering new challenges to managers by increasing responsibilities.

Administrative Structure as at 31 March 2015

Infrastructure improvement project

The Parliament Building, recognized as a Québec national historic monument in 1985, was built between 1877 and 1886 taking into account the demands of the day. The only extension that was built afterwards was Le Parlementaire restaurant, in 1917. Since then, the needs of parliamentarians and the public have evolved considerably. Furthermore, security is of primary importance nowadays, especially in a global context where public institutions may be targeted.

Evolving security issues have prompted the Office of the National Assembly to examine the way in which they can provide parliamentarians with the means of properly and safely fulfilling their roles and of welcoming citizens who visit the Assembly each year.

It is with this in mind that a functional and technical program (FTP) was ordered in 2012 and tabled in fall 2013, to establish and list requirements and to make proposals that meet these needs. It is based on this FTP that in January 2015, four professional architecture and engineering firms as well as a managing contractor, selected following a tendering process, began preparing plans and specifications for the infrastructure improvement project of the National Assembly.

The project seeks first and foremost to improve security installations, which are outdated. They need to be updated and adapted to the risks associated with a public building such as the Parliament. Risk analyses highlight intervention requirements with regard to security measures for the Parliament Building premises.

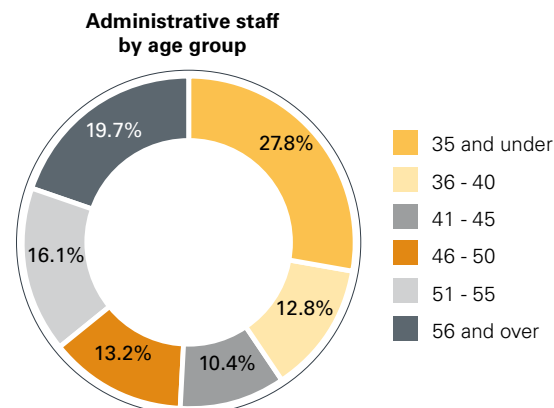

Various improvements and work to meet Building Code standards and to ensure the proper conduct of daily activities taking place at the Parliament have also become necessary. Service areas are poorly adapted to safely welcome over 124,000 visitors per year, particularly school groups. The construction of a new reception pavilion allowing universal accessibility to the Parliament Building and improving all visitor services has therefore been planned. The project includes two new committee rooms and multifunctional meeting rooms, which would improve cohesion of parliamentary activities concentrated in one part of the building.

To date, the Office of the National Assembly has authorized $3.5 million for the design of plans and specifications. At the end of the project design phase, a cost estimate and the deadline of the infrastructure improvement project will be confirmed. The beginning of construction work is subject to the approval of the Office of the National Assembly in fall 2015.

Personnel

To carry out its mission, the National Assembly currently has an administrative staff of 484 regular employees and 192 casual employees.

The political sector, which is composed of executive assistants, political aides, advisors and support staff, totals 500 persons working on Parliament Hill and in Members' constituency offices.

Gender distribution

Women 51.9%
Men 48.1%

Internships

In an effort to offer emerging professionals a unique work experience within the National Assembly's administration, 36 interns and 35 students were welcomed in 2014-2015 in various directorates. These persons represent interesting candidates for future regular or casual positions.

Training sessions

The Assembly's mission, as previously stated, is to provide support services to Members in their role as legislators and overseers of government action. The Assembly also raises citizen awareness and promotes understanding of the institution and the work of MNAs. It therefore supports professional development training to keep its staff members at the leading edge of their respective areas of activity.

Furthermore, at the beginning of the 41st Legislature, training sessions were organized to help new Members become better acquainted with their role as legislators and overseers of government action. These sessions provide an overview of the various aspects of parliamentary proceedings and the rules that govern them. Equivalent training is also offered to Members' staff so that they may support them in the exercise of their duties.

Also, to allow public service lawyers to complete their mandatory continuing education, the Assembly provides training activities that have been approved by the Québec Bar. Assembly lawyers thus get a better understanding of the National Assembly's role as regards the access to information process and the passage of legislation that they are called upon to draft, put forward or apply.

Moreover, professional development sessions regarding the standing committees and parliamentary procedure were given to the administrative staff of the Assembly. In collaboration with the Sûreté du Québec, tailor-made training on the powers and duties of peace officers was also dispensed to the Assembly's special constables. Finally, certain employees took part in training sessions on the National Assembly's protocol.

Over a quarter century of commitment

On 4 December 2014, a reception was held at Le Parlementaire restaurant to celebrate the dedication of nineteen employees who have worked as public servants for 25 years and of three who have worked in the public service for 40 years.

Their years of dedication to public service were acknowledged during this ceremony. These are their names: Mmes Suzie Bernard, Brigitte Bourgault, Louise Cameron, Lise Charron, Caroline Côté, France Doré, Myriam Gilot, France Guillemette, Linda Papillon, Hélène Rangers, Michèle Rioux, Suzanne Rouleau and Johanne Tremblay; Messrs. The administration at a glance

Several projects are carried out each year within the National Assembly administration. Below are some of the projects completed in 2014-2015.

■ Hosting of the 41st Annual Conference of the Hansard Association of Canada

During the festivities underlining the Journal des débats' golden jubilee, the National Assembly welcomed the participants of the 41st Annual Conference of the Hansard Association of Canada, from 18 to 22 August 2014. This association promotes professionalism in the production of the official report of debates (Hansard) in the legislatures of Canada. Some forty delegates hailing from Canada, Wales and the United Kingdom attended the Québec City conference.

The participants of the 41st Annual Conference of the Hansard Association of Canada.

■ Maintenance work

The André-Laurendeau Building's limestone and granite walls were restored. The purpose of this work was to clean and repair this ten-storey building's masonry surfaces. In total, over 300 stones were replaced.

Furthermore, the final phase of the Parliament Building's office renovation project, initiated in 2005, was completed. It consisted in the renovation of the President's and the Second Vice-President's offices.

■ Implementation of the SAGIR self-service system

The SAGIR self-service system for employees and managers was launched on 19 May 2014. This human resources management tool allows users to fill online leave of absence forms, timesheets and changes in personal information, and to have access to employment-related information. Online training on how to use this tool was available to the administrative staff. ■ The Parliament Gardens

For a second straight year, the National Assembly has innovated with its edible garden, woodland garden and tropical garden arrangements in the front of the Parliament Building. Created through the collaborative efforts of Université Laval and Les Urbainculteurs, these gardens allowed visitors to appreciate various examples of urban agriculture, an increasingly popular practice around the world. Over 200 varieties of fruit trees, fruits and vegetables, herbs, trees and flowers were planted according to organic agriculture principles. This project is in keeping with the action plan for sustainable development adopted by the Assembly in 2009.

Again this year, visitors were able to benefit from the pick-your-own system in some of the in-ground garden bed plots. The remaining harvest was given to Le Parlementaire restaurant, thus providing an opportunity for the most discriminating palates to continue their garden experience at the National Assembly restaurant.

The Assembly also took part in the Urban Honey project, in collaboration with Miellerie de Champlain, which installed beehives on the roof of Jean-Antoine-Panet Building. The harvested honey was given to Le Parlementaire restaurant and the surplus was sold at the National Assembly gift shop.

A chef in residence at Le Parlementaire restaurant

Proud partners of Québec's new generation of professionals, the President of the National Assembly, Mr. Jacques Chagnon, Executive Chef Yves Légaré and Executive Sous-Chef Renée Lévesque welcomed Mr. Samuel Aubry-Gagnon, the new chef in residence of Le Parlementaire restaurant. Together, all three chefs are called upon to establish a distinctive culinary vision to redefine the restaurant's cuisine. They are also committed to highlighting the diversity and variety of products from Québec's regions, including those from the Parliament's urban agriculture.
