A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

I am proud to present the National Assembly's 2016–2017 Activity Report, an overview of the year April 1, 2016, to March 31, 2017, and a testament to the institution's many achievements. This detailed account of our activities is filled with information to help citizens better understand the Assembly and the vital role it plays in Québec society.

The administration's values and objectives

The cradle of democratic life in Québec, the National Assembly is founded on the values of neutrality, openness, sustainable development, modernity and respect for heritage. It is also dedicated to delivering quality services to help Members perform their duties, improving accessibility and creating a workplace that fosters personal and professional development. The activities, events and information presented in this document support these objectives.

This year's theme: continuity

The National Assembly is where important debates are held and decisions made about policies and priorities that have direct repercussions on the day-to-day lives of all Quebecers. Every year, parliamentary proceedings result in the adoption of new pieces of legislation. But the National Assembly is also an open space where young people are invited to participate in model parliaments and citizens' groups can voice their opinion on issues in parliamentary committee, as well as a meeting place for other parliamentary organizations dedicated to protecting democracy, francophone identity and justice, as we do.

A National Assembly for the 21st century

The reception pavilion construction project continues on schedule and within budget. This ambitious project will strengthen parliamentary security and improve visitor access. Exterior form and concrete work will continue through fall 2017, at which point interior work will begin and last until the pavilion opens its doors in early 2019.

After all we have accomplished this year, I am enthusiastic about what the future holds. I would like to close by thanking the men and women who help make our organization run smoothly year after year. Speaking personally and on behalf of all Members, I hope this activity report gives readers a glimpse into the dynamic inner workings of the National Assembly.

A MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY GENERAL

I am proud to join with the President in presenting this 18th activity report of the National Assembly. This document provides a comprehensive record of the Assembly's parliamentary proceedings and key achievements over the last fiscal year. As in years past, the Assembly has benefitted from the commitment and dedication of its highly qualified staff—individuals who work diligently to help Members perform their duties and continuously improve on the services we offer to Quebecers and outside visitors. I see the quality of the work of the Assembly staff every day firsthand and I extend my sincerest thanks.

It is because of them that the National Assembly administration can offer such a diverse range of services to parliamentarians, allowing them to concentrate on their three key roles: legislating, overseeing the actions of government and representing their fellow citizens, both on Parliament Hill and in their respective ridings. The administration also takes great pride in carrying out one of Parliament's most important missions: reaching out to build closer ties with citizens, especially the younger generations.

With that in mind, the new reception pavilion will not only enhance security at the Assembly, but also improve amenities for welcoming visitors. This is an opportunity to rethink our citizen outreach and communication methods and modernize the way we convey information about democracy and parliamentary institutions. A committee of employees representing all Assembly units was asked to define the experience we want to provide visitors that walk through the doors of the new reception pavilion. This historic and mission-critical milestone for our institution will be a shared source of pride for all Assembly Members and employees directly or indirectly involved in bringing it to fruition.

I encourage you to read this report to find out about all the parliamentary, diplomatic and institutional activities the National Assembly has been involved in in 2016–2017 and learn more about the functioning of our institution and the critical role it plays in our democratic society.

MISSION

The National Assembly administration is a dynamic, modern, competent and innovative organization. Its mission is to provide all the services and resources Members need to perform their duties, which consist of legislating, overseeing government action and representing their fellow citizens. The administration also works to meet citizens' needs by continuously improving the services it offers and maintaining a workplace that fosters creativity and professional development.

VALUES

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

RESPECT FOR HERITAGE

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES FOR THREE TYPES OF CLIENTS

MEMBERS

- Maintain expertise based on best parliamentary and administrative practices.
- Consult Members on administrative decisions that affect them.
- Deliver high-quality, personalized service.
- Provide effective and reliable work tools that facilitate the work of Members in their dealings with the public.

CITIZENS

- Encourage citizens to participate in parliamentary proceedings through modern technology and communication networks.
- Make information for citizens more accessible and user-friendly.
- Enhance awareness and understanding of the democratic process and parliamentary procedure.

EMPLOYEES

- Strengthen their sense of belonging, pride and engagement.
- Encourage professional development to help employees hone their knowledge and skills in their areas of expertise.
- Provide work tools that are robust, effective and compatible with the latest technology.
- Create a workplace where creativity and personnel fulfillment are encouraged and employees and their health are a priority.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE RECEPTION PAVILION – PROGRESS REPORT

Construction of the reception pavilion

The new reception pavilion will enhance security at the Parliament Building and improve visitor access. Construction is progressing on schedule and on budget.

The exterior excavation and blasting work has been completed, the form and concrete work is underway and the interior walls will be constructed in fall 2017. Construction will continue through spring 2019.

Watching progress online in real time

Three webcams have been mounted on the Parliament Building roof, allowing citizens to watch construction in real time on the Assembly website. Captioned photos from the worksite are regularly added to the project Web page. Internally, four newsletters have been issued to keep employees, Members and members of the Press Gallery informed about the progress.

Construction of the tunnel beneath Parliament: no small feat

Drilling of the tunnel under the Parliament Building took place from May to December 2016, marking a major milestone in the project. Carving a tunnel out of rock under a building more than a century old is an ambitious project requiring a high level of expertise.

The 20-meter long, 4.5-meter wide tunnel will connect the reception pavilion to the inner courtyard. Visitors will access the Parliament Building via an elevator in the inner courtyard.

Reception pavilion wins architecture award

The Provencher_Roy and GLCRM Architects consortium received the 2016 Award of Merit at the Canadian Architect Awards of Excellence gala for their design of the new National Assembly reception pavilion. The award recognizes outstanding architectural projects that demonstrate social awareness, sensitivity to the urban context and respect for the principles of sustainable development.

THE ROLE, COMPOSITION, AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE ASSEMBLY

Québec's three branches of government

Legislative branch

Studies, discusses, amends and passes laws. Oversees the actions of the executive branch. Debates matters of public interest.

Executive branch

Makes policies that guide government action. Administers and manages the government in accordance with the laws passed by the legislative branch.

Judicial branch

Interprets the laws passed by the legislative branch. Decides whether a citizen or group is compliant with the law.

To learn the ABCs of how the National Assembly operates, visit www.assnat.qc.ca/en/abc-assemblee.

Composition of the National Assembly

The Members of the National Assembly are democratically elected to represent their fellow citizens.

Members run for election and are chosen by constituents in their electoral divisions. Electoral divisions, more commonly known as “ridings,” are communities based on geographic, demographic and sociological criteria. Every riding elects one Member.

Québec's population is represented in the Assembly by 125 Members from 125 ridings. This is why Québec is known as a “representative” democracy.

President of the Assembly

Jacques Chagnon
President

The President of the National Assembly ranks fourth in the order of precedence in Québec, behind the Lieutenant Governor, the Premier and the cardinals.

First elected President on April 5, 2011, and re-elected for a third time on May 20, 2014, Jacques Chagnon, Member for Westmount-Saint-Louis, performs his duties impartially, abstaining from debates and voting only to break a tie. As President of the National Assembly, he does not take part in his party's activities.

- The President arbitrates Assembly proceedings, applying the Standing Orders of the National Assembly to maintain order, ensure the proper conduct of proceedings and protect Members' rights.
- The President manages the Assembly's administrative services, ensuring they meet the needs of Members and citizens.
- The President represents the Assembly. He plays a key role in raising the National Assembly's profile at home and abroad, notably by building relations with other parliaments. The President promotes democratic values and informs the public about the work of Members through communication and educational activities.

These figures cover the period April 1, 2016, to March 31, 2017, including three extraordinary sittings held on June 10, 2016, December 9, 2016 and February 27, 2017 (p. 25).

DID YOU KNOW...

The Order Paper and Notices is available at 8:00 a.m. on the morning of every sitting except extraordinary sittings. It is an important document that lists the business the Assembly is likely to address during a sitting, Members can use it to prepare their interventions. A special edition is published at the end of each sessional period—in the spring and in the fall.

Written questions are also entered on the Order Paper and Notices. The Encyclopedia of Québec Parliamentarism defines a written question as a question posed in writing that receives a response in the same format. Questions on matters that are not sufficiently urgent or important to justify an immediate answer or that require research must be formulated in writing and placed on the Order Paper and Notices.

Find out more about this topic at www.assnat.qc.ca/en/procedures.

In addition, all topics debated are entered in the Votes and Proceedings, the official record of a National Assembly sitting. It provides an account of the Assembly's decisions and the proceedings introduced and concluded during a sitting. It also reports rulings made by the President.

Conduct of a National Assembly sitting

DID YOU KNOW...

In parliamentary language, each day of National Assembly deliberations is called a sitting. Sittings are divided into two parts: Routine Proceedings and Orders of the Day. The primary purpose of the Routine Proceedings portion is to provide information to Members, while the Orders of the Day portion is devoted to the consideration of bills. The Assembly also takes into consideration all other substantive motions for debate during the Orders of the Day.

Three extraordinary sittings

The National Assembly was convened for three extraordinary sittings between April 1, 2016 and March 31, 2017.

- The first on June 10, 2016, to complete the consideration of Bill 100, An Act to amend various legislative provisions respecting mainly transportation services by taxi;
- The second on December 9, 2016, to complete the consideration of Bill 106, An Act to implement the 2030 Energy Policy and to amend various legislative provisions;
- The third on February 27, 2017, to present and consider Bill 127, An Act to ensure the continuity of the provision of legal services within the Government and to allow continued negotiation and the renewal of the collective agreement of the employees who provide those legal services.

Find out more about this topic at www.assnat.qc.ca/en/organisation.

The ten headings in the Routine Proceedings are dealt with in the following order:

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1. Statements by Members | 6. Oral Questions and Answers |
| 2. Statements by Ministers | 7. Deferred Divisions |
| 3. Introduction of Bills | 8. Motions Without Notice |

A greener Assembly

In fall 2016 the National Assembly conducted a pilot project on the tabling of documents by ministers and the Assembly President during the Presentation of Documents heading. The goal was to reduce the number of copies printed and get documents posted online faster. At the end of the pilot project, the decision was made to establish a standard procedure for the number of print copies required starting in February 2017.

The new sustainable development policy will cut the number of documents printed for tabling in the House by 60%. Once tabled, papers will now be available on a new Assembly Web page, Newly Tabled Documents.

Find out more about this topic at www.assnat.qc.ca/en/documents-deposes and www.assnat.qc.ca/en/depots.

DID YOU KNOW...

A petition is a document by which a person or association of persons petitions the Assembly for the redress of a perceived grievance that lies within the competence of the Québec government. Every Québec citizen has the right to petition the Assembly through a Member. Petitions may be signed on paper or online on the website of the National Assembly. The site also allows citizens to consult petitions that have already been presented to the Assembly. Since the Government must answer every petition, the 158 petitions presented this year will all receive an answer. If the Government responds in writing, its answer will also be posted on the website.

Petitions

| | Paper petitions | Online petitions | Total petitions presented |
|------------------------|--|--|---|
| 2013-2014 | 135 petitions 180,351 signatures | 100 petitions 360,121 signatures | 235 petitions 540,472 signatures |

Orders of the Day

Some statistics on headings that may be considered during the Orders of the Day

| ORDERS OF THE DAY | | | | | |
|----------------------------------|----------------|------------------------------------|--|---|------------------------------------|
| Business Having Precedence | Urgent Debates | Debates on Reports from Committees | Business Standing in the Name of Members in Opposition | Other Business Standing: Approval of International Agreements | Number of Debates Upon Adjournment |
| See explanations provided below* | 2 | 4 | 18 | 3 | 14 |

The Orders of the Day are divided into five headings:

1. Business Having Precedence
2. Urgent Debates
3. Debates on Reports from Committees
4. Other Business Standing on the Order Paper
5. Business Standing in the Name of Members in Opposition

The National Assembly considered a number of urgent debates, including the budget speech debate initiated on March 30, 2017.

* Business having precedence

Business having precedence takes precedence over all other matters due to its importance or urgency.

- The Premier's opening speech and the ensuing debate
- Motions relating to breaches of privilege or contempt
- Motions relating to the conduct of Members of Parliament
- The budget speech and the ensuing debate
- The consideration of interim supply
- The limited debate on the committee reports respecting the main estimates
- Want of confidence motions

Find out more about this topic at www.assnat.qc.ca/en/affaires-prioritaires.

Urgent Debates

Two urgent debates were held.

1. One dealt with allegations of intimidation and document falsification at Ministère des Transports, de la Mobilité durable et de l'Électrification des transports.
2. The other centred on disturbing revelations regarding police surveillance of journalists and their sources.

Parliamentary committees

DID YOU KNOW...

Parliamentary committees are made up of Members from various parliamentary groups who consider bills, consult with individuals and organizations in the course of public hearings, examine the activities and management of departments and public bodies, and, by their own initiative, consider any matter of public interest.

Members conduct a great deal of their business within the nine sectoral committees, the Committee on the National Assembly and the Committee on Public Administration.

Committee sittings open to the public

Most committee sittings are public and open to citizens. The proceedings of public sittings are transcribed in their entirety in the Journal des débats. Real-time and recorded committee proceedings can also be viewed on the National Assembly website.

Legislative translation and publishing

Pages of legislation translated and published

Texts other than legislation translated

These figures cover the period of January 1 to December 31, 2016.

DID YOU KNOW...

Pursuant to Section 133 of the Constitution Act, 1867 and Section 7 of the Charter of the French Language, the French and English versions of legislation are equally authoritative, so the two versions must correspond legally and semantically, down to the letter. Particular attention is paid to meaning, consistency of terminology, syntax, spelling and punctuation in both languages as a bill moves through the legislative process. The Legislative Translation and Publishing Directorate therefore plays a critical role in the National Assembly's mission.

Prepared by the National Assembly and published by Publications du Québec, the National Assembly's legislative directory provides a summary of the legislative activity for calendar year 2016.

Journal des débats

The Journal des débats celebrated its 53rd year of publication on January 14, 2017.

The Journal des débats Service provides a transcribed verbatim account of all debates and interventions by Members and other speakers during Assembly and parliamentary committee sittings and press activities taking place in the Parliament Building. Special events may also be transcribed with approval from the Secretary General.

Production of the Journal des débats

For this year's Journal, 2,013 hours and 22 minutes of parliamentary proceedings were transcribed, reviewed, edited and laid out.

As in years past, the Journal des débats was represented at the 43rd annual conference of the Hansard Association of Canada (HAC) in St. John's, Newfoundland, August 15 to 19. HAC was founded in 1972 and held its first annual meeting in Quebec City on August 22 and 23, 1974. Members from the 17 jurisdictions that CHA represents in Canada and the Commonwealth meet on an annual basis to discuss legislative debate production approaches and issues.

Parliamentary proceedings, 2016–2017

Parliamentary proceedings, 2015–2016

- National Assembly sittings
- Parliamentary committees
- Meetings and press briefings
- Special events

There was a 3.4% increase in the number of hours of events transcribed in 2016–2017 over 2015–2016.

The number of hours of sittings (360 hr. 29 min.) in the graphic above includes breaks, which is why the figures are different than those on page 23 (349 hr. 48 min.).

PARLIAMENTARY DIPLOMACY

Parliamentary diplomacy

The National Assembly of Québec maintains diplomatic relations with other parliaments and various interparliamentary organizations around the world, including Parliamentary Assembly of La Francophonie, the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, the Parliamentary Confederation of the Americas and institutions in the United States and Europe.

By participating in interparliamentary events, the Assembly seeks to strengthen the effectiveness of the institution and its Members, enhance its international influence, help build a global community founded on democracy, peace, justice and prosperity and promote those sectors in which Québec excels. Parliamentary diplomacy also allows Members to better grasp the potential impact of international issues and gives them an opportunity to influence responses to these issues in the interests of Québec and its people.

By virtue of the separation of powers, the Assembly pursues its international relations independently. The President represents the Assembly internationally and oversees its interparliamentary relations. The President is assisted by Members from all parliamentary groups who make up the 16 sections or delegations for interparliamentary relations.

This year the National Assembly...

62 delegations of parliamentarians and officials from other states.

met with over 9,000
foreign participants during international events in Québec
and abroad.

signed 3 cooperative agreements with partner parliaments: the Louisiana
House of Representatives and Senate, the Massachusetts House of Representatives and Senate and the National Assembly of Senegal.

Sections and delegations of the National Assembly for interparliamentary relations...

participated in more than 55 meetings of interparliamentary and bilateral organizations.

explored 59 themes of interest to Québec, including transportation electrification, refugee resettlement, the fight against climate change and the Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement.

The Interparliamentary and International Relations and Protocol Directorate team...

- Held 144 international activities
- Organized 3 major events: the 56th Annual Meeting of the Council of State Governments Eastern Regional Conference (550 delegates from 11 U.S. states, 2 U.S. territories and 5 Canadian provinces), the 38th Regional Conference of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (30 delegates, including 6 speakers of Canadian parliaments) and the Bureau Meeting of the Parliamentary Assembly of La Francophonie (80 delegates, including 7 speakers of French-language parliaments)
- Worked more closely with the Assembly's parliamentary proceedings sector and Research Service to better address themes of interest to Québec: parliamentary committees were directly involved in 6 hosted events and over 60% of the proposed themes were related to Research Service studies
- Created and organized the first leadership workshop for French-speaking female parliamentarians
- Developed a range of cooperative services involving the Assembly and specific individuals
- Established indicators and targets to better evaluate results

Relationships with interparliamentary organizations

Parliamentary Assembly of La Francophonie

The Parliamentary Assembly of La Francophonie (APF) was founded in 1967. It comprises 83 parliaments and interparliamentary organizations from every continent. The National Assembly of Québec has been a member since 1975 and considers its role in APF as one of its top diplomatic priorities. Assembly Members hold leadership positions within each APF body.

Over the last year, Québec parliamentarians took part in 14 statutory meetings and conferences held by APF and attended by 650 participants as well as 7 collaborative events and meetings organized by international organizations (e.g., WTO, UNESCO, etc.).

Impact: Participation helps protect Québec's interests and promote its best practices in relation to issues such as cultural diversity, gender equality, the fight against religious extremism, citizenship education, youth political participation, democratic consolidation and agricultural policy.

This year the President of the National Assembly attended the Francophonie Summit in Antananarivo, Madagascar, November 22 to 27.

Impact: In his capacity as First Vice-president of APF, the Assembly President gave a presentation to the 20 heads of State and government in attendance on the opinion adopted a few months earlier by parliamentarians at their 42nd annual session to. It was an opportunity to draw attention to the important role parliamentarians play in preventing and mediating political crises that affect the international Francophone community.

Seminar on the diversity of cultural expressions in the digital age and second session of the Young Francophone Parliamentarians program

A seminar on the diversity of cultural expressions in the digital age was held on November 1, 2016. Some 30 parliamentarians, artists and experts attended the seminar, organized in conjunction with the 20th anniversary of the UNESCO Convention on the Protection and Promotion of the Diversity of Cultural Expressions. The seminar was an opportunity to gauge the impacts of the Convention 20 years after its adoption and discuss the challenges digital technology poses to cultural diversity. During this same period, the National Assembly hosted the 2nd session of the Young Francophone Parliamentarians program, whose mission is to introduce 8 young elected representatives from Europe, Africa and the Americas to the Francophonie and encourage them to get involved in Francophone initiatives.

APF Bureau meeting and intersessional meeting of the APF Network of Women Parliamentarians

From February 1 to 4, 2017, the National Assembly hosted the APF Bureau Meeting, which was attended by some 40 parliamentarians, including 8 Assembly speakers.

The meeting of the APF Network of Women Parliamentarians held March 9–11 was an opportunity for 29 female parliamentarians from 17 different parliaments to explore the theme of women and migration, an issue that impacts a number of Francophone states that receive displaced persons fleeing civil war and terrorism in their homelands. Attendees and guest experts identified health, judicial and legal measures to implement to specifically aid women, who are often subject to abuse in forced migration situations.

Impact: Hosting four major APF events attended by 150 participants from 30 different parliaments over the year helped enhance Québec's international profile.

Commonwealth Parliamentary Association

The Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA) was founded in 1911. The National Assembly of Québec has been a member since 1933. CPA represents some 180 parliaments from the Commonwealth member states. The Québec Branch of CPA is especially active in the organization's Canadian section, which comprises 14 branches representing each of Canada's legislative assemblies.

Over the year the Assembly participated in 7 CPA statutory events and sent Québec parliamentary delegates to 3 workshops and conferences on the British parliamentary system, security, and other topics.

38th Canadian Regional Seminar of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association

Some 30 parliamentarians from Canada's provinces and territories took part in CPA's 38th Canadian Regional Parliamentary Seminar. Under the chairmanship of Jacques Chagnon, Canadian parliamentarians and civil servants attended working sessions on topics of interest to legislative assemblies and elected representatives.

Impact: Parliamentarians in attendance gave presentations on transportation electrification and the Zero Emission Vehicle Act (unanimously adopted by the National Assembly), the Committee on Citizen Relations' self-initiated order and women's role in politics.

Parliamentary organizations in the United States

The National Assembly is a member of two major U.S. interparliamentary organizations: the National Conference of State Legislatures and the Council of State Governments and its eastern branch, the Eastern Regional Conference.

Over the year, the Delegation of the National Assembly for Relations with the United States actively participated in some 20 statutory meetings organized by these organizations and attended by more than 7,000 participants. Members also took part in the Legislative Agriculture Chairs Summit and Great Lakes Legislative Caucus. Attendance at events hosted by these organizations provides Québec with access to a host of U.S. decision-makers.

56th Annual Meeting of the Council of State Governments Eastern Regional Conference

Over 550 delegates attended the 56th Annual Meeting of the Council of State Governments Eastern Regional Conference August 7 to 10, 2016, in Québec City.

Impact: Three resolutions were adopted, including one on pre-registration and pre-clearance at the border and another on measures aimed at stabilizing the price of milk.

This high-level conference was attended by U.S. and Canadian parliamentarians, representatives of the private sector and guest speakers. The theme of this year's meeting, "Global Challenges, Regional Solutions" spurred discussion on Canada-U.S. relations, agriculture, sustainable development, health, education and transportation.

Parliamentary Confederation of the Americas

The Parliamentary Confederation of the Americas (COPA) brings together the congresses and parliamentary assemblies of unitary, federal, federated and associated states, regional parliaments and interparliamentary organizations of the Americas. The National Assembly of Québec houses one of the interparliamentary organization's three secretariats and the secretariat of the Network of Women Parliamentarians of the Americas. The Québec Branch of COPA is actively involved in the organization, with Québec Members occupying four seats on the Executive Committee.

Over the year the Québec Branch participated in 3 events organized by COPA—an election observation mission to Peru (April 2016), the Executive Committee meeting in Brazil (June 2016) and the 15th General Assembly held in Argentina (October 2016).

16th election observation mission

The Member for Rosemont led COPA's 16th election observation mission, which took place in Peru from April 7 to 11, 2016, in conjunction with the first round of the presidential election. A total of 24 parliamentarians from 14 COPA member countries acted as observers.

Impact: Parliamentarians met with 20-odd stakeholders in the electoral process, including election authorities, heads of observation missions from international organizations and representatives of civil society. On election day, the delegation of observing parliamentarians split into 13 teams, allowing them to observe some 120 polling stations.

15th General Assembly

A delegation of three National Assembly of Québec Members attended COPA's 15th General Assembly in Salta, Argentina, October 11 to 14, 2016. The event brought together 80 participants from 16 countries in the Americas.

Impact: Eight resolutions and declarations were adopted at the General Assembly. Parliamentarians also attended presentations, exchanged ideas and explored a broad range of topics. The Network of Women Parliamentarians of the Americas and the Inter-American Commission of Women organized the 9th Consultation of Parliamentarians of the Americas to coincide with the event.

Relations with partner parliaments and European institutions

Over the years the National Assembly has developed an extensive network of bilateral relations with partner parliaments. Agreements with partner parliaments provide for regular meetings between National Assembly members and their foreign counterparts, usually annually. This gives parliamentarians an opportunity to discuss topics of mutual interest in depth and take advantage of their respective legislative and policymaking experience. The meetings also serve to promote Québec's areas of excellence and enhance Québec's international profile.

This year 11 statutory meetings of interparliamentary groups were held (see the list of events on page 60).

Impact: The year 2016–2017 was marked by the development and strengthening of bilateral relations between the National Assembly of Québec and two partner parliaments in the United States: the Louisiana House of Representatives and Senate and the Massachusetts House of Representatives and Senate.

Establishing official bilateral relations in the United States allows the National Assembly to strengthen its alliances with U.S. interparliamentary organizations so it can push issues of importance for Québec, such as hydropower exports and creation of a North American carbon market.

Impact: The Massachusetts-Quebec Collaborative Research Council was established in 2016–2017. Comprising 12 members (six from Québec and six from Massachusetts) from the higher education, private and legislative sectors, the Council will give Québec a forum to showcase its prowess in certain areas of expertise, specifically clean energy, electric transportation, the environment and biotech. The Council will also create networking opportunities for Québec stakeholders and open the door to innovative new partnerships.

Québec-Massachusetts Parliamentary Association

The 3rd session of the Québec-Massachusetts Parliamentary Association was held in Montréal August 10 to 12, 2016. Discussion revolved around education, establishment of a direct air link between Québec City and Boston, transportation electrification, public transit infrastructure funding and hydropower exports. It was during this session that representatives decided to establish the Massachusetts-Québec Collaborative Research Council, which was officially launched in Boston on December 5, 2016. The Council met for the first time in Québec City on February 8, 2017. The meeting was followed by the 4th session of the Québec-Massachusetts Parliamentary Association from February 8 to 10, 2017—an opportunity for parliamentarians to further explore topics addressed in summer 2016.

Québec-Louisiana Parliamentary Association

The 1st session of the Québec-Louisiana Parliamentary Association was held May 5 to 7, 2016, in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Discussion revolved around tourism, artistic and cultural policies in an effort to better understand underlying issues and map out opportunities for mutually beneficial cooperation. Parliamentarians agreed on the importance of strengthening political ties between Québec and Louisiana, fostering trade and supporting francophone linguistic and cultural development in Louisiana.

Québec-Sénégal Parliamentary Association

Jacques Chagnon visited Senegal in December 2016 at the invitation of Moustapha Niasse, the President of the National Assembly of Senegal. At the conclusion of the working sessions the presidents of the two institutions signed a memorandum of understanding to create a new parliamentary association between the National Assembly of Québec and the National Assembly of Senegal.

Impact: This agreement will enhance cooperation in various areas of shared interest, including education, training and health. The two presidents also agreed on the venue for the 4th edition of the International Parliamentary Training Program, which will be in Dakar in 2018.

Interparliamentary cooperation

For almost 20 years, the National Assembly of Québec has provided technical support to parliamentary institutions in emerging and consolidating democracies, underpinning their efforts at the parliamentary and administrative levels. These interparliamentary cooperation activities speak to the Assembly's determination to actively contribute to promoting and strengthening democratic institutions and processes around the world.

International Parliamentary Training Program

From June 7 to 17, 2016, the National Assembly of Québec and Université Laval hosted the 2nd edition of the International Parliamentary Training Program, organized in partnership with the World Bank and with financial support from the Parliamentary Assembly of La Francophonie. The goal of the program is to deliver advanced training to French-speaking parliamentary officials and provide a forum for sharing experiences.

Fifteen French-speaking parliamentary officials from Haiti, Morocco, Niger, the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Togo took advantage of the program. Content covered everything from human resource management and parliamentary oversight to how sittings are organized, and included a mix of university research and parliamentary practice. Workshops and seminars were delivered by stakeholders and trainers from Benin, Canada, France and Québec.

Leadership workshop for female parliamentarians

A leadership workshop for female parliamentarians was held March 6 to 10, 2017, to hone the skills of French-speaking female parliamentarians. A total of 23 women from 11 parliaments attended the workshop, a National Assembly of Québec initiative organized in partnership with École nationale d'administration publique and Groupe Femmes, Politique et Démocratie. The program, which also received support from the governments of Canada and Québec, focused on strengthening the individual skills of female parliamentarians by combining theoretical university-level presentations with hands-on activities and support sessions.

Finally, the National Assembly hosted 28 official visits by foreign delegations, 10 government representatives and intergovernmental organizations and 24 diplomatic and consular representatives. A detailed list of these visits is provided at the end of this section.

THE ASSEMBLY, THE PUBLIC AND INSTITUTIONAL ACTIVITIES

The Assembly and the public

The Assembly welcomes visitors

This year 115,387 people visited the National Assembly.

36,110 visitors came from Québec, 11,102 from the rest of Canada, 10,997 from the United States, 7,433 from France and 10,183 from other countries.

12,352 information requests.

9,787 visitors attended parliamentary proceedings in the National Assembly Chambers.

Construction of the reception pavilion has not deterred visitors. Daily National Assembly tours remain popular, and many visitors also attend parliamentary proceedings.

Open House

The National Assembly opened its doors for Québec's National Holiday as it does every year. Visitors could take a self-guided tour at their own pace and explore different facets of the institution where their elected representatives conduct parliamentary business.

The Hospitality and Information Service welcomed 1,927 visitors for the open house.

Le Parlementaire restaurant

Le Parlementaire has been open to the public for nearly 50 years. The Beaux Arts-style dining room serves cuisine inspired by Québec regional specialities and featuring produce from the National Assembly's own gardens.

Nearly 35,000 people dined at Le Parlementaire this year. The restaurant also hosted 78 private receptions for 8,925 guests who enjoyed a fine meal and lively conversation in a venue renowned for its outstanding service. This represented an increase of 9 receptions and 1,152 guests compared to last year.

DID YOU KNOW...

For the 4th year in a row, Le Parlementaire restaurant served produce harvested from the Parliament's own gardens. Although smaller in size this year due to construction work on the reception pavilion, the gardens produced a bountiful crop, much to the delight of visitors and discerning diners.

Theme menus were composed around Québec products like apples, corn, squash, rye and maple products. Fresh garden herbs were used to make herbes salées and an after-dinner herbal tea served in the restaurant. Fresh-picked blueberries, honeyberries, mint and cedar were used throughout the summer in inventive craft cocktails featuring Québec spirits. The chef-in-residence appeared on the Les Urbaincultrices television program to show off his talents by preparing home-grown kale in three delicious ways.

Also this year the Café du Parlement served 27,000 customers in a casual atmosphere. Several new dishes were added to the menu, which now features a broader selection of take-away options as well.

The Parliament gardens

The vegetable gardens were completely redesigned this year due to the reception pavilion construction project. A vertical garden was set up along a section of the temporary fencing.

Find out more about this topic at www.assnat.qc.ca/en/jardins.

Visitors could observe over 130 varieties of organically grown vegetables, herbs, edible plants, berries and tree fruits. As in years past, the gardens' bounty was showcased in dishes prepared by Le Parlementaire chefs. Visitors were also able to pick vegetables in three rowed sections of the vegetable garden.

The gardens were planted and tended in partnership with Université Laval and Les Urbainculteurs.

The National Assembly's bees

More than 100,000 bees were busy on the roof of the Jean-Antoine-Panet Building producing honey for the National Assembly, in partnership with Miellerie de Champlain. The many species of flowers in the Parliament gardens offer worker bees a smorgasbord of food sources. A hundred liters of honey was harvested this year, some of which is used to sweeten dishes served in the Assembly's restaurants.

National Assembly Library

The National Assembly Library provides information, documents and reliable and impartial analyses to meet the research and documentation needs of Members and administrative personnel. Library services include reference, research, indexing, archiving, and document processing and management.

Major projects

Integrated document management

The Library implemented a software solution to manage the National Assembly's administrative documents, archives and heritage objects and preserve its institutional memory. Integrated document management solutions are designed to optimize the document and object management process in order to make it more efficient, logical and secure.

New website

In keeping with the 2013–2016 action plan objective to better manage information and make it more accessible, the Library worked on designing a new website with all-new sections such as Services, Collections and Activities. The search feature provides access to a range of search tools for the Library's priority patrons as well as researchers and citizens.

Sharing Québec's political and parliamentary expertise

Assembly publications

Cinq lectures pour comprendre

The new bimonthly series Cinq lectures pour comprendre presents a selection and synopsis of five books, essays and articles on important and compelling topics. The works featured are usually available at the Library or online. Seven issues were published in 2016–2017.

Find out more about this topic at www.bibliotheque.assnat.qc.ca/fr/618-cinq-lectures-pour-comprendre (in French).

Subject guides

Regularly updated subject guides are available online. Guides in this series include Les documents politiques et parlementaires du Québec, L'étude des crédits budgétaires produits par les ministères et organismes and Le Code civil du Québec : du Bas-Canada à aujourd'hui. The bibliography on parliamentarianism in Québec is another searchable online tool and the most comprehensive source of information on parliamentary proceedings in Québec.

Find out more about this topic at www.bibliotheque.assnat.qc.ca/guides (in French).

Le Bulletin de la Bibliothèque

The purpose of Le Bulletin de la Bibliothèque is to disseminate knowledge on the history and evolution of Québec's parliamentary institutions and system. It combines content from National Assembly employees and authors from various spheres.

Read the latest issue at www.bibliotheque.assnat.qc.ca/fr/1797-bulletin-de-la-bibliotheque (in French).

Encyclopedia of Québec Parliamentarianism

Numerous additions were made to the Encyclopedia of Québec Parliamentarianism, the French-language resource for historical and institutional research available on the National Assembly website. It was created to organize and disseminate knowledge of the parliamentary system acquired over time. The encyclopedia currently numbers some 625 subject headings, with 22 new entries posted in 2016–2017.

Public events

Lectures

The Library hosted five lunchtime lectures on a range of topics.

They can be viewed on the Library website at www.bibliotheque.assnat.qc.ca/fr/548-conferences (in French).

Exhibitions

Three exhibitions were held at the National Assembly this year. Histoires de députés, an exhibition that opened in the Parliament Building in 2014, presents the roles, responsibilities and day-to-day work of Québec parliamentarians. The Entre savoir et pouvoir, l'édifice Pamphile-Le May et la Bibliothèque de l'Assemblée nationale exhibition ran in the Library through September 2016. Curated from various heritage collections, Les trésors de la Bibliothèque was on display in the Library windows, showcasing exceptional objects and a few of the Library's oldest and rarest tomes. Over 150 visitors took a guided tour of the Library, which also develops virtual exhibitions to complement its traditional displays.

Political Book Prize 2016

For the 14th year in a row, the National Assembly paid tribute to political writing and the talent of authors in the field. Assembly Vice-president François Gendron announced the names of the winners at the Scène des Rendez-vous littéraires at the Salon international du livre de Québec book fair on April 14, 2016.

Jules Racine St-Jacques was awarded the Prix de la Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant in the Doctoral Thesis category and the Prix Ministère des Relations internationales du Québec/Ministère des Affaires étrangères et du développement international de France for his thesis L'engagement du père Georges-Henri Lévesque dans la modernité canadienne-française, 1932-1962. Contribution à l'histoire intellectuelle du catholicisme et de la modernité au Canada français.

Finally, the Prix de la Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant award in the Master's Thesis category went to Lauréanne Daneau for her thesis, La régionalisation de l'immigration au Québec : le débat public entre le gouvernement et la société civile à l'origine de la politique, 1987-2000.

Citizens honoured at the Assembly

Medal of Honour of the National Assembly

The Medal of Honour of the National Assembly of Québec is awarded by the President to public figures of various backgrounds who deserve recognition from National Assembly Members and the people of Québec for their careers, work or engagement.

National Assembly President Jacques Chagnon bestowed the Medal of Honour of the National Assembly on 9 Québec public figures who have left a mark in their respective fields of endeavour. The President recognized their valuable contribution to society, their commitment, their dedication and their active efforts to promote and develop Québec in their spheres of influence.

The medals were awarded in two separate ceremonies.

The National Assembly: a proud proponent of healthy living

Université de Montréal's Carabins women's hockey team recognized

On May 25, 2016, President Jacques Chagnon and other parliamentarians, including Premier Philippe Couillard, officially received the Université de Montréal Carabins women's hockey team. The Carabins won their second national championship when they soundly defeated the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds 8 to 0.

President Chagnon commended them for their stellar performance and the positive role model they provide to young people who dream of following in their footsteps as athletes and successful university students.

Energy Cubes Challenge 2016

On June 7, 2016, Assembly President Jacques Chagnon once again hosted the Grand Défi Pierre Lavoie. The winning schools in this year's Energy Cubes Challenge were announced before Members and elementary school students.

The National Assembly is proud to partner with Québec's biggest health promotion event, the Grand Défi Pierre Lavoie, whose mission is to encourage Quebecers to make healthy living part of their routine and model healthy habits for future generations.

Top honours for Université Laval Rouge et Or teams

On February 22, 2017, President Jacques Chagnon paid tribute to three of Université Laval's 2016 winning Rouge et Or teams: the men's cross-country team, the women's soccer team and the football team. The President lauded the athletes for their physical prowess, determination and courage. For three sports teams from Université Laval to win top honours was no small feat—and one that will not soon be forgotten.

Tribute to Saint-Ferréol-les-Neiges cross-country skier Alex Harvey

On March 29, 2017, President Chagnon and other parliamentarians honoured cross-country skier Alex Harvey, who captured the 50-kilometre freestyle world championship at a hotly contested race in Lahti, Finland, in March 2017. Thanks to this victory, he is now ranked among the top cross-country skiers in the world. The President lauded the world-class athlete for his exceptional career.

The Assembly's educational mission

The National Assembly of Québec operates a number of educational programs to teach Québec citizens, especially young people, the importance of contributing to the vitality of our democracy. These activities are designed to familiarize citizens with Québec's parliamentary institutions. The Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant was actively involved in organizing the following activities:

- Parliamentary simulations for citizens of all ages
- A quiz game on various facets of the democratic system
- A democratic immersion internship
- Educational publications and teaching tools for educators

Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant

DID YOU KNOW...

Every year the Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant offers five 10-month internships along with a $21,000 scholarship to graduates of a Québec university. Selected candidates get to see how the National Assembly and related institutions work from the inside. Interns are alternately paired with a Government Member and an Opposition Member. They also participate in an international exploratory mission and share impressions with their counterparts in the Parliament of Canada and the Legislative Assembly of Ontario. In tandem with these activities, they are required to write an essay on a topic related to the parliamentary system and democracy.

The 2015–2016 internships ended in June of this financial year—a milestone that was marked by an official ceremony and submission of the essays written by interns Joëlle Boucher-Kirouac, Sophie Jacques-Barma, Katéri Lalancette and Julien Mc Donald-Guimond.

The new interns, Gabriel Arruda, Alexis Aubry, Geoffroy Boucher, Ariane Godbout and Julie Martel, arrived in September 2016. As part of their program, they helped the educational programming team conduct parliamentary simulations, worked closely with their mentor Members and participated in fact-finding missions to Toronto, Ottawa, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

Their mission report, Les pays baltes aux frontières de la démocratie, and individual essays will be tabled and released in July 2017 so that everyone can benefit from what they have learned.

Strengthening school democracy with Vox Populi

This program is made possible with the support of Directeur général des élections and the Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant.

Vox Populi is an interactive tool designed to engage elementary and high school students. More than 200 schools have participated since it was launched. The training sessions developed and delivered across Québec by the National Assembly and Directeur général des élections strengthen democracy in schools. Vox Populi fosters the acquisition and adoption of democratic values, specifically through the electoral process. It teaches students and others about democracy, the roles of an elected representative, project management and communication skills. The program offers elementary and high schools an organizational framework for their student councils and encourages them to participate in making decisions that affect their schools.

The student council projects that best met these educational objectives were recognized in May 2016.

For the program's second year, which kicked off in August 2016, Vox Populi introduced improved teaching tools and training sessions better tailored to schools' needs. As of March 31, 2017, 111 training sessions had been delivered across Québec.

Winning schools

Registered schools were invited to submit a student council project in May 2016. A selection committee chose 6 projects that best illustrated the principles of democracy and school participation, based on criteria reflecting program values. Three elementary schools and three high schools were recognized in an official ceremony at the National Assembly. Their outstanding efforts earned them a $500 grant, presented by Maryse Gaudreault, Vice-president of the National Assembly and Fondation Jean-Charles-Bonenfant, and Pierre Reid, Chief Electoral Officer of Québec.

| ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS | HIGH SCHOOLS |
|---|---|
| Bourgeoys-Champagnat School (Movie night) | Paul-Gérin-Lajoie-d'Outremont High School (Café Crok'Dedans) |
| Wahta' School (La foire des différences) | Ste-Thérèse Academy (Compostage : la porte est ouverte pour une école verte!) |
| Sainte-Martine School (Semons des semeurs en 2016!) | Saint-Luc High School (Civic engagement week) |

Democracy: Why and for whom?

The President's Tour comes to the schools

The Assembly's educational programming reached new heights in 2016–2017 with a new-and-improved President's Tour program. For many years now, citizens of all ages have enjoyed access to learning tools and parliamentary simulations offered by the National Assembly. Learning was supplemented with a visit by the President or a Vice-president, but this service was only available to high school students. In 2016 this three-part program (educational materials, simulations in the National Assembly and in-school visits by the President or a Vice-president) was extended to all schools, be they elementary or high school.

The President's Tour is a creative way to introduce students to democracy, the roles of the President, Vice-presidents and Members of the National Assembly, and the importance of getting involved in their community. Democracy: Why and for whom? provides a forum for open dialogue between National Assembly leaders and young people, as well as an opportunity to hold symbolic and official events, like student council swearing-in ceremonies and the sanctioning of bills adopted by student council.

The high school version of the President's Tour was such a success that the program was expanded to elementary schools in winter 2016. The first visits with younger audiences went very well. The program content and format at both the elementary and high school levels have been revamped to achieve better learning outcomes. The program is now open to all elementary schools and high schools interested in meeting with the Assembly President or a Vice-president to discuss democracy and related topics.

Parliamentary simulations

The National Assembly pursues its educational mission on a number of fronts. The production of teaching materials and tools for classroom teachers is a key component. Parallel to this effort, parliamentary simulations help students apply theoretical concepts, further their learning, become engaged citizens and test what they have learned in the classroom. Every year for the past 25 years the National Assembly has welcomed students of all levels for a unique experience:

a chance to sit in the National Assembly and parliamentary committees where they debate, seek compromise, adopt legislation and get a first-hand understanding of Québec's legislative process.

20th Pupils' Parliament

The Pupils' Parliament is designed for 6th grade students. Each class participating in the parliamentary simulation elects a representative and drafts a bill. The representatives spend a day at the National Assembly working through the steps involved in adopting a bill, both in the Assembly and in committee. Participants not only learn about Québec's parliamentary system, but also grow personally and experience civic engagement first-hand.

Date: May 6, 2016

Target group: 6th grade elementary school students

Number of participants: 93 students and 34 teachers

Titles of the three bills considered:

1. An Act on market gardening
2. An Act on teaching first aid in elementary schools
3. An Act to require all elementary cycle 3 students to participate in an intramural sport twice a week

Bills 1 and 2 were adopted.

15th Young People's Parliament

Over 2 days, participants in this parliamentary simulation present and debate bills on issues of interest to them. This allows them to experience the work of Assembly Members and understand how the National Assembly operates. This year a parliamentary committee explored issues related to concussions in young athletes. As part of the self-initiated order, committee members discussed the impact of these injuries and potential solutions before drafting their report.

Date: January 25-27, 2017

Target group: Secondary 3 and 4 students

Number of participants : 136 students and 44 teachers

Number of schools represented: 39

Titles of the three bills considered:

1. An Act to implement measures aimed at better integrating immigrants in Québec's high schools
2. An Act respecting financial incentives for vocational and college studies
3. An Act respecting the promotion of health products

Bill 1 was adopted.

25th Student Forum

The 2016 Forum was a festive event and a fitting way to mark the 25th anniversary of this successful program. Highlights included an official ceremony, honouring the colleges that have participated since the program's inception and two particularly active professors, as well as a first-ever minority government simulation that was very popular with participants.

Student Forum participants hone their knowledge of parliamentary procedure, the legislative process and the functioning of a democratic state. Some students participate as press attachés and reporters. Two newspapers, Vox Populi and Respublica, are published every day during the Forum.

In addition, for the past 4 years, Université Laval law students with an interest in legislative drafting and the parliamentary process of bill consideration have participated in the Student Forum. Three students served as legislative drafters for the 25th legislature. Under the supervision of a National Assembly law clerk and Lucie Lauzière, professor and Chair of the Steering Committee of the Louis-Philippe-Pigeon Legal Writing Chair, the students helped draft the three bills considered by participants in this parliamentary simulation.

Date: January 9–13, 2017

Target group: College students

Number of participants: 146 students and 47 professors

Number of CEGEPs represented: 26

Titles of the three bills considered:

1. An Act to increase the birth rate and promote family values
2. An Act to improve the integration of immigrants in Québec
3. An Act to make organ and tissue donation universal

All 3 bills were passed.

Youth Parliament and Student Parliament of Québec

In addition to its own parliamentary simulations, the National Assembly provides logistics support for two simulations designed for young people age 18 to 25.

The Youth Parliament of Québec, organized by the Association québécoise des jeunes parlementaires Inc.

The 67th Youth Parliament, held December 26–30, 2016, had 99 participants.

The Student Parliament of Québec, organized by the Assemblée parlementaire des étudiants du Québec Inc.

The 31st Student Parliament held January 2–6, 2017, drew 147 participants. These annual events are designed to introduce young people to the legislative and parliamentary process.

Young Democrats Tournament

The Young Democrats Tournament is a quiz game in which participants test their knowledge of Québec's political history and the evolution of democracy from ancient Greece to the present.

Date: April 8–10, 2016

Target group: Students in secondary 4 and 5 and college

Number of participants : 194, including 71 young women and 123 young men from 27 schools

Par ici la démocratie: a website for students

The website logged an average of 8,000 visits a month during the school year and had 1,000 subscribers as of March 31, 2017.

Par ici la démocratie is the National Assembly's website for young people. It takes a fresh look at our parliamentary institutions and helps students see the fundamental role Parliament plays in society. Launched in summer 2014, the educational tool offers easily accessible yet comprehensive content to help students develop their critical thinking skills and understand the underpinnings of Québec society.

Student Page Program

Created in 2009 in partnership with Université Laval, the National Assembly's Student Page Program gives 14 undergraduate students a rewarding work experience and an opportunity to gain first-hand knowledge of Québec's parliamentary institutions. The program was originally limited to Université Laval students but is now open to students from other Québec universities. Nine young women and five young men were selected for 2016–2017, including one student from a Montréal university admitted through an interuniversity exchange program run by Bureau de coopération interuniversitaire. The student pages began working with Assembly Members in late August 2016 under the supervision of the Page Supervisor and Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms. Student pages are paid for a 10–15 hour work week and must do a research project recognized by Université Laval. The internship and directed research project earn students 6 credits toward the bachelor's degree they are pursuing.

Research Chair in Democracy and Parliamentary Institutions

Inaugurated in November 2007, the Research Chair in Democracy and Parliamentary Institutions is the result of a partnership between the National Assembly and Université Laval. Chair partners include the French National Assembly, the CROP polling firm and Québec's Chief Electoral Officer, Auditor General, Ombudsman and Lobbyists Commissioner.

Seminar on parliaments in the international context

On March 1, 2017, the Chair held its biannual symposium in the National Assembly's Legislative Council Chamber on the theme of parliaments in the international context. Former and active parliamentarians, university experts and practitioners in the field of international relations and cooperation came together for a rare opportunity to reflect critically on different forms of international relations developed and maintained by the legislative branch in Québec and elsewhere.

The event marked the 20th anniversary of the Parliamentary Confederation of the Americas and the 50th anniversary of the Parliamentary Assembly of La Francophonie (2 interparliamentary organizations in which the National Assembly of Québec and its Members are particularly active). Participants discussed the benefits of parliamentary diplomacy and the contribution parliaments make to democratic institution building.

Recognition event

National Assembly of Québec President Jacques Chagnon welcomed the Chair's partners and its 4 2016–2017 scholarship recipients for a ceremony on Thursday, December 8, 2016. The scholarship recipients were rewarded for their research on democracy and parliamentary institutions.

“Jeunes explorateurs d’un jour” one-day internship program

On April 21, 2016, for the third year in a row, the Journal des débats team welcomed 2 students from 2 different high schools interested in finding out more about the work of an editor.

For one day they shadowed 2 seasoned editors at the Journal des débats to learn the ins and outs of the job. The students visited the Journal des débats office, talked to team members involved in each stage of production, sat in on the question period, visited the Library and Press Gallery and attended a luncheon with Journal des débats employees at the Le Parlementaire restaurant. They also had an opportunity to edit short excerpts from various debates.

Training in parliamentarianism and parliamentary law

The National Assembly actively contributes to courses and programs at Université Laval in an effort to develop and advance knowledge about parliamentary systems and parliamentary law for an audience made up primarily of university students, but also of researchers, parliamentarians and civil servants. For the past 13 years, the Assembly has offered the course Droit et procédure parlementaires to students enrolled in a bachelor's program in law, political science, public affairs or international relations. Students gain insight into parliamentary procedure, parliamentary privilege and the work of the National Assembly and its parliamentary committees. The Assembly also helped create a distance learning course, Parlementarisme comparé Québec-France, in partnership with the French National Assembly and Université Laval's Research Chair in Democracy and Parliamentary Institutions. Offered for the 4th consecutive year at Université Laval, the course is a comparative introduction to how the Québec and French assemblies operate.

In 2016–2017, 33 students took the course.

Tailored training

In accordance with the Assembly's mission of providing services to help Members in their roles as legislators and overseers of government action, various training options are available to teach citizens about the Assembly and the work its Members do.

This year 28 people, including new Members, National Assembly employees and university students, benefitted from over 20 hours of training tailored to their needs.

A well-connected Assembly

Social media: a real-time window on institutional and parliamentary life

Over the past two decades the National Assembly has adapted to changing technology to keep citizens and specialized audiences up-to-date on its work and activities. It continually strives to find newer and better ways of reaching citizens and encouraging their participation in democratic life. In 2011 the National Assembly expanded its communication efforts by launching a social media presence. Facebook, Twitter and YouTube are now key communication channels and another option for citizens to engage in Québec's democratic life. The Assembly's social media accounts are managed by professionals who post unbiased news on the institution, parliamentary proceedings and goings-on at the Assembly.

IT and Web initiatives

Search engine revamp

The National Assembly redesigned the search engine on its website to improve functionality and search results. With over 170,000 pages and a lot of traffic, the website was in dire need of a redesign to make it easier for visitors to find the information they need.

Clerk website

The National Assembly launched the Clerk website, which features a tablet-friendly design. The website provides information for Members, political staff, certain administrative staff (Library, Journal des débats) and specific outside individuals (e.g., legal experts from ministries and agencies). The primary purpose is to give these users access to committee documents and provide other administrative support. There have been more than 14,500 visits to the website since its launch in spring 2016.

Section dedicated to the Cercle des femmes parlementaires

The Cercle des femmes parlementaires du Québec (circle of women Members of the National Assembly) now has its own section on the Assembly website. Users can stay up-to-date on meetings, seminars and conferences where female parliamentarians discuss topics of mutual interest.

The Assembly assumes responsibility for ministers' riding offices

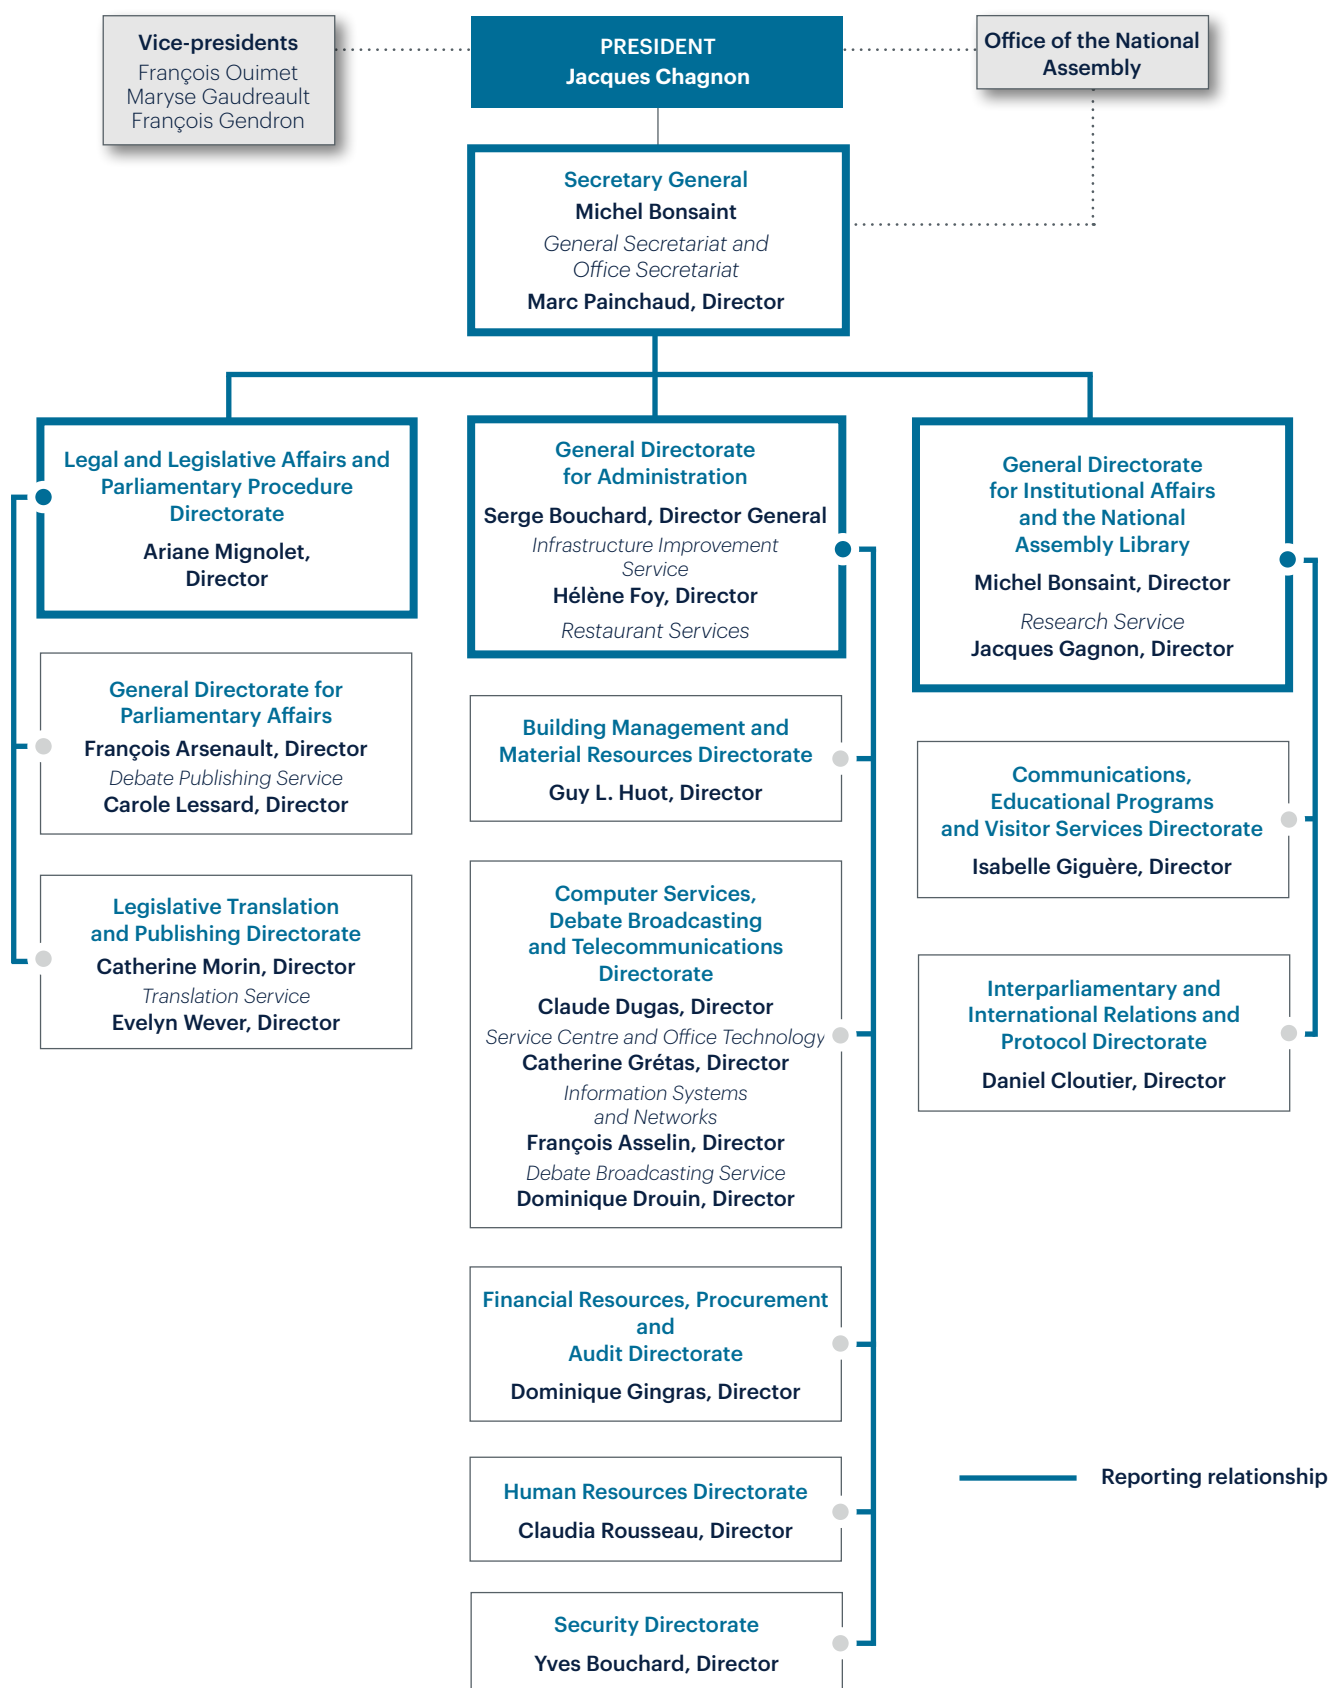

The transition to the Assembly assuming responsibility for ministers' riding offices was completed in the fall. The Assembly now provides each minister with a budget for the rental and operation of his or her riding office as well as computer and telecommunications equipment. This is intended to ensure continuity of services for citizens in a variety of circumstances (e.g., cabinet shuffle, general election) and, over time, also generate human resources and budget savings for the Assembly and for ministers.

The Assembly now acts as the tenant for these offices. It pays the rent from the operating budget it provides to ministers and allocates resources needed to run the offices, pursuant to the provisions of the Regulation Respecting Members' and House Officers' Allowances and Research and Administrative Support Funding (Decision No. 1603 dated November 10, 2011).

From January through March 2016, staff focused on preparing for the relevant administrative units to assume management responsibility, including configuring the required equipment, establishing a process for hiring staff needed for management activities, and drafting and revising documents such as leases, checklists and information sheets. New communication tools for these new clients were developed, including an extranet site for monitoring activities. The site was designed to facilitate the transition and provides key stakeholders with an array of information on the services offered by the Assembly's administrative units.

The first phase of the rollout was initiated subsequent to the cabinet shuffle of January 2016. The rest of the transition was completed between March and October 2016.

Human resources

Orientation program for new administrative employees

The Human Resources Directorate provides orientation to all regular and casual new hires in the administrative sector. The orientation program is designed to smooth their integration into the Assembly work environment and familiarize them with their specific working conditions. From April 1, 2016, to March 31, 2017, 67 new employees went through orientation.

As part of the program, new hires are also invited to a coffee hour with the Secretary General. This gives them an opportunity to meet the Secretary General and directors in a casual and welcoming environment. From April 1, 2016, to March 31, 2017, 71 new employees attended the coffee hour.

Staff

As at March 31, 2017, the Assembly's administrative sector had 458 regular employees, 184 casual employees and 23 students and interns.

The political sector, comprising chiefs of staff, political attachés, advisors and support staff, had a total of 510 employees working on Parliament Hill and in Members's riding offices.

| Anglophones | 13 | 2% |
| Aboriginals | 6 | 0.9% |
| Individuals with disabilities | 9 | 1.4% |
| Total: | 51 | 7.9% |

Opportunities for students and interns

To promote the National Assembly as a top employer and offer future job seekers a unique work experience within the institution, 20 interns and 23 students were placed in various directorates over the past fiscal year. Although some of the internships are of a short-term, introductory nature students and interns represent a pool of potential candidates for filling regular and casual positions that open up.

Employee training and professional development

One of the objectives of the National Assembly Administration's strategic plan for 2013-2017 is to encourage its employees' professional development to help them rise to the top in their area of expertise. Throughout the year, employees have opportunities to attend training sessions and other professional development events that meet their specific needs. Training sessions are sometimes combined based on the field of study to explore a specific topic in-depth.

The Assembly organizes a workplace professional development program for employees who are members of the Québec Bar, Barreau du Québec, allowing staff lawyers to meet their continuing education requirements. Training events at the Assembly are also open to Bar members working for the Assembly officers and ministerial offices on Parliament Hill. In 2016, 3 training sessions were offered, with an average of 31 participants per activity.

Wellness program

The National Assembly is concerned with every aspect of employee health and safety, specifically physical and mental health and workplace safety and prevention. A number of health and safety activities were organized for Assembly staff:

- Vaccination campaign (November 2016): 148 individuals were vaccinated
- Promotion of the Quit to Win! Challenge
- 2 seminars on caregiving and employee burnout offered as part of the Employee Assistance Program

Since the adoption of the Policy on Preventing and Managing Situations Involving Harassment on June 4, 2015, the Assembly has taken various steps to reach out to Members, political division staff, managers and Assembly employees to emphasize the importance of adhering to the policy and let them know where to go for support when needed. Information and training sessions on preventing disrespect, conflict and harassment in the workplace were offered to Members and managers. An awareness campaign is underway, with brief informative articles and videos posted on the Assembly intranet.

Reception to honour 15 National Assembly employees with 25+ years of civil service

On December 1, 2016, a reception was held at Le Parlementaire Restaurant to highlight the dedication of staff members with 25+ years of service at the National Assembly or in public service. Lucie Bédard, Claire Dumais-Faber, Lucie Giasson, Annie Poisson, Catherine Vachon, MM. François Boulanger, François Bourassa, Mario Gagnon, Rolland Larochelle, Richard L'Hérault, Paul Ouellet, Denis Perreault, Bruno Tremblay, Martin Sirois and Tien Hy Étienne Vu were all honoured during the special event, also attended by Assembly President Jacques Chagnon, Secretary General Michel Bonsaint and a number of other guests.

Building management and material resources

The Building Management and Material Resources Directorate offers advice and services in building and landscaping management, tangible and intangible property conservation management and material resources management.

Every year, the directorate...

- fields over 20,000 phone requests, 8,000 of which are priority
- sends 90,000 letters and packages
- produces 6 million copies
- disseminates 9,000 parliamentary documents
- recycles more than 150 metric tons of waste
- fulfills 5,000 building management service requests
- sets up the rooms for events held in the Parliament Building
- manages 5 buildings with a total surface area of 60,000 m²
- invests some $4.0 million in building conservation and upgrade work
- spends $1.9 million on energy of all forms: electricity, steam, chilled water and natural gas
- manages 15 leases that bring in $530,000 in rent

Computer services, broadcasting and telecommunications

The Computer Services, Debate Broadcasting and Telecommunications Directorate provides IT services to the National Assembly's administrative and political divisions. The directorate operates and maintains the systems that it installs and enforces the Assembly's IT security policy. It also provides support and training to staff to make it easier for them to use the equipment, software and IT systems it operates.

The directorate was one of several to assist in the transition when the Assembly assumed responsibility for ministers' riding offices—a project intended to improve the consistency of services provided to constituents and maintain continuity in the event of a Member's change in status.

As part of the project, the directorate...

- Supplied computer, office and telecommunications equipment to some 100 new users in 37 riding offices
- Deployed required equipment and services, equipping up to 3 offices a week to meet established deadlines
- Identified and implemented robust, secure solutions to meet the technology requirements of ministers requiring access to the networks of the Assembly and their respective departments

The Computer Services, Debate Broadcasting and Telecommunications Directorate's Service Centre and Office Technology department supports staff in using IT and telecommunications equipment, software and systems.

This year the Centre...

- Responded to 12,000 user requests, a number to that of the past four years
- Delivered a dozen training sessions on office technology and IT workshops to 125 participants

The Information Systems and Networks department operates and maintains the National Assembly's network infrastructure and systems. The team develops new information systems in addition to maintaining and providing support on existing systems.

This year the department...

- Maintained and provided support for the network architecture, server rooms, storage systems and over 70 information systems
- Helped analyze and implement more than 15 new information systems related to:
 - management of institutional information (enhancement of the search functionality on the Assembly website, Web form design solution for educational event registration, development of the Library section of the website, management of committee summons and overhaul of the extranet used by the Canadian Association of Clerks-at-the-Table whose IT infrastructure is hosted by the Assembly) management of administrative information (accreditation for journalists and construction workers, revamping of the budget tracking systems and replacement of material management systems)

Security

The Security Directorate protects the people, buildings and property on the premises of the National Assembly so the President can ensure parliamentary proceedings run smoothly. It advises the President on prevention and protection measures for maintaining security at the National Assembly and in riding offices. The directorate also coordinates security services offered to riding offices, their staff and Members. It monitors risks using threat and vulnerability detection systems. It informs the President of any incidents of concern that could impact parliamentary security.

Outside its around-the-clock routine security operations, the Security Directorate implements additional security measures as needed for special events and activities at the Assembly, including demonstrations, protocol events (visiting dignitaries, official ceremonies, awards ceremonies, etc.), private events (events held in Assembly buildings but unrelated to parliamentary proceedings) and any other activities, including parliamentary simulations and social and cultural events taking place near the Assembly (e.g., Carnaval de Québec, the National Holiday, the Québec City Summer Festival and book launches).

This year the Security Directorate oversaw the conduct of...

101 demonstrations and 246 private, protocol and other events.

Other projects

Restoration of the masonry on the Pamphile-Le May Building walkway

The masonry on the walkway connecting the Parliament Building to the Pamphile-Le May Building was restored. The goal of the project was to replace broken stones posing a falling hazard. It included restoration of Door 30, the front entrance hall of the Pamphile-Le May Building.

Key upgrades included replacement of some 300 stones and patching of many more. All surfaces were cleaned, the masonry was repointed and the vaulted ceiling under the walkway was replaced. Tinned copper flashing was installed on all horizontal surfaces to keep water out of the walls.

The pavers in the front hall were replaced by a new granite-tile-over-concrete floor and the woodwork on the entrance door was restored.

The conservation project made the walkway safer for building users.

Project cost: $1.3 million

Partial replacement of the André-Laurendeau Building roof

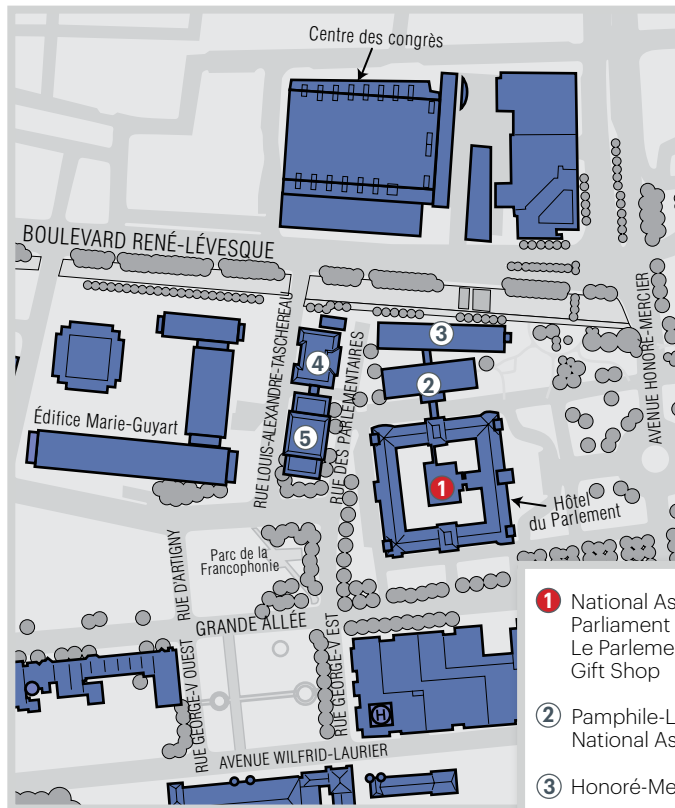

The copper sheeting on the south and west sides of the André-Laurendeau Building roof and on certain sections of the north and west roof and parapets was replaced. The project included replacement of the waterproof membranes on the interior copper sheeting on certain downspouts and repair of the lead sheeting on the rounded dormer windows and pilasters. A section of the wooden decking under the copper that had been damaged in a fire in the 1950s was also replaced.

The work was the culmination of an extensive repair project that began with replacement of the east and north sides of the roof in 2001. The copper sheeting that was replaced dated back 80 years to the building's construction in 1937. The project will ensure the long-term conservation of this stately building, one of the first high-rises built in Québec City.

Project cost: $750,000
